Bridge work on schedule

CARUTHERSVILLE--Plans still call for the completion of the Mississippi River Bridge at Caruthersville in 1976, despite reports that the work would not be finihed until late 1977.

The reports, published in a Memphis newspaper, said high flood waters have brought work to a standstill. But Lionel Murray, District 10 engineer for the highway department, said today that the high waters are customary there at this time of year and were expected.

Work on the bridge is not behind schedule, Murray said.

He said the deapartment is still looking for a 1976 completion date. He said there is always the possibility of work being delayed, but the department is hopeful of finishing in 1976.

Sikeston collects $36,388

Sikeston collected $36,388.61 in taxes and fees during February, according to City Collector C. W. Martin.

Current taxes totaled $3,118.14, including $1,383 in real estate taxes, $1,654.14 in personal taxes and $81 in merchants and manufacturers taxes.

Back real estate taxes totaled $728.47, back personal taxes totaled $284.57 and back merchants and manufacturters taxes totaled $1.50.

Licenses collections totaled $3,813.09, including $618.59 in merchants fees, $3,189 in auto sticker fees and $5.50 in dog fees.

Miscellaneous collections totaled $28,442.84, including $192.53 in interest, $31.30 in clerk costs, $24,326.42 in railroad and utilities taxes and $3,892.59 from Associated Natural Gas Co.

Equipment, cash stolen from Presley's

Radios, tachometers and money were among the items reported stolen between 5 p.m. Monday and 7 a.m. Tuesday from Sonny Presley Chevrolet, 127 W. Center St., according to police.

Taken from the parts room were three citizen band radios, worth $118 each, three tachometers worth $30 each, one eight-track tape stereo valued at $36.50; one set of speakers worth $12 and a fire extinguisher worth $5.50.

About $40 in change was taken from a soft drink machine, and $135 in change and bills was taken from the office.

Police said the burglars apparently entered through a window on the east side of the building.

Voters okay gas franchise

BLOOMFIELD-Residents of Bloomfield voted Tuesday to grant a 20-year franchise to the Missouri Utility Co. Of the 89 votes cast all were in favor of the franchise. The utility company has supplied natural gas to Bloomfield since 1953.

Correction

The headline on an article in Tuesday's edition of The Daily Standard about the Scott County United Farmers Organization meeting held Monday night at the county courthouse in Benton was misstated. The correct wording should have stated, "Land to be set aside to raise farm prices," not "Land to be set aside to raise food price."

15 to compete for rodeo queen

Nine more Southeast Missouri beauties have entered the Jaycee Bootheel Rodeo Queen contest, bringing the total number of contestants to 15, according to John David, contest chairman.

Deadline for entering the March 15 contest was Friday. The contest will be held at the Sikeston Activity Center, and tickets are now on sale at the Sikeston Area Chamber of Commerce office.

This year's rodeo queen will win a $250 scholarship and will compete in the Miss Missouri pageant at Mexico in July.

The latest candidates to be announced are Mary Lynn Crugnale and Andrea Harber of Sikeston, Pamela Lape of Bell City, Deborah Brantley of Caruthersville, Debbie Lou Frobase of Benton, Cecilia Jibben of Dexter, Deborah Kaye Smith and Margaret Marie Benson of Kennett and Cindy Musgraves of Cape Girardeau.

Contestants previously announced included Robin Burch of Matthews, Elizabeth Walker and Teresa Houchin of Sikeston, Becky Miller of Benton, Wendy Litzelfelner of Jackson and Carla Thomason of Chaffee.

Margaret Marie "Meg" Benson, 19, is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Leo J. Benson Jr. of Kennett. A student at University of Missouri-Columbia, she is interested in drama, drawing, guitar, listening to music, dancing, traveling, embroidery, collecting glass and swimming.

During high school she was seventh in her class, earned the Betty Jane Lorance Memorial Art Scholarship and the Lions Club Award and was a member of the National Honor Society. Miss Benson was a prom queen candidate her senior year in high school.

Eighteen-year-old Deborah Renee Brantley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Brantley of Caruthersville. Her scholastic honors include highest academic achievement awards for freshman, sophomore and junior years; honor society; Who's Who Among American High School Students; and selection as an Outstanding Teen-ager of America.

Among her activities, Miss Brantley lists membership on the yearbook staff, Alpha Delta Kappa sorority, Thespians and student council. Her talents include dramatic interpretations, playing the piano and organ and singing. Miss Brantley was also a homecoming candidate at Caruthersville High School.

Another contestant will be Debbie Lou Frobase, 18, daughter of Tom Frobase of Benton Route One. A student at Kelly High School, she is on the honor roll. Baton twirling and playing the piano and clarinet are among her talents, and horseback riding, sewing, cooking and sports are favorite hobbies.

At her school she is head drum majorette, secretary of the band and student council, president of the pep club, class representative of Future Homemakers of America and a member of the school group chorus.

Miss Frobase was first runner-up in the 1974 rodeo queen contest. Her other contests and titles include barnwarming and homecoming queen contestant and senior class "Personality". She has also won two talent contests for her piano playing and ridden a ribbon-winning horse show entry.

Andrea Jane Harber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Harber, of 747 N. Ranney St., describes her talents as 13 years of piano,

Ford offers to compromise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional committees are pushing ahead with their own energy and tax proposals in the face of President Ford's temporary retreat on key parts of his energy-conservation program.

Saying that he was striving to avoid a "time-wasting test of strength" with Congress, Ford backed off part of his program for the time being on Tuesday. Among other steps, he agreed to delay for 60 days the last two steps of a $3-a-barrel special tariff on imported oil.

At the same time, the President vetoed a Democratic-sponsored bill that would have delayed for 90 days all three steps of the special tariff.

Meantime, the Senate Finance Committee was to hold hearings today on the House-passed, $21.3-billion tax cut bill.

And the House Ways and Means Committee continued work today on energy conservation proposals, with particular emphasis on the committee's own plan to reduce energy consumption through quotas on imported oil and an eventual 40-cent-a-gallon gasoline tax increase. The tax is now four cents a gallon.

Ways and Means Chairman Al Ullman, D-Ore., indicated that Congress would not be able to complete work on an energy program within the 60 days that Ford agreed to delay his program.

Ullman said he hoped for House floor action on a program at the end of April, about the time the 60-day delay expires. But Ullman said he hoped Ford then would "accommodate us by giving us additional time to work it through the Senate."

An immediate impact of Ford's announcement was to raise serious doubts about the prospects of any congressional override of his veto. The Senate leadership shelved for the time being any effort to override.

To give Congress and the administration time to hammer out an energy compromise, the President took these steps Tuesday:

—Postponed for 60 days the second and third portions of the tariff increase. The $1-a-barrel increase that went into effect on Feb. 1 will remain.

—Agreed to postpone at least until May 1 his plan to remove federal price controls from domestic oil. The end of controls, which Ford initially had announced would begin on April 1, would have allowed the price of 60 per cent of domestic oil, now frozen at $5.25 per barrel, to rise to the world level of $11.40.

Congressional economists estimate that the $3-a-barrel tariff and decontrol of "old" oil prices would cost American consumers $27.7 billion a year in higher fuel prices.

In announcing his decisions Tuesday, Ford agreed with the Democratic-controlled Congress that the major issue confronting the government is the economic recession and rising unemployment. He expressed the hope that his concessions on energy would result in quick action on a tax cut, although several lawmakers said they saw no clear connection between the two issues as far as congressional action was concerned.

Committee only 1 person

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Bootheel Committee for Hearnes, which may have profited from a controversial bond transaction involving Missouri's largest bank, consisted of just one person and was not required to file a campaign report, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The "committee" was actually R.L. Saalwaechter, a Portageville banker and was formed because of loopholes in the state's old corrupt practices law, former Gov. Warren E. Hearnes told the newspaper Tuesday.

The fund's assets were later turned over to Hearnes. Federal authorities are trying to determine whether the "committee" was set up to avoid public disclosure under the corrupt practices law, which defined a committee as consisting of two or more persons.

Hearnes said that J.V. Conran, a southeast Missouri political leader, told him before he died in 1970 that Hearnes was to use money left in the fund to begin a law practice when he left public office, the Globe-Democrat said in a copyrighted story in today's editions.

"I remember his words well. He told me I'd starve to death without some money to start with," Hearnes told the newspaper, adding that the committee was controlled by Conran.

A federal grand jury in Kansas City is investigating possible corruption during Hearnes' administration as governor.

A $60,000 contribution to the committee from Conran is the largest donation unearthed thus far by the grand jury, which is also trying to determine whether that money came from a bond transaction Conran made with Mercantile Trust Co. of St. Louis, the state's largest bank.

Donald Lasater, chairman of Mercantile, was indicted by the grand jury last week for perjury in his testimony concerning the bond transaction. He has been granted a leave of absence from Mercantile pending an investigation of the transaction.

Higher rates in effect

The price of a 10-cent telephone call jumped to 20 cents Tuesday as increased rates for Southwestern Bell Telphone Co. went into effect.

The rate increases of $30.5 million annually were recently authorized by the Missouri Public Service Commission. Southwestern Bell had requested $52.3 million.

Gross receipts taxes -- levied by individual communities -- will increase by $2 million annually.

A spokesman for the company said the rate increase was necessary to meet increasing expenses both for normal operations and for capital improvements. The company said in order to continue to meet the growing demand from new service, increased usage and the quality of service customers demand and seserve, it is imperative that the company earn a sufficient rate of return.

Installation charges will more closely reflect the cost to the company of providing new service. The installation charge will be made up of a central and administrative processing charge. The previous installation charge was $13 and will now average $24.

A schedule of monthly telephone rates previously released by the company was incorrect.

The following schedule for Sikeston and Morehouse customers, is correct.

Bill awaits Senate OK

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A bill establishing a new violation in the state's drunk driving law is facing final approval in the Missouri Senate.

Tentatively passed Tuesday, the proposal would make it an automatic violation to drive with a blood alcohol content of one-tenth of one per cent. The bill would result in more drunk driving convictions, Sen. William Waters, D-Liberty, the sponsor, said.

The House gave first-round approval to reducing the legal age for holding a municipal office from 21 to 18 and for hiring St. Louis policemen and firemen. An attempt to revive a committee-killed bill that repeals the state ban on Sunday sales failed in an 87-54 vote.

The House also gave tentative approval to a measure that repeals the sales tax on mobile home park sites.

The proposed intoxicated driving offense carries a lighter penalty than the state's standard drunk driving law. State law says that one-fifteenth of one per cent alcohol in a driver's blood content would be an automatic violation.

But a driver with one-tenth of one per cent alcohol can be convicted if there is supporting evidence that the driver wasn't in control of his car.

Conviction of the proposed offense would count six points against the offender's driving record.

Twelve points within a year are necessary to revoke a driver's license. Or a license is suspended for eight points within an 18-month period.

Under state law, persons convicted of drunk driving are assessed 12 points, while those breaking similar county or municipal ordinances are assessed only six points.

Waters' bill would make a drunk driving conviction a 12-

Checking the level

The new building, being constructed to house the Sikeston Public Schools board of education offices, is taking shape at the corner of South Ingram and Virginia streets. Early today, Cline Ables, right, director of physical services for the schools, and Jeff Bone, a public schools employe, checked the leveling of the basement floor before pouring concrete. The building is expected to be complete by Aug. 1 and should be occupied by the time the 1975-76 school year begins. The old board of education offices on North Main Street are being vacated because Missouri Delta Community Hospital needs that building for expansion.

Water improvement bid tentatively approved

CHARLESTON — Tentative acceptance of the base bid for proposed water improvements from Bridger Plumbing and Heating Company of Sikeston was given Tuesday night during a special session of the City Council.

Acceptance of the bid for $376,391.50 is contingent on approval from the Department of Housing and Urban Development and the legality of deleting an exception on the bid submitted by Bridger, concerning dewatering and length of time for completion of the project. Dewatering is the process of taking water out of the trenches prior to laying the waterpipe.

Kenneth Bridger, owner of the company, was present at the meeting and told the council he would remove the exception, since it was not a part of the specifications called for in the advertisement for bids.

Should the deletion make Bridger's bid unacceptable, the council voted to accept the base bid of $384,944.90 submitted by Cowan Construction Co. of Sikeston, the only other firm to submit a bid for the project.

A resolution authorizing City Attorney W. Clifton Banta Sr. to prepare an advertisement for a public hearing on the issuance of a special use zoning permit for the Nunnelee property on South Main Street was approved. The special use would limit construction on the property to a medical complex. The hearing will be held in conjunction with the April City Council meeting.

It was reported that Dr. Robert Robbins plans to purchase the property and construct a medical complex. Should the property be resold, the special use permit would no longer apply and the property would revert back to general business zoning.

The council discussed making application to the Department of Housing and Urban Development for an Environmental Protection grant for enlarging and improving the city's sewer treatment plant and sewer system.

Estimated cost for the project, including engineering study, is $265,000. E.P.A. funds would pay 75 per cent of the cost and the Missouri Clean Water Commission would pay 15 per cent of the costs. The city's share would be an estimated $26,500

A bid of $48,260 from Memphis Pool and Landscaping Company of Memphis, Tenn. for construction of a swimming pool at the same location of the present pool was tabled and the council agreed to make repairs to the present pool for this season.

The company's bid called for construction of a new pool inside the present pool, but indicated that construction would have to begin in the near future before the company becomes involved in the season's private pool construction in its area. The council indicated the matter would be reopened this fall and other bids would be taken.

Corrections on the rough draft of the city's comprehensive plan, prepared by the Bootheel Regional Planning Commission in Malden, were made and the council voted to have 200 copies of the study printed.

A low bid of $1,515.86 for 200 copies from the Enterprise-Courier of Charleston was accepted. The only other bid was from The Daily Standard of Sikeston in the amount of $1,584.95 for 200 copies.

City Manager Willis Downs was authorized to attend the City Manager Conference in Columbia March 19, 20, 21. The city will pay all expenses.

ARROGANCE OF POWER —OR PROFIT?

Carl Marburger, a liberal, and former New Jersey Commissioner of Education, is one of the latest authorities to come out in defense of parents who are battling for decent textbooks in public schools.

"Thomas Jefferson," said Marburger, "counseled democracy's leaders to trust in the informed judgment of the people. Sometimes they are wrong, but in the long run common sense and considerable wisdom nearly always prevail. Despite this, our public leaders too often exhibit the attitude that 'the people are children and we know what is best for them.'

"This is not leadership but the arrogance of power, and the entire nation has suffered its devastating results."

We suspect that in addition to the arrogance of the educational elite there is the factor of money-hungry, profit-seeking book publishers. Poor writers come cheap; and since they do not have the writing skill to hold even a child's attention, the hacks must rely upon "shock value," easily found through vulgar language and sordid themes. A moron can tell a dirty joke; it takes skill and intelligence to tell a funny story.

A similar comparison may be found in television entertainment. We need not be told of the flood of murder, mayhem, and general debauchery flooding the TV screen these days. But it can be easily shown that none of it is necessary to hold an audience. Not too long ago, an independently produced television thriller ran for three straight years with the highest ratings; at its peak it was on more than twice as many television stations as the leading network show on the air; yet not once was the leading star shot at or seen shooting; indeed, in the entire three years, not once did he have a gun, a knife, or brass knuckles in his hands; no women were raped or ravished, or were seen wearing skimpy underwear; no blood ran in the streets. The show? I Led 3 Lives, featuring Richard Carlson. The answer; a good story backedup by skillful writers and a producer with integrity.

Unfortunately for the public that which is cheap, shoddy and inferior is also low in cost. Thus there is strong reason to suspect that the root of the evil we find in textbooks and TV alike is the love of money. (Reference: 1 Timothy 6:10)

I know the meaning of poverty. It means waiting in a surplus- food line rather than in a supermarket check-out. It means going without running water rather than worrying about whether you can afford a color television. It means despairing of finding work rather than wondering when you can take your vacation. It means coming home each night empty-handed to look at the expectant faces of your little children, who lack the things that they need. It means a lonely battle to maintain pride and self-respect in a family that you cannot provide for.

We were impressed with several speeches by Sen. Harry F. Byrd, jr., of Virginia which covered much of the whole spectrum of government waste. He is one who insists that Congress cut spending and shoot for a balanced budget.

Here's some random samples of the senator's demands.

The biggest slash could and should be made in foreign aid. Not in defense, but in foreign aid. There's a difference.

"We are still sending money and credits to 100 nations overseas," Sen. Byrd pointed out. He cited India as an example.

"Early this year," he said, "the United States wrote off $2.2 billion in debts owed by the government of India. Now we are prepared to permit India to renege on $45 million of debt servicing costs owed to us this year."

Another speech dealt with lending money to Russia.

"Already the Export- Import Bank has extended $469 million in credits to Moscow," the senator pointed out. "Congress must insist on a ceiling for this credit."

But the State Department opposes any such limit.

We could go on and on with lists that Sen. Byrd cited on wasteful programs and grants made within the United States, but we think you get the idea.

If you want to help the senator in his battle against national bankruptcy, write him a letter. He's in the Senate Office Building. He'll use what you send him as ammunition in his war on waste.

A MORAL TO REMEMBER

It is predicted by authorities in government, who should know, that by 1984 postal rates will be two or three times what they are now. Service may well be even worse. Everyone who reads or writes is well aware of the deplorable state of U.S. mail service. The only purpose in mentioning it is that it provides a good moral for people to remember when they hear politicians make speeches advocating more government in business, in medicine, in housing or any other endeavor. Government has its place, and it should be kept in that place along with the public servants hired by the taxpayers to run it.

RELATIVELY SPEAKING IT'S NOT SO BAD

If you can keep your head when others about you are losing theirs, then you just don't understand the situation. Or so goes the cynic's version of a famous Kipling line.

Herbert Hoover, of course, is a classic example of a man who kept his head a little too well, insisting that the economy was "fundamentally sound" even as it was crashing down around his administration.

Yet while there is abundant cause for concern in the face of the dilemma the nation today finds itself in, impaled as it is on the twin horns of inflation and recession, there is a case to be made that things are not as unrelievedly bleak as they may appear to be.

Consider unemployment, whose rolls now number some six million Americans and, say some forecasts, may swell by another one or two million in the coming year. But according to the U.S. Department of Labor, about 1.8 million of those currently unemployed are teen-agers, 1.5 million are women and 1.2 million are part-time workers.

This is not to minimize the of people in those categories, many of whom are the sole supports of themselves or their families. Further Labor Department figures show, however, that only 386,000 people have been out of work for 27 weeks or longer, which is 176,000 fewer "hard-core" unemployed than two years ago. All but 7 per cent find new jobs within 26 weeks.

Specifically, the average length of unemployment in 1974 was 9.6 weeks, compared with 10 weeks in 1973 and 12.1 weeks in 1972.

The statistics have not yet caught up with the near-catastrophic situation in the automobile industry, the full impact of which is still to be felt throughout the economy. Even so, there is and there has been a tremendous turnover in the unemployment rolls, and while many people are going through exxtremely difficult times, for the overwhelmming majority it is a temporary thing and it is cushioned by jobless and other benefits that did not exist for an earlier generation.

In other words, there are jobs available. This would not be true if the nation were really in the midst of a general depression.

While gasoline is not as basic an item as food, which continues to rise, it is an unavoidable expense in most family budgets. Still, despite its leap in cost in the past year, gasoline actually takes a smaller bite out of those budgets than it did a decade ago.

A study published in the quarterly, The Public Interest, notes that retail gasoline prices did not quite double between 1955 and May, 1974 — from 29.07 cents a gallon to 53.71 cents. But over the same period, median family income nearly tripled — from $4,421 to about $13,000. Gasoline would have to rise to around 80 cents a gallon to take the same percentage share of median family income as it did in 1955.

It may well go that high if new federal taxes are piled on to discourage consumption. Nor is this exception, and perhaps a few others, much consolation when set alongside the fact that consumer purchasing power in general has declined to its lowest level in seven years.

Yet compared with the 1929-1933 period, when America's gross national product plummeted by 50 per cent, we are in very good shape indeed.

At any rate, at the risk of summoning up the ghost of Herbert Hoover, we must resist the impusle to push all the panic buttons — or at least try to keep a sense of perspective so that we know which ones we should push.

BOOK BUSINESS STILL GOING STRONG

Despite competition from movies, television and teaching machines, the book industry still flourishes.

According to a publication of the New York Stock Exchange, the growth of leisure time, increasing affluence, and rising cultural and educational standards are forces sustaining the book business.

Some 40,000 titles, including new editions of previously published books, were published in the U.S. in 1973. Total sales were $3.2 billion.

Despite inflation and the higher cost of paper, this year's industry-wide sales show significant gains in most areas. Sales of adult trade books are up 19 per cent, mass market paperbacks are up 14 per cent, college textbooks are up nearly 13 per cent, and elementary and high school textbooks are up 10 per cent.

The educational sector probably faces the most uncertain future. While the projected decrease in school enrollments over the next 10 years could hit the textbook business hard, school systems freed from the need for physical expansion may spend more on textbooks and educational material.

NOW THEY ARE RELENTING

A few months ago a group known as the Missourians for Honest Elections sponsored the bill that made disclosures of a candidate's sources of income mandatory for any candidate for office.

We recall a man in Jefferson City by the name of James C. Kirkpatrick, who just happens to be Secretary of State, issued a warning about the proposed legislation. This newspaper added its warning to the measure. Missourians voted for the plan by an overwhelming 4 to 1 majority.

Then it began to dawn on some of these wise guys who had sponsored the legisslation that there were defects in the law. That already was clear to some persons in Missouri.

Just a short time ago in Jefferson City, a committee in the House attempted to get the measure back for reconsideratoin. It was defeated in committee and so the bill still stands as the stupid work of stupid planners and a great many Missourians who voted very stupidly.

The law as its stands today means that any person running for office, whether it be for city, township, county, board of educatoin, state or any office must disclose the source of his or her income in order to be a candidate.

Now these purists who launched the Missourians for Honest Elections committee are admitting that a part of the law was poorly written. That was what Secretary of State Kirkpatrick said and all he got for his efforts was criticism from these righteous ones. Now they have admitted that possibly Secretry Kirkpatrick had a point. He had a point, we think, even before the matter ever came up for a vote.

A man by the name of John A. Rava is secretary of this innovative group and he recently said of the legislation: "We acknowledge that the exemption wording should have been more clear, particlarly in view of the fact that differing interpretations have been given it.

In urging members of the House to amend the law now,this group through Mr. Rava, further said: "We hope the General Assembly will act to remedy this error and meet the urgent need of many candidates and the public for quick action."

It was truly a great piece of legislation and has proved absolutely nothing.

EVERYONE IS CONFUSED

The new "Honest Election" law is causing more confusion than any measure adopted by the state in a half century.

No matter how many people you ask, you'll get that many different interpretations of how it affects local school board, city, ambulance, water, extension and other public offices where the recipient spends little if anything on a campaign, and if elected, gets little or no pay - working merely for the good of the community.

Before we really know what the law says, and if it means what it says, two things must happen. Either it will have to be changed by the Legislature, or interpreted by the Supreme Court.

SPIKED PUNCH CASE

It has been observed before that no citizen is too small in standing to go before the Supreme Court if the case itself is important, and that is true of two Arkansas high school girls who spiked the punch (with malt liquor) at a Mena High School mother-daughter party. Regardless of how much spiking malt liquor adds to punch, the Mena school board has a rule against alcoholic beverages, and after the girls confessed, they were expelled from school.

Now the Supreme Court, in a 5-to-4 ruling, has returned the issue to an appeals court to determine whether the girls were given a proper hearing. A month ago the court held, again in a decision by Justice White, that students could not be suspended without at least an informal hearing. This time Justice White says school board members can be sued for damages by a student if they violate the student's constitutional rights, and he adds that such violations cannot be justified by ignorance of those rights.

In substance, school boards are being held to some at least rough knowledge of constitutional fair play toward which, presumably, their students were being educated. We hope that is not too much to expect of school officials.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Plumber and President: How Labor Chief Outmaneuvered Chief Executive

WASHINGTON — Not only does President Ford play golf with Bob Hope, he plays havoc with Hope-ian type humor. There is, for example, that moment, about 9:55 p.m. Feb. 13 during a celebrity-studded Hotel Waldorf-Astoria banquet honoring Nelson Rockefeller. Mr. Ford turned to his Vice President and said he hoped to share his counsel, confidence and "your wonderful company."

"But in all honesty," continued Jerry Ford, "or fairness ... I must admit that in your career you have also had a few less memorable moments. In the 1960s the Vice Preisdent (Rockefeller) was a very strong supporter of John Lindsay, and John became a Democrat. He (Rockefeller) was a very storng supporter of (ex-Congressman) Ogden Reid, and Brownie (Reid) became a Democrat.

"And now, the only thing that bothers me -- he (Rockefeller) is a very strong supporter of me. Frankly, though, Nelson, I don't think I could do that -- to the Democrats. That's all they need right now -- is one more candidate for President."

Actually, it could have been AFL-CIO chief George Meany making that speech. Nobody, not even the potential candidates themselves, knows who will run or if they want to run, though so many are running. And they now range all the way from Texas's ex-Sen. Ralph Yarborough to Boston's Mayor Kevin White. Lyndon Johnson used to call this coupling the Austin-Boston Axis.

Few men of power are forming any alliances. Insiders don't take Ford's word he'll definitely run in '76. Nor do some of us take seriously Rockefeller's midnight outburst about being too old to run. He was and is upset over the insolvency of one of his pet projects (set up when he was governor), the New York Urban Development Corp. which seems to have blown $1.1 billion dollars.

Thus the men of power have become artful dogerts 88 and husky Meany, despite his weight, is the nimblest of them all. Evidence, for example, is the manner in which he ducked President Ford and the White House energy-economics traveling troupe in Florida the other day.

I can only guess that Meany would have loved to get out on those links with Bob Hope, Jackie Gleason and the others. Next to a gin rummy deck, a golf club is Meany's most devout passion.

But the crusty labor chief just wasn't about to be linked with Jerry Ford. Not in public anyway. Meany in effect told this to the White Hous when the director of its Office of Public Liaison, Bill Baroody, telephoned the AF L-CIO headquarters some weeks ago. Baroody told a Meany colleague that the President and Bill Seidman and company were coming down to Florida. Not only that, but to Bal Harbour. Furthermore, to the Hotel Americana. And during the AFL-CIO high command (Executive Council) midwinter session right in that hotel.

Wouldn't it be nice, Baroody said in effect, if some of the top union chiefs joined in the energy-economic crisis conclave? The message was relayed to Meany. Nope. It wouldn't be nice. Well, the White House was coming anyway. And to the Americana. The Secret Service reportedly was all sety. This would mean that out of sheer protocol Meany and Ford would have to meet and perhaps be photographed together. Or there would be stories of th labor chief snubbing the chief executive, or vice versa.

Meany wasn't buying. There is one "source close to the story" (like they say on the investigative beat) which reports that Meany blocked the President's coming in. And that the President's party had to "retreat" to the Diplomat Hotel in Hollywood.

Meany certainly did not want to repeat the Nixon-Executive Council visit when the ex-President "dropped" in at a similar Bal Harbour midwinter session from Key Biscayne. Meany wants no entangling alliances -- or photographs. Too many Executive Council members have presidential hopefuls of their own.

There just doesn't appear to be any sign of even the slightest favoritism. Beleive in the eventual Democratic party drafting of Ted Kennedy, yes. Support, no. The only wispy evidence of any political move now is the New York United Federation of Teachers' presentation of an award to Sen. Hubert Humphrey in April. It will be presented to him by teachers president Al Shanker, a national AF L-CIO vice president, one of the most devout Meanysists in town.

What's vitally significant here is that some of us close to this political quadrennial effluvia believe that no Democratic candidate can be elected without the full support of a united labor movement. And the movement won't begin to clarify anything until its May 6 Executive Council session, which will hint at what will be decided at the AF L-CIO's biennial national convention Oct. 2, in San Francisco, which then will be in a position to decide to be neutral in somebody's favor.

That's why Meany probably was playing gin rummy on a Florida- Washington train while Jerry Ford was stuck with Bob Hope and Jackie Gleason. They cast only two votes.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:
Highlights of Kissinger's Arab-Israeli Settlement
By JACK ANDERSON with Les Whitten

WASHINGTON-Secretary of State Henry Kissinger has fashioned the jigsaw pieces for an interim Arab-Israeli settlement. He will return to the Middle East in a few days to fit the pieces together.

The secret cables between Washington and the Middle East contain the broad outlines of a delicate, enormously complex arrangement, which could bring eventual peace between the Arabs and Israelis.

Here are the highlights:

-Israel is willing to give up part of the Sinai, including the strategic Mitla and Giddi mountain passes and the ebbing Abu Rudeis oil fields. The Israelis agreed to this concession after Kissinger obtained a guarantee from the shah of Iran that he will make up their oil loss.

-Both Egyptian and Israeli leaders will make public statements promising to "refrain from warfare" against one another. The United States will also pledge not to support any Israeli military action against Egypt.

-Kissinger has given into Soviet demands that a final settlement will be negotiated at a Geneva conference. This deal was struck during Kissinger's stopover in Geneva to confer with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko. In essence, it was an old-fashioned horsetrade: The Soviets agreed to accept Kissinger's interim agreement and Kissinger agreed to the Geneva talks.

-Kissinger and Gromyko also agreed that the displaced Palestinians would be represented in Geneva by the Palestine Liberation Organization. This will be hard for the Israelis to swallow. But American and PLO envoys have been holding secret meetings on the subject, usually in third countries.

In sum, Kissinger has worked out a brilliant compromise, with something for everyone. He can take personal credit for keeping the Middle East quiet since October, 1973. And the Soviets can be assured of a voice in the final settlement.

Footnote: A permanent peace, of course, is still far away. The Arabes are still demanding that Israel give up the GolanHeightsto Syria and the West Bank of the Jordan River to a new Palestinian state.

MAN FROM ACTION: Chunky, crewcut Mike Balzano, the self-styled tough guy who runs Action, is giving President Ford fits.

Balzano is fighting to keep his job. Sources in his office say he has threatened, if fired, to campaign against the President. He has also dropped the word that he is writing a book about his political experiences, the sources say. The fifth chapter, he has hinted pointedly, could be turned into an attack upon the President.

Senior Action aides have signed a petition charging that Balzano plays politics with the public payroll in violation of Civil Service laws. Other complaints against him have reached White House staff chief Donald Rumsfeld. Now the President is reported to be studying a staff memo, outlining the case against Balzano.

But Balzano, who learned his political hardball tactics while working for Chuck Colson in the White House, isn't budging. The Man from Action, shooting from the hip, fired back at his critics during an hour-long interview. When the name of one aide came up, Balzano threatened to throw him "out a fifth-floor window."

Balzano fiercely denied that the White House wants to get rid of him or that he has threatened the President. "This is a fight between Mike Balzano and the people on Capitol Hill," he snorted. "I'm fighting for the agency."

No less than 84 past and present Action employes joined in the petition to the Civil Service Commission charging that Balzano tried to pack the agency with loyal Republicans. Balzano organized special training institute sessions, the employes charged, to gather information against them and to probe their political loyalty.

Balzano is known around the agency as "The Grabber" because of his habit of hugging pretty girls who get too close. At least one senior official warned his female employes not to work late when Balzano was around.

The Action director scoffed at the nickname. "I put my arm around everybody," he said. He summoned one of his secretaries for questioning about his nickname. "I'd say he was just affectionate," she replied demurely.

Members of Congress hope to save the volunteer programs by moving them to other agencies, away from Balzano's control.

TILT AGAIN: Three years ago Henry Kissinger issued his famous "tilt" toward Pakistan. It took three years to restore relations with neighboring India.

Now Kissinger has relaxed ten-year-old arms embargo against Pakistan. And the Indians, just as they were settling down to pleasant relations with the United States, suddenly are angier than ever.

Officials in India, according to CIA reports, believe the United States want to extablish a military presence in Pakistan- on the strategic Arabian Sea. In fact, the reports suggest that Pakistani President Ali Bhutto may already have agreed to such a deal.

Footnote: President Ford personally will go to India to placate Indira Ghandi, probably in October.

Two school board directors to be elected

NEW MADRID--Two directors on the New Madrid County board of education will be elected in the April 1 school election.

Three-year terms expiring are those held by Paul C. Crouthers of Risco, County Court first district, and Alan Littell of Gideon, County Court second district.

Littel, who filed for re-election , was the only person to declare as a candidate before the filing deadline on March 2.

Dexter bakery is broken into

DEXTER--City police are investigating a break-in at Faye's Bakery, 216 E. McCollum St. which was discovered when bakery employes arrived at 4:30 a.m. today.

The front door had forced open, but nothing was reported missing.

Vanduser sets chicken dinner

VANDUSER--A chicken supper will be held from 5 to 8 p.m. Saturday in the Vanduser school cafeteria. All proceeds will be used to help purchase equipment for the fire department.

Fried chicken and dumplings and dessert will be served.

Sikeston man elected to board

Elmer Russell, 423 Edmondson Drive, was elected Tuesday to represent the poor from Scott County on the advisory board. Russel defeated E. Mike Pfefferkorn of Chaffee by a vote of 60-50 in an election conducted at the Sikeston and Scott City DAEOC Center.

Only those designated as being poor under government guidelines were allowed to vote at the two area opportunity.

SeMo Scouting is topic

David Corti, the new Boy Scout executive for the Okeechobee District, told Kiwanians Tuesday night at Purkey's Restaurant that there are 4,500 scouts in 14 counties of the Southeast Missuri Council, including 804 in 31 uits in the Okeechokee District.

He said the annual Scout-o-rama will be held May 22 at Kingsway Plaza Mall in Sikeston and a pinewood derby is being planned, he noted.

Corti explained that he came to Sikeston from Marshall, but is originally from Buffalo, N.Y., where he was an Eagle Scout and troop leader for seven yars. He attended Missouri Valley College in Marshall and majored in human relations. Corti chose scouting as his profession due to his experience in the group.

Another guest of the club was Harold "Wheels" Kuehle Cape Girardeau, lieutenant governor of Kiwanis Division 15. He explained the membership drive and asked the local club to participate in this campaign. "Enthusiasm makes the difference," he stressed.

A board meeting followed the rgular meeting. The board voted to host the annual visit of the district governor of Kiwanis and approved plans submitted by the committee in charge of developing a memorial to the late Georege Kirk at the new city recreation complex.

The club's annual fish fry will be held next Tuesday at the home of James Sanders. Charles Chaney, co-chairman of the annual Pancake Day event coming up March 25, distributed tickets to members to be sold to the public.

Chaffee qualifies for insurance

CHAFFEE--Tenth District Rep. Bill D. Burlison said today that, effective Thursday, the Department of Housing and Urban Development has qualified the city of Chaffee for subsidized flood insurance.

He said that all structures used for residential, business, religious or agricultural purposes, structures occupied by nonprofit organizations and structures owned by state or local governments are eligible for the coverage.

The city qualified when it agreed to adopt land use and control measures to minimize flood damage to future constructions Burlison said.

Local insurance agents may obtain policies and other information from the National Flood Insurers Association servicing office, for Missouri, which is MFA Insurance Companies, 1817 W. Broadway, Columbia, Mo. 65201.

Miller recommended for board

SCOTT CITY--Georege Pendergrass, president of the Scott City Park Board, has recommended to the City Council that Don Miller be appointed to the park board to fill the unexpired term of Larry Angle, who resigned from the board for personal reasons, and that Chap Arnold be appointed to fill the unexpired term of Everett Holder, who resigned due to a job conflict with board meetings.

Pendergrass also recommended that the two then be reappointed to full three-year terms on the board and that the expiration date of future appointments be changed from June to February. He said area swimming pools traditionally open in late May or early June, and the earlier appointment date would give new members time to learn something about the operation and the planning involved in being a board member prior to the busy season.

He told the City Council that a pool manager should be hired as soon as possible at a $450 per month salary and that the pool, to be located at the new Scott City park complex, should be open from Memorial Day until the opening of the fall term of the Illmo-Scott City schools.

The City Council took the suggestions under advisement.

The council also passed an ordinance Monday to raise the city collector's salary from $450 to $500 per month, effective April 1.

Applications available

Applications for the Rotary Foundation Award, presented annually for study in a foreign country, are available from Sikeston Rotary Club members.

Any graduate or undergraduate college student is eligible to apply before the filing deadline of March 15.

Selections and announcement of the award recipients will be made by September. The award includes tuition and all expenses for one year of study in the school of the student's choice.

Sikeston Rotary Club officers are Ken Williams, president; Charles Green, vice president; Ed Ring, secretary; Ken Glidewell, treasurer; and Dick Giles, seargeant-at-arms.

Canalou man hurt in accident

MATTHEWS--A Canalou man received minor injuries early today in a one-car accident one mile west of town on Route H.

The highway patrol reported Donald Wayne Campbell, 23, lost control of his westbound car while crossing a bridge at a high rate of speed at 12:45 a.m. and the vehicle ran off the road into a ditch and overturned.

Campbell was taken to Veterans Hospital in Poplar Bluff.

17-year-old Dexter youth held in theft

DEXTER--A 17-year-old Dexter resident has been charged with breaking and entering and stealing in conection with the burglary last Wednesday of Harley's Restaurant at Dexter.

Nathan Tedford, was arrested, charged, and is being held in the Stoddard County jail at Bloomfield.

According to reports from the Dexter police department, Tedford's roomate, Bruce Kinder, recovered a stolen television set, a stereo and a clock that Tedford allegedly took from the restaurant. Kinder is said to have taken the items to his mother's home in Dexter and notified police.

Tedford was arrsted a short time later.

Local columnist predicts what family will wear

By JEWEL GRADY

The predictions of what family members will be wearing for spring '75 are soft silhouettes for females, freedom look for males, and more accessories for the younger set.

Fashion highlights for women will be soft fabrics, soft colors, soft and romantic styles, with clean, pure, simple lines. There's the free and easy, very American look of gingham checks with ruffled flounces and rickrack trim.

Details are most important this season and include the big sleeve for the big look. The bicentennial influence will bring back the American classic as tablecloth patterns and dish-towel checks to add to the gingham check look.

The American women still loves knits and will continue to want knit in her wardrobe. Knits will be supple, airy and lacey including more shiney knits, mesh knits, stringy cotton, and boucle baby knit. Fagoting, openwork embroidery, is dramatically new in fashion. It is added as an insertion to add appeal to sportswear, dresses, blouses and formals.

The biggest thing in menswear since the introduction of knits is the leisure ssuit or "The Freedom Look". This look gives men the same freedom of choice, of mood and silhouette that every woman has.

The interrelation of styles and lilfestyles is the theme of the fashion philosophy called the "Freedom Look". Until this breakthrough men traditionally had to put on the same uniform, maybe different in color and fabric but same basic style.

This spring the male can go to his closet and choose among a dozen different combinatoins of styles ... safari, wrap, western jeans look, shirt suit, battle jacket or his favorite traditional style suit. One of the main attractoin sof this freedom look is the freedom from exorbitant price. It is being manufactured in all price ranges.

Accessories will continue to be among most active categories in children's wear. Accessories are on going in this economy because mother's aren't spending money for complete outfits, they are pepping up their children's clothes with new accessories. The big belt year for children's belts was 1974. Spring '75 shows major styles of belts will feature Walt Disney characters, ABC types, silk-screened, reversible, stretch and embossed leather belts. Earrings, rings, the nothing necklaces and hand-painted novelties are all important fashion accessories.

There is something special for everyone in the family for spring '75.

The Daily Standard incorrectly reported in its Feb. 3 edition that the birthday celebration for Mrs. Ben Mason was held in a home located at 224 Young St. It took place in the home of her son, James H. Mason Sr., 901 Allen Blvd. We regret the error.

Fashion show attendance up

Women model movie star fashions

Joann Ebersole, chairman of the Coalesce Club fashion show, reported a whopping $1,635 was grossed from ticket sales for the show Monday night at the Ramada Inn.

She said 654 tickets were sold, an increase over last year's attendance. A factor was the club's decision to eliminate a bridge party usually held before the fashion show to allow extra seats to replace bridge tables.

Perhaps the biggest crowd-pleaser was Jacqueline Scott, a TV star born in Sikeston who sang and danced her way through a half hour's worth of songs.

And of course, there were spring clothes highlighted by movie star fashions Miss Scott loaned from various Hollywood studios. In the left photograph, Kris Masterson, 1011 Davis Blvd., models a soft green jersey dress in below-the-knee length worn by Karen Black in Airport '75, a current movie also starring Charleton Heston. Alice Aufdenberg, 901 Moore Ave., in the right photograph, sports a cashmere coat also worn in Airport '75.

Twenty-seven door prizes were donated by Sikeston merchants and grand prize winner was Mrs. Pat Swann, 309 Kramer Drive. She will take home 30 books of trading stamps.

All proceeds from the fashion show will be donated to the Child Development Center, Heritage House, Delta Community Branch of SeMo Diabetes Association and used to finance a homemaking award given to a senior woman and a Girl Scout campership.

Marketbasket report

Ground beef called best bargain

Consumers who kept a careful eye on which items they purchased found lower prices at the grocery store during February, according to an Associated Press survey which showed sales on protein-rich beef and eggs.

Shoppers who wanted nonfood items such as laundry detergent or fabric softener were out of luck. So were some people with a sweet tooth: the price of granulated sugar declined or stayed steady, but the cost of chocolate chip cookies increased.

The AP drew up a random list of 15 commonly purchased food and nonfood items, checked the prices on March 1, 1973 in a supermarket in each of 13 cities and has rechecked at the start of each succeeding month.

Among the findings in the latest survey:

—The marketbasket bill declined in nine cities during February and increased in four. Over-all, there was an average drop of nine-tenths of a per cent during the month. In January, the bill declined in seven cities and was up in six.

—The marketbasket bill was up an average of 34 per cent in the two-year period that ended March 1. Sixteen per cent of the increase came in the last 12 months.

—The biggest savings in February came at the beef counter. The price of a pound of chopped chuck declined at the survey supermarket in eight cities, down an average of 17 per cent. The price was up in two cities and unchanged in three. At the start of this month, the price of chopped chuck was lower than it was a year ago in every city checked. Increased beef supplies are credited with causing the drop.

—The price of a five-pound bag of granulated sugar decreased in six cities, stayed the same in six and was up in only one — Chicago. The declines reflect recent drops in wholesale prices that occurred because of supply buildups. The president of the National Association of Food Chains, Clarence Adamy, said Friday that the American consumer was the hero of the sugar price drop. Consumers refused to buy when prices reached $3 or more for five pounds and the price for a 14½ ounce bag was more than $1 at the start of March. Part of the reason for the increase is that the cookies reaching the shelves now were manufactured with sugar purchased before the price started to decline.

—Eggs dropped in price in 10 cities, continuing the downward trend that started last year.

—Laundry detergent increased in price in eight cities, up an average of 6 per cent. Part of the boost is due to higher costs for ingredients that have a petroleum base.

Government economists and industry spokesmen predict food costs generally will continue rising for the first half of this year, although at a slower rate than last year. They are hoping that prices will start to decline in the second half of 1975 if harvests are as large as anticipated.

Prices paid to farmers have been dropping steadily, but retailers say they are unable to pass the savings on to the consumer because of high costs for nonfood items such as transportation and labor.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture said Friday that the index of prices farmers get for their products dropped 4 per cent from Jan. 15 to Feb. 15. It was the fourt straight monthly decline and the department said that farm prices on Feb. 15 were 17 per cent below a year earlier.

A look at the over-all number of items in the AP survey showed about the same percentage of increases during January and February. Here are the percentages of increases and decreases:

	Jan.	Feb.
Up	27.7	27.2
Down	24.1	20.5
Unchanged	44.6	49.7
Unavail.	3.6	2.6

The day of the week on which the check was made varied depending on the month. Standard brands and sizes were used when available. If the requested size and brand was not available on March 1, 1973, a comparable substitute was selected. Items temporarily out of stock on one of the survey dates being compared were not included in the over-all total.

The AP did not attempt to compare actual prices from city to city — to say, for example, that cookies cost more in one area than another. The only comparisons were made in terms of percentages of increase or decrease — saying a particular item went up 10 per cent in one city and 6 per cen in another.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture marketbasket issued each month is based on a complex set of statistics. It includes 65 retail items of U.S. farm-produced foods in amounts that theoretically could supply a household of 3.2 persons for one year. The department, which draws on information from 1,500 supermarkets in compiling its report, says the figures do not correspond to actual family food spending and are used mainly to illustrate changes in costs.

The items on the AP checklist were: chopped chuck, center cut pork chops, frozen orange juice concentrate, coffee, paper towels, butter, Grade-A medium white eggs, creamy peanut butter, laundry detergent, fabric softener, tomato sauce, chocolate chip cookies, milk, all-beef frankfurters and granulated sugar.

The cities checked were: Albuquerque, Atlanta, Boston, Chicago, Dallas, Detroit, Los Angeles, Miami, New York, Philadelphia, Providence, Salt Lake City and Seattle.

today's woman

"more spice than everything nice"

Ann Landers

Depressed woman is dying inside because husband is lecherous drunk

Dear Ann Landers: I am just now recovering from the "party season". The derpession lasted five weeks. Please tell me what to do.

My husband and I have been married 11 years. We have two beautiful children. I love him very much, and I believe he loves me. But whenever we go where liquor is served, he becomes one of those obnoxious, iecherous drunks who can't keep his hands off other women. They can be 15 years older than he is, ugly as sin, and still he makes overt, outrageous passes. I am humiliated to death.

I know it's the booze. He never behaves like such a fool when he's sober. I've tried to talk to him about it but he never remembers a thing--says I'm exaggerating or making things up. Any help? -- Dying Inside

Dear Dying: Of course it's the booze and there isn't anything you can do about it. The guy should never touch a drop.

One of these days an irate husband might give Romeo a fat lip or open his head with a bottle. That may hasten him on this way to permanent sobriety, which would solve his problem--and yours.

Dear Ann Landers: Recently you printed a letter from a woman who was reluctant to have her teeth extracted because she was afraid it would interfere with her love life. Her letter was followed by several readers who urged her to go ahead and do it-- "better to have dentures than rotten teeth," etc.

I dare you to print the other side. There is one, you know. Haven't you read the ads or been in a drugstore lately? How could you fail to see the dozens of adhesive agents--powders, pastes, and liners for sale promising to help make dentures stick?

Sure, some dentures are fine, but a great many are not. I've spent over $3,000 trying to get dentures I can eat with and I'm not exactly rolling in money. I had to go without necessities to pay those dental bills. I finally gave up last year after consulting a professor of dentistry at a well-known university.

I don't have much to laugh about these days, but when I do laugh, my uppers fall down. I'd give my right arm to have my own teeth back again. A good dentist can do a lot to save natural teeth. Mine didn't even try. He said, "you'll be better off with dentures. They're cheaper, too."

Funny how people hate to spend money on their teeth--until it's too late. Then they'll spend a fortune on plastic ones that slide around, make sores and cause nothing but trouble.--Another Witness

Dear A.W.: Dr. Paul Goldhaber, Dan of Dental Medicine and Professor of Periodontology at Harvard, says, "Don't give up. Try another dentist. It's worth the effort."

Dr. Goldhaber also said people should insist that their dentist make every effort to save as many natural teeth as possible.

One of the principal problems with extractions is that the bone sometimes continues to resorb and the dentures then loosen. Another problem is that certain patients have a psychological hang-up about their dentures and they have a cannot adjust to them--no matter what. Good luck to you.

Dear Ann: Because I've learned so much from your column I want to pass on a little tip to your readers who hate to peel onions because it makes them cry. Keep your mouth shut and you'll be completely dry-eyed.--Tenn. Fan

Dear Fan: That's good advice even if you're NOT peeling onions. Thank You.

How much do you know about pot, L.S.D., concaine, speed meth, uppers, and downers, glue and heroin? Are all these drugs dangereous? Get Ann Lander's new booklet, "Straight Dope on Drugs." For each booklet ordered, send a dolar bill plus along, self-addressed envelope (20 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120.

World news

WASHINGTON (AP) — The use of a small force of Marines and helicopters is among contingency plans prepared by the Pentagon in case Americans need to be evacuated from the besieged Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh. The Marines are aboard a helicopter carrier near the Gulf of Thailand and are said to number less than a battalion, which has about 800 men.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department says Israeli soldiers are in the United States to learn how to use the Lance battlefield missile, one of the U.S. Army's newest weapons. This marks the first official confirmation that the United States will sell the Lance to the Israelis. There have been reports that Israel will get more than 100 of the missiles.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The tax burden on middle-income American families has doubled over the past two decades, according to a newly released government report. The study by the Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations shows a bigger tax bite for wealthier families too, but the rate of increase is smaller.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional committees are pushing ahead with their own energy and tax proposals in the face of President Ford's temporary retreat on key parts of his energy-conservation program. Saying that he was striving to avoid a "time-wasting test of strength" with Congress, Ford agreed to delay for 60 days the last two steps of a $3-a-barrel special tariff on imported oil.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Oil-rich Iran will buy eight nuclear power plants from the United States over the next five years as part of a $15-billion trade agreement that was described as the largest ever. Iran's purchases from the United States will include materials for factories, apartment buildings and hospitals.

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Anne Randolph Hearst, a younger sister of fugitive newspaper heiress Patricia Hearst, has pleaded innocent to a misdemeanor drug charge after her arrest at the U.S.-Canadian border. Miss Hearst, 19, was arrested Tuesday at Niagara Falls, N.Y., along with one of two passengers in the car she was driving when the trio entered the United States at the Rainbow Bridge, U.S. Customs said. U.S. Atty. Richard J. Arcara said that in a routine search of the car and its occupants a Customs agent found 1.2 grams of crystallized amphetamine, popularly known as "speed," in a sock worn by Donald R. Moffett, 21, of Denver, Colo.

Bill suggested to extend conflict of interest laws

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A bill which would extend conflict of interest laws to appointed state officials was recommended by the House Judiciary Committee Tuesday.

Other committees studied bills to establish procedures for collective bargaining between teachers and school boards and to tighten utility regulations.

In addition, Revenue Director James Spradling urged stricter auditing of multi-state corporations before the Senate Appropriations Committee, and the House Governmental Organization Committee considered a resolution requesting Atty. Gen. John Danforth to enter a St. Louis County school desegregation case.

The conflict of interest bill, a substitute for a measure introduced by Rep. John Buechner, R-Kirkwood, would require officials to file records of their interest in real estate, businesses, loans of $5,000 or more and gifts of more than $1,000.

The state's campaign finance law already covers many of the provisio nsfor elected state officials, but the new bill also would make the requirements of appointed officials.

Buechner said he would try to amend the substitute bill on the House floor to make it include all local officials also under its provisions.

Two teacher groups clashed over the bill setting up procedures for teacher negotiations with school boards at a Senate Education Committee hearing.

A representative of the Missouri State Teachers Association spoke for the measure which also would forbid teacher strikes, saying it would strengthen the relationship of school boards and teachers by setting up the bargaining procedures.

But a spokesman for the Missouri National Education Association criticized the bill because he said it does not require school boards to stick by the terms of the negotiations.

The Missouri School Boards Association also opposed the measure, contending it would take power away from local boards.

The Senate State Departments Committee heard testimony from utility lobbyists opposing several bills to roughen utility regulations.

The bills, sponsored by Sen. Harry Wiggins, D-Kansas City, would require public hearings before utilities receive emergency rate hikes and would place hearings in the home service areas of the utilities.

The measures also would prohibit utilities from passing higher fuel costs to consumers without a hearing.

Joseph Burke, spokesman for the investor-owned utilities, said the emergency rate hikes should be granted "if a company is in trouble." He also termed the proposal to have hearings in home service areas a "waste of manpower."

Residents of two St. Louis County school districts, Berkeley and Ferguson-Florissant, asked the House Governmental Organization Committee to approve a resolution urging Danforth to enter a desegregation case.

Both districts have been ordered to merge with the all-black Kinloch district by a federal judge.

"Don't let our freedoms be stripped from us," said Pat Johnson. "I believe Mr. Danforth should go to bat for us."

Residents of the two districts said state laws had been violated by the court order because the order suspended April school board elections, set a new tax levy for the combined districts and vacated two seats on the Ferguson-Florissant School Board.

The last day for filing appeals in the case is Saturday.

The resolution would request Danforth to investigate the case and submit a report to the General Assembly.

Revenue Director Spradling went before the Senate appropriations panel to urge the hiring of five new auditors each in Chicago and New York to audit multi-state corporations and determine if they are complying with Missouri tax laws.

Spradling said "Missouri really suffers" because it does not adequately check corporations which do business in the state but are headquartered elsewhere.

He also urged the committee to reinstitute money to buy and install a new computer to allow faster return of income tax refunds. Spradling said about $561,750 would be needed for the new system earlier turned down by the House Appropriations Committee.

Election officials recommended

PORTAGEVILLE--The City Council Monday night prepared a list of judges and clerks for recommendation to the county clerk to be appointed to serve in the April 1 city election.

The names submitted for judges and clerks in ward one include Raymond Toombs and Buddy Gowan, judges, and Mary Williamson, Audrey Crum and Lewis Hoxworth, clerks. In ward two, Paul Farris and Lee Workman were recommended as judges and Corrine Estes, Dotty Willcut and Delores Ellis as clerks.

The council also designated the National Guard Armory as the polling place in ward two. Ward one voters will ballot at the city hall.

Billy Dial was hired to assist in the police department under the federal funded Title Six program. His hjob wil pirmarily be to check businesses after hours.

The council discussed resurfacing additional streets, but no action was taken.

Emergency care revised, updated

MALDEN--The Bootheel Comprehensive Health Council's Emergency Care Service Task Force revised and updated the emergency care services component of the comprehensive health plan Thursday night during a meeting at the Bootheel Regional Planning Commission office in Malden Industrial Park.

Each segment of emergency care services was discussed by task force members. While no major changes were made in the plan several recommendations were made a part of the final plan, including an increase in the 81-hour emergency medical training course to a 200-hour course and establishing specialized services each area hospital can perform in an emergency. The recommendations were made a part of the plan.

It was also recommended that the plan include a list of extrication and rescue units and their locations.

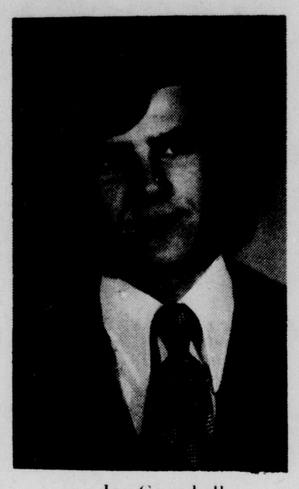
The updating and revision of the emergency care services component was one step in the revision of the overall comprehensive health plan.

The Emergency Care Service Task Force was charged with establising an emergency health care delivery system that allows all resident of the region and its visitors, regardless of ability to pay, to have emergency care that is accessible, appropriate, affordable, acceptable and available. Emphasis is placed on the word emergency.

The task force, which includes about 36 members working on a voluntary basis, compiled the original emergency care services component of the health plan by using information obtained through the efforts of task force members and with the cooperation of area hospitals.

Accomplishments in the area for the Bootheel include establishments of ambulance districts and the 81-hour courses being held at Kennett and Sikeston for the purpose of training ambulance drivers and attendants through special classes.

Portageville student selected as scholar



Jay Campbell

PORTAGEVILLE--Gerald "Jay" Campbell, a senior at Portageville High School, has been named a University of Missouri curators freshman scholar, Mrs. Grayce Alexander, high school counselor , has announced.

The award is based upon academic achievement during the three years of high school work already completed. The recipient may choose to attend any of the University's four campuses-Columbia, Kansas City, Rolla or St. Louis-with the full amount of the incidental fee for the school year being waived during the freshman year.

The award may also be renewed for additional undergraduate years if the scholar's academic cumulated grade-point average remains in the top five per cent of is class while enrolled full time.

Campbell was nominated for the award based on the following criteria: Nominee must rank in the top three per cent of his class at the end of his sixth semester of high school work, and he must have scored in the 90th percentile or above on one of the several nationally recongized college aptitude tests.

Each high school in Missouri is allowed to nominate one scholar from each 100 or fraction of 100 graduating seniors for the scurrent school year.

The curators scholar program is designed to recognize scholarly achievement in Missouri high schools and to encourage these persons to continue their education at the university level.

Campbellis the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Campbell and is the No. 1 ranked student in the senior class. He is listed in Who's Who in American High Schools. He belongs to the National Honor Society, Future Teachers of America and the French Club, and has worked for the Lion Club's TV Telethon for crippled children for two years. He attends the Church of Christ.

Last summer, Campbell was a member of the introduction to engineering and computer programming program at the University of Missouri-Columbia for outstanding juniors and seniors. He works part time for the Sears catalog store in Portageville.

Campbell plans to use the curator scholarashp at Rolla next fall in some field of engineering.

Teacher loses suit

CHARLESTON — A Circuit Court jury presided over by Judge Flake McHaney of Kennett Monday ruled in favor of Roy W. Ragains, the defendant in a damage suit for slander filed by Mrs. Garnet H. White.

In deciding the case, which was moved to Mississippi County on a change of venue from Scott County, the jury deliberated only 18 minutes.

Mrs. White, a teacher in the Scott County R-5 School District with 18 years of teaching experience, had charged in her petition that Ragains, superintendent of R-5 district schools, had slandered her, and she sought $14,000 for actual damages and $14,000 for punitive damages in the suit.

The petition stated that on March 16, 1971, Mrs. White had been told by Ragains that he had received complaints from parents that she was too nervous to be with children and was unsatisfactory as a teacher, then asked her to resign.

She refused to submit her resignation at that time and was again asked to resign on March 24, 1971, and was told at the time that if she did not resign, she would be dismissed and unable to teach within a 500-mile radius of Cape Girardeau.

Mrs. White again refused to submit her resignation and, on April 8, 1971 at a meeting of the board of education, Mrs. White charged that Ragains made the statement that Dr. Campbell told him she was "very neurotic, very nervous and emotional and that he would not want a child of his going to school under her."

Congress in 1782 chose the Bald Eagle as the national emblem.

Tentative agreement reached

CHAFFEE--The Illmo-Scott City Ambulance Committee has reached a tentative agreement with the North Scott County Ambulance Service to have an ambulance stationed in one of the two cities, J.A. Chronister, chairman of the ambulance service board of directors, said Tuesday.

He said one of the two cities will be considered if the city can supply trained drivers and attendants and if approval is granted by the County Court.

Morris dies today

KANSAS CITY (AP) —r-Fo mer Missouri Lt. Gov. William S. Morris, 55, died early today.

Morris had been a patient at St. Luke's Hospital since Jan. 26 and underwent open heart surgery Jan. 27.

Mrs. Morris said her husband suffered what were described as "seizures" Tuesday afternoon and he was placed in the intensive care unit.

Morris suffered a heart attack last Nov. 9.

A native of Higginsville, Mo., Morris was graduated from the University of Missouri-Kansas City School of Law and admitted to the practice of law in 1948.

He had been active in Democratic politics for many years. He was a past president of the Lafayette County Young Democrats and served on the Kansas City Election Board from 1959 to 1964. He was chairman of the board from 1962-64.

Morris was appointed Public administrator of Jackson County in 1964 and won election to that office in 1966.

He was elected lieutenant governor in 1968 for a four-year term and lost a bid for the Democratic nomination for governor in 1972.

Married in 1942 to Lucile Albers of Higginsville, the Morris' have one daughter, Lisa, 16.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Church offers transport

DEXTER — Senior citizens in Dexter can literally take advantage of a "free ride", according to the Rev. Clifford E.Wray, pastor of First General Baptist Church.

His church sponsors a bus service to and from the Dexter Community Center each day so citizens in the area who might not otherwise take advantage of te low-cost meal programs there may do so.

The bus runs each Monday through Friday "rain or shine" and will pick people up at their homes. It leaves to make its rounds at approximately 10:45 a.m. and returns after the noon meal is completed each day.

On Tuesday and Thursday, the community center sponsors a special get-together and on these days, the bus does not leave until activities have been completed.

The free bus rides, according to the Rev. Mr. Wray, have been in operation for almost five months and, during this time, more than 100 round trips have been made to the center and more than a thousand free rides provided for senior citizens.

At the center, noon meals are offered to persons over the age of 60 at low cost.

The bus for the daily trip can accommodate up to 36 people and the Rev. Mr. Wray says anyone who has not taken advantage of the service and wishes to do so may make arrangements by calling telephone number 624-3444.

Howardville bar burglarized

HOWARDVILLE — Burglars broke into The Most Club tavern early Tuesday, according to the town marshal, Robert Young.

The burglary was reported by the owner, Richard "Buck" Anderson. Young stated that entry was gained by forcing a side door open. A cigarette machine and pool table were broken into and $25-30 in coins was stolen.

Investigatoin of the break-in is continuing.

For many years diphtheria was the most dreaded of all diseases. It is less feared today because doctors have means to treat or prevent it.

Appreciation plaque presented

Former fire chief honored

CHARLESTON — Joe Johnson, who had served as fire chief of Charleston since 1968, was treated to a surprise Tuesday night during a dinner hosted by the fire department when he was presented a plaque by Fire Chief Tom McKenzie in appreciation for his years of leadership of the department.

Johnson resigned as chief last month and accepted the position of city building inspector, vacated by Bob Merrick who resigned, and began his new job March 1.

With the departure of Johnson, McKenzie was promoted to chief and Lt. Bill Bradley was promoted to captain and assistant fire chief. Tony Trousdale was named first lieutenant and Vernon Williford was promoted to second lieutenant. Fireman Jim Cates, who joined the staff in November, completes the full-time staff of the department. There are also eight volunteer firemen.

The dinner was attended by all firemen, city officials, employes the police department and their of the city hall and members of spouses.

point penalty regardless of whether it was in a city or county with similar laws.

"We're creating a new offense," Waters said. "Once that's proven, we have a conviction."

A senator said one-tenth of one per cent alcohol was equivalent to about six beers or four mixed drinks. The percentage would vary depending on a person's size and when he ate his last meal.

The Senate also gave preliminary approval to a resolution sponsored by Sen. Larry Marshall, R-Columbia, to call for a state constitutional amendment that would allow counties with more than 80,000 people to adopt a charter form of government. The proposal would be placed on the November 1976 ballot.

In the House, Rep. Phillip Scaglia, D-Kansas City, asked members to overrule the committee killing the proposed Sunday blue law repeal.

But Waynesville Democrat James Arnold, one of five committee members who killed the bill last week, said, "As long as we have a committee system we have to live within it." He said the committee override would be unprecedented and could lead to every committee decision being appealed.

Carpenters donate labor

Nine members of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, Local 618 donated labor Saturday for the installation of studding, vapor barrier sheeting, furring strips and paneling to assist in the revnovation of the New Madrid Museum building. The American Legiona auxiliary provided snacks and coffee for the workers, who were later guests at a dinner given by Brown-Twitty Post 595 of the American Legion. Back row, from left, Matt Hogan, Tom Cox, George Pullum, president of the local; Bill Foster, recording secretary of the local; Les Keene and Clif Huddleston. Front row, from left, Vic Alfield, Mack Cravens and Buck Higgerson.

Retired legislators could get increase

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Retired legislators would be able to benefit from pension increases under a measure that has gained preliminary approval in the Missouri House.

The bill, sponsored by 61-year-old Rep. Frank Ellis, R-Sedgewickville, would create "special consultant" posts to the state retirement system that could be held by former legislators after they reach the retirement age of 60.

Ellis, who has served in the House since 1962 but sat out the 1969-1970 General Assembly, said the bill was primarily aimed at assisting some of the 85 former lawmakers who retired prior to the latest benefit increase in 1972.

Under the 1972 benefit increase, legislators who have served at least six years will receive a monthly pension of $37.50 times half the number of years they have served, but their total benefits cannot exceed $5,600 a year. Those retiring under the benefits before that hike have their pensions figured on no more than a $30 figure.

The special consultant plan, which is used in other state systems, would enable a retired lawmaker to receive as a "salary" the difference between the benefits under the plan covering him and the most recent increase authorized.

"For the little that a person gets for serving in the body, I'm willing to give them all of this," said Rep. Harold Volkmer, D-Hannibal.

Majority floor leader Kenneth Rothman of Clayton called even the current benefits "rather poor."

The special consultant plan has been challenged as unconstitutional on the grounds that it amounts to payment of public funds to persons no longer employed by the state. But the state Supreme Court has upheld the plan, going so far as to say it makes no difference whether they perform any acutal work.

The measure also calls for the refund of contributions and interest on that money to both legislators and workers covered under the Highway Employes and Highway Patrol Retirement System upon their retirement. A similar change in the other retirement plans was made several years ago.

Legislators pay 5 per cent of their annual $8,400 salary into the fund with the state matching that amount.

Charleston faces St. Louis power

Missouri's top eight teams in Class 3A meet at four sites across the state tonight in do-or-die efforts to reach basketball's pinnacle, State Championship play at Columbia.

Charleston's high'flying Bluejays, riding at their peak with convincing wins over Kennett and Potosi in regional play, meet their last hurdle this evening to a place they've never been before, state semi-final play-offs at Hearnes Multi-purpose Fieldhouse in Columbia.

The Coach Mitch "Switch" Haskins-led quintet will pit their 26-4 season's mark against Lutheran South's 22-3 mark. The Lancer's from St. Louis County boast one of Class 3A's tallest quintets and are no strangers to state championship play, riding a 30-1 record back in 1973 to the state crown. Coached by Herm Meyer, LSHS swept past Bayless in the Eureka Regional last week 77-59, before downing Festus 72-42 Monday night at Hillsboro. The Lancers have two 6-foot-6 boys in sophomore postman Kent Reasoner and junior forward Mark Rohde with both boasting twin-figure scoring averages. 6-foot-3 forward Jon Mueller is the only senior on the starting five as athe Lancers look to domination of the game not only this season but the next as well. Rounding out the LSHS quintet are two of the stae's finest ball-handling guards in 5-11 Larry Reischauer, a 19-point bomber against Festus in just two quarters, and 6-foot junior Jay Doering who can hit form anywhere on the court.

According to their most recent opponents, Lutheran South has a next to unbeatable combination of speed, quickness, and shooting ability from all five of their starters. They can break the stall, a zone pass, and will shoot over a zone defense with no hesitation. On defense themselves, the Lancers employ a very effecive 1-2-2 zone or zone-trap press. Against Festus, Lutheran South used the zone-trap to rattle the Tiger's cage time after time.

But Charleston's Bluejays are no slouch themselves. Since starting slow last December with two losses in six games, the bluebirds have swept to 19 victories and only three more losses to date. And those losses came against teams like Notre Dame, the state's second-ranked Class 2A team, in the Christmas tournament finals on a last second shot and Kennett beat them in a SEMO conference game, and were ranked ninth in the state in Class 3A at the time. Another loss came against the state's top-ranked Class 2A team, the Lilbourn Panthers, in overtime.

Since coming to Charleston from Houston, Coach Haskins has built an outstanding team which combines good defense with balanced scoring.

Mike Jefferson, who led the 62-47 onslaught against Potosi Mondy night with 17 points, paces the team in scoring average with 15 per game. Right behind is sophomore Ricky Frazier with 14.8 per game and a 14.3 average for rebounds. Pleas Porters has a 10.2 average and James Davis a 13.1 mark per game to round out the double-figure players. Terry Schott is the playmaker for the Bluejays and is also a good outside shooter. On the season Charleston is averaging 68.8 points per game while giving up only 54.3 per game.

Should the Bluejays survive Wednesday night's match-up, Charleston will meet the winner of the Owensville-Clayton quarter-round game in the semi-finals of state Class 3A play Friday night at Columbia.

TENNIS

BOSTON — Australian Helen Gourlay upset eighth-seeded Wendy Overton 4-6, 6-4, 6-0 in the $75,000 U.S. Women's Indoor Tennis Championships.

LONDON — Britian's Mark Cox defeated Sweden's Ove Bengston 6-7, 6-3, 6-2 in the first round of a $60,000 International Tennis Tournament.

SHREVEPORT, La. — Southern Methodist University's George Hardie took Japan's Jun Kuki 6-4, 6-2 to advance the second round of the Shreveport International Tennis Tournament.

DENVER — John Newcombe topped fellow Australian Ken Rosewall 6-0, 6-3 in the $5,000 winner-take-all tennis match.

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. (AP) — Red Sox first baseman Cecil Cooper was due in Boston today after X rays taken here Tuesday revealed he was suffering from an inflammation of the lungs.

Cooper will be admitted to Hahnemann Hospital where he will be examined by Dr. Mark Aisner.

Cooper, who played winter baseball in the Caribbean, had had no complaints, but the inflammation was detected in X rays at Winter Haven General Hospital as part of the routine physical Red Sox players undergo each year at this time.

Red Sox Public Relations Director Bill Crowley said, "It could be nothing, but then we don't want to take any chance."

Bulldogs eliminate Southwest

CAPE GIRARDEAU--Vangalee West put on a career high scoring performance to advance the Sikeston Bulldogs in opening round play of the class AAAA regional basketball tournament Tuesday night and push the Bulldogs team record over the .500 mark for the first time since Jan. 3.

SHS turned back Northwest of Housesprings 79-67 for their 13th victory in 25 gmes, marking their seventh win in nine games and third in a row.

Coach Buddy Spears' SHS Cagers jumped out into a 10-2 lead, but was never really able to gain the m omentum to make easy work of Northwest and trailed the five team event's fifth seeded quintet 28-25 midway in the contest.

West, connecting on 11 of 21 field shots and one of two charity tosses, scored 23 points to back the leading effort of teammate Hal Presley, who bombed in 10 of 16 from the field and four of six from the line for 24 markers.

Presley, who has been the main reason for the Bullogs lat season turnaround from a serious loing string, hauled in 17 rebounds to compliment his night's work. The 6-foot-5 athlete, improving with every outing, led the team to a 56-32 edge in rebounding and has been the leading in the last three games during which the Dogs have out-rebounded their opponents 160-100 to offset sub-par shooting.

SHS really didn't overhaul their opponents until the fourth quarter as Northwest led 44-43 with three and one half minutes left in the third quarter.

Norhtwest out-performed the Bulldogs in the shooting department, connecting on 41.2 percent from the field while the Dogs hit 40.4. Northwest was 45.8 at the charity stripe while SHS was 41.2.

Jim Hall, a 5-foot-10 senior guard, was vertually unstopable by the Bulldogs. Hall claimed high game scoring honors with his 27 markers, connecting on 11 of 19 fild goals and five of seven from the charity stripe.

The loss finished Northwest's season at 6-18 and sends Sikeston against the event's fourth seeded Fox of Arnold quintet Thursday night at 8 p.m. SHS is seeded second.

LHS faces MA power

CAPE GIRARDEAU--The hotshot Lilbourn Panthers take their show to the Houck Fieldhouse Wesdnesday night in the class 2A state tournament against the Acadia Valley Tigers of coach David Bone in the quarterfinals. The winner will advance to Columbia Friday for the semi-finals and the finals on Saturday.

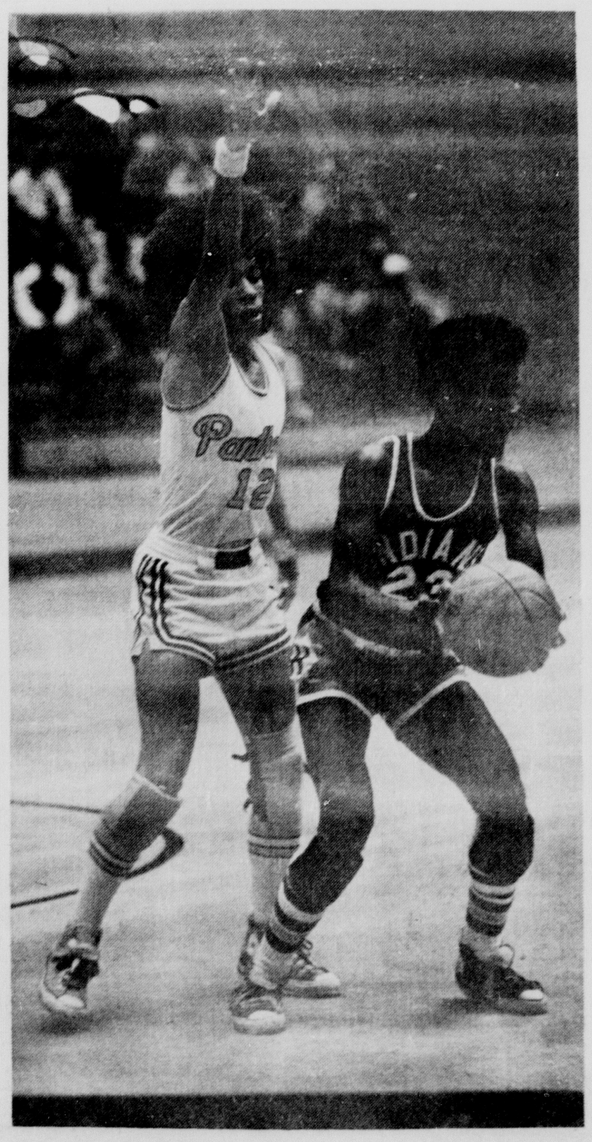
Lilbourn is currently riding a 40 game winning streak over the past two seasons and is 29-0 this season. Arcadia Valley is 25-3 on the season with losses coming to Ellington and Potosi earlier in the season.

Coach Bone is the former assistant to Gene Bess at Oran high school. Since moving to Arcadia Valley coach Bone has been one of the outstanding coaches in the Mineral Area.

Unlike the Lilbourn Panthers of coach Bob PePhelps, the Tigers spend mostly on 6-4 center Johnny Carr for their scoring bursts.

Coach Bone uses a man to man defense primarily but will adjust to what the situation calls for. The Panthers use a straight man to man defense relying mostly on their quickness and speed to beat their opponent.

In Lilbourn the Arcadia Valley Tigers will face the number one team in the state and naturally the state tourney favorites. AVHS is not rated in the top ten poll by the sportswriters and sportcasters.



Lilbourn's Ernest McFerren (12) pressures Hatyti's Willie Walker during first round class AA state tournament play at the Sikeston High School Field House Monday night. The Panthers won and battle Arcadia Valley in quarter final round action at Cape Girardeau's Houck Field House tonight at 7:30.

High-priced deer herds

JEFFERSON CITY--The Department of Conservation is cowboying one of the most valuable livestock operations in Missouri.

It's called the deer herd.

According to an annual study made by Sidney Wilcox, a professor in Engineering at Arizona State University, the value of the meat taken by Missouri deer hunters in the 1973 (the latest of the studies) is $2,512.556

Wilcox uses an average field dressed weight, reduces that to boneless meat, then multiplies the total by the local chuck beef price to arrive at a dollar figure.

The 1973 Missouri deer harvest of 34,723 animals averaged 85 pounds dressed weight or 54 pounds of boneless meat. Chuck beef prices were $1.34 a pound at the time the study was made.

In addition to the actual value of the meat, there was a host of intangible benefits involved in the annual Misosouri deer hunt.

Hunters spend money for lodging, for food, for permits, for equipment, for gasoline, for many items associated with the hunt. There were 25,254 archery hunters and 210,770 gun hunters during the 1973 season.

In 1974, there undoubtedly were more, though final figures aren't yet in.

Missouri's harvest of 34,723 animals puts the state in 23rd place nationally. Many states do not has as accurate a check on animals aken as Missouri does since they do not run check stations.

The 1973 Texas deer harvest led the nation. Hunters claimed 376,293 deer, mostly white-tailed, though a few mule deer were taken. Texas deer herd is estimated at a staggering 3.5 million.

Pennsylvania had the second high harvest of 126,891 and Montana was third with 122,648. Other states and their 1973 deer harvest include: Oregon 103,470; Wisconsin 90,561; Utah 86,750; Alabama 82,000; Colorado 75,451; New York 75,379; Louisiana 74,761; Michigan 70,650; Minnesota 69,041; Wyoming 61,414; Virginia 60,798; Washington 58,520; Florida 57,122; Idaho 53,743; South Carolina 46,000; Georgia 44,600; South Dakota 35,242; Arkansas 35,000; Mississippi 35,000; then Missouri.

Wilcox also compiled statistics on hunter accidental deaths from gunshot, freezing, heart attack and other cause and found that despite some accidents every year, deer hunting is a very safe sport.

In 1973, there were 96 fatal gun acidents nationwide, out of a reorted 9.6 million deer hunters. The number of fatalities has been fairly constant since 1969. In that year there were 116, there were 98 in 1970, 116 in 1971, 110 in 1972 and 96 in 1973.

But the number of deathes from all causes has declined every year from 176 in 1969 to 112 in 1973. At the same time, the number of deer hunters has risen more than 1.4 million, from 8,212,043 in 1969 to 9,615,254 in 1973.

And the value of deer meat alone on national basis? A thumping $15,096,746. There were 119,340,012 pounds of boneless meat taken in the 1973 deer season.

Hunters took 2,209,053 deer out of an estimated national herd of 14,609,961 animals. In both cases, the numbr was the highest of the five years Wilcox has been doing his report.

No doubt about it--nationally and in Missouri, deer hunting continues profitable both for hunters and for economists who like to put dollar values on things.

Expensive? hunting

JEFFERSON CITY--Doggone it! It's just not much fun to be a deer poacher anymore!

Poaching deer in Missouri is getting to be a hobby as expensive as racing sports cars or playing pool with Minnesota Fats.

A number of would-be illegal deer slayers have found that out in recent weeks as magistrate courts over the state have levied severe penalties.

In St. Charles County, Magistrate William Lohman fined two poachers the maximum $500 each, then suspended half of the fine on the condition the two not hunt for two years or even accompany anyone hunting.

In Hickory County, Judge Jack Moore levied a $200 fine on the killer of a deer, a $100 fine on the driver of the car and assessed two 90-day jail sentences, suspended on condition the two violate any laws for a year.

Conservation agent Bill Otten broke up a poaching ring in Adair County which saw $500 fines against four people who had taken eight deer, including five does.

Two men brought before Magistrate Judge Patrick Horner in Callaway County found themselves faced with $877.80 in fines and the shooter of the deer faces a three-month jail sentence, suspended on condition he not hunt for a year.

Judge Horner fined one man $250 for possessing a deer in closed season and fined the shooter $500 for taking the deer and another $75 for using illegal metholds.

Mizzou success

COLUMBIA — Before Mizzou put the finishing touches on what could well be the most satisfying of Norm Stewart's eight coaching seasons in Tigerland, it seemed appropriate to ask the blond skipper how a greenhorn team jelled so well and so rapidly.

Pausing amid preparations for the stretch run against Kansas State here, and Colorado at Boulder on Saturday night, Norm took a retrospective look at a smashing comeback season after last year's tail-end finish.

His first tribute was to the club's cool attitude.

"I think's it's kind of unique in that they play with a certain amount of calm confidence, yet with a lot of enthusiasm," he says. "They play with poise, and when they're ahead at the end of a game, they take it in stride."

With three sophomores and another newcomer to the program (Willie Smith) in the starting lineup, the degree of maturity shown by the youthful Tigers has been vital to their success.

Stewart is not necessarily surprised by their achievement as much as by the "manner in which they did it."

"Ron Pexa became ineligible, and both Jim Kennedy and Kim Anderson were injured at the same time," he says, tracing early misfortunes. "Kim even missed five full games, and yet the ball-club continued to win at a pretty good clip."

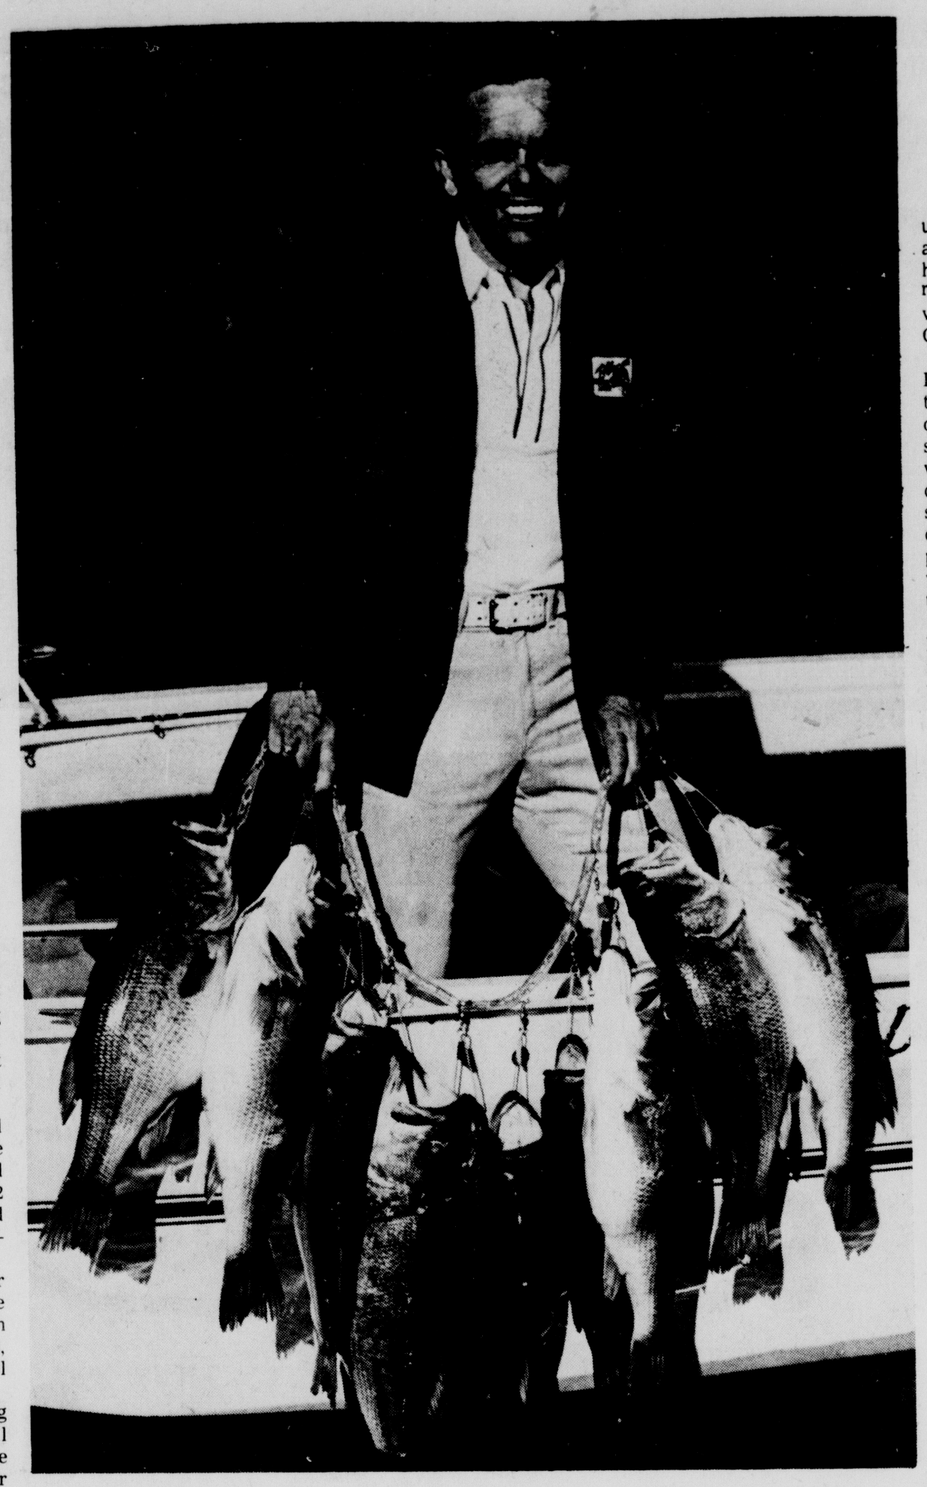
Crowd-pleaser Willie Smith did as much as anyone to initiate the Tigers' propserity. But did Stewart really expect that the 6-2 Las Vegas sharpshooter would step right in and make the contribution he has this year?

"Not scoring-wise," the Tiger head man says. "Willie and I were playing '21' one day back in November and finally I said, 'Hey, you've got to shoot the ball more, Willie.'"

"But you just don't come along very often with someone who will score 24 points a game and still be so proficient in all the other phases of the game."

The 17-7 record sported by the Tigers heading into Mizzou's final two games is obviously a source of satisfaction to Stewart. It is also a prime reflector of his coaching ability.

"As I've said before, this year's club may have surpassed what we had a right to expect and certainly what other people expected, but not necessarily what we've hoped and worked for," Stewart says. "As a coach, you've got your talent so you just go out and play. Once the season starts, there's nothing you can do but try to get the team to achieve its potential as a group. That's where satisfaction comes in.



Rex Grady, displaying 10 large mouth bass weighing 60 pounds which was the largest single limit recorded in 1971 at Table Rock Lake, will be at the Kingsway Plaza Mall Outdoor Living Promotion in connection with the Bootheel Bass Buster's Club Friday and Saturday. Displays open Thursday.

Women organize softball league

The first meeting for the "Sikeston Womens Softball Association" was held Tuesday night at 504 N. Ranney. Sandra York and Willie Burrow were elected as Chariman and Co-Chairman. Kathy Kafka and Susan MacLaughlin were elected Secretary-Tresurer. This organization will govern both the adult and Junior Teams. The League will play Modified (Fast pitch without full wind up) fast pitch. Their will be some exceptions for the Junior Teams only. The Adult league will be limited to 8 teams. The size of the Junior league is still open because this year the league has divided the age group for Junior teams. (4th thru 6th will be in one division and 7th grade thru 9th in another.

Each team willbe required to pay a Sponsors Fee. (Not yet determined). We will have paid umpires and the league will supply the game ball.

Anyone wishing to Sponsor a team should contact Sandra York; P.O. Box 221; or call between 8 a.m. & 5 p.m. (471-4131) Any team wanting to sign up plase have a representative at the next meeting-March 17, at 610 Holly Hill.

Girls (4th grade thru 9th) wanting to participate contact your coach from church teams last year and or watch this paper for day to meet and sign up for a team. We will set up a meeting so than any girls wising to play on a Junior team will have the opportunity.

Players talk about money

Today's lesson in business administration comes to you courtesy of Ken Holtzman, Bill Russell and Bill Campbell.

As it happens, Holtzman majored in business at the University of Illinois before turning to pitching major league baseballs for the Chicago Cubs and later the Oakland A's. In his years with Oakland and owner Charles O. Finley, Holtzman's business schooling has continued with almost yearly salary squabbles, and the left-hander isn't sure he can stand that type of education much longer.

"If a business opportunity I have works and everything is conducive to leaving at midseason, I'd quit baseball then," the 29-year-old Holtzman said Tuesday.

"If the general condition of the economy was better, I probably wouldn't be here right now," he added at Oakland's Mesa, Ariz. training base.

"I'd like to let him (Finley) him go out and find another 19-game winner."

Considering the fact that Finley already has lost a certain 24-game winner named Catfish Hunter, the fiery A's owner may not be pleased with the prospect. But a good businessman never tips his hand.

Russell, the Los Angeles Dodgers shortstop, got his business learning while holding out for $75,000 this season. He signed his contract Monday — for less money than he had wanted — but admitted no feelings of malice for club vice president Al Campanis, who did the negotating.

When it was over, Russell said, "Campanis and I shook hands, knowing business is business."

But all businesses have their eccentricities. Minnesota Twins hurler Campbell found that out.

Twins' owner Calvin Griffith set a club rule against beards, so Campbell's carefully cultivated shrubbery had to go by workout time Tuesday. The 26-year-old right-hander, Minnesota's top reliever last season with an 8-7 record and a 2.63 earned run average, appeared despondent with the loss.

"I am disappointed," he said at the Twins' training base in Orlando, Fla. "But the ball club's policy says I can't have the beard, and this is one of those times when you can't fight city hall."

Meanwhile, the number of unsigned players was reduced further when Baltimore inked outfielder Don Baylor; the New York Yankees signed outfielder Walt Williams and first baseman Otto Velez; the Cleveland Indians signed outfielder Oscar Gamble; infielder Mario Guerrero ended the first Boston Red Sox holdout in 18 years and the Dodgers agreed to terms with outfielder Bill Buckner.

The Dodgers also invited free-agent pitcher Juan Marichal to their camp.

Braves get scare

BLOOMFIELD — Scott Central used a fourth period rally to avoid an upset by the Puxico Indians here Tuesday night in the 1A regional, claiming a 90-72 victory while Matthews outshot the Bell City Cubs 80-72.

The highly favored SCHS Braves had their hands full with the young PHS Indians for three quarters as coach Pete Townsends Indians were deadlocked with the Braves 60-60 after three quarters but the Braves zone trap spelled defeat for Puxico as the defense forced numerous bad passes and Scott Central converted the turnovers into layups to win.

Puxico fell behind 21-11 to the Braves speed and quickness in the first period and looked as if they were going to get blown off the court in the first half but the Braves began to flater and the Indians kept scrapping until Puxico outscored the Braves 26-19 in the third quarter to tie the game.

Niether team was sensational on defense in the fast moving ball game. Will Smith, playing in his last game for Puxico scored 23 points. Otto Porter led a four player double barrage for Scott Central with 25.

Matthews used their speed and good shooting to get past the Bell City Cubs. Dan Rivers was the only offensive threat for the Cubs as the senior pumped in 31 points. Robinson and Lape scored 18 apiece for Matthews.

Wednesday at 6:30 Scott Central plays Matthews and Oran plays Bloomfield at 8:00.

Chaffee advances

ZALMA — Pre-tourney favorites continued to win in the 1A class regional here Tuesday night as Chaffee outlasted University High 85-74 and Meadow Heights got past Oak Ridge 63-53.

The Chaffee Red Devils had their hands full with the UHS Preps until the fourth period when a scoring burst lifted the Red Devils past the Preps.

Chaffee ran to a 17-14 first period lead but the Preps and Danny Seyer kept comig back in the second period and stayed with the fast moving Devils as Chaffee led 41-36 at the half. Scoring for both teams subsided somewhat in the third period as the Preps knocked off two of the five point Red Devil lead. Chaffee started rollingpast the Preps again in the fourth period as UHS wasn't able to keep up. Both coaches used quite a number of players as Lindy Duncan and David McConnell scored 25 and 17 respectively for Chaffee. Seyer scored 28 for University High.

Meadow Heights stayed alive by jumping to a 16-15 first period lead and holding on for the victory. Oak Ridge tried desperately to rally but the Panther defense along with cold shooting kept MHHS at a safe distance behind. Mike McCormack pumped in 24 points for MHHS and Mike Pfeiffer and Dale Lidwig scored 15 and 17 respectively for the Jays.

Meadow Heights plays Advance at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday and Delta plays Chaffee at 8 p.m.

Mustangs, Deer have close calls

GIDEON — North Pemiscot recovered quickly from a first quarter shock and Clarkton waited till the last minutes before both teams posted opening round victories in the Class A Regoinal here Tuesday night.

The NPHS Mustangs went to pieces against a surprise zone trap brought out by Gideon in the first eight minutes of their opening game and wound up on the short end of a 17-10 count. The quarter break, however, saw North Pem rebound with total vengence as the Mustangs literally swamped the Bulldogs under with a 28-2 second quarter to go on for an easy 74- 48 final margin. Jerry Stewart's 25 points was the high water mark of the night for NPHS, while Virgil Sparks netted 17 for Gideon.

The Clarkton Reindeer muddled through three quarters against Parma in the nightcap before suddenly waking up after being down by eight to take the final quarter with a 30-16 margin for a final 88-82 victory. Kenny Richman's 30-point effort did the Pirates in along with double figure efforts from Wilson, Gum, and Caldwell. Ricky Barnes was high for Parma with 20 points.

In order to better serve our customers we have added another floater for custom applying liquid fertilizer and chemicals.
These floaters do a minimum of tracking in wheat fiels plus an even job of distributing the liquid fertilizer (no streaking).
We also apply dry fertilizer and lime. If you prefer to do it yourself we have rental equipment for both dry and liquid fertilizer.
If we can be of help in applying liquid nitrogen to your wheat or if we can help in any other way we would appreciate the opportunity.

Team meeting held

Sikeston dealer among top 100

Terry Robison, operator of Terry's Spanish 66 Service Station, located at 600 N. Main St., has placed among the nation's top 100 U-Haul dealers, according to annual rankings released by the U-Haul Rental System.

The dealer rankings are based upon rental volume, proper accounting and customer service.

The U-Haul Rental System, based in Phoenix, Ariz., has 16,000 dealers in 8,000 cities and towns in the United States and Canada. More than seven million families used U-Haul equipment for economical do-it-yourself household moving last year.

Richardson firm awarded grand prize

RICHARDSON, Tex. — Bill and Jo Ferguson of Richardson received the American Drycleaner grand prize for drycleaning plant design Feb. 18 at the annual meeting of the International Fabricare Institute in Las Vegas.

It was the first time in the 14-year history of the national award that the grand prize has gone to a remodeled plant.

Mrs. Ferguson is the former Josephine Smith of Lilbourn, Mo., and has been instrumental in helping her husband build his business.

The Fergusons went into the drycleaning business in Richardson five years ago, operating a Town and County franchise. In 1974, the business had grown to a point that required additional machinery. To make room for the equipment, the layout was redesigned and business redecorated.

Ferguson has received an additional honor in that he will be installed April 18 as a member of the official board of the Texas Laundry and Drycleaning Association at the group's state convention and trade show in Dallas.

The 68--year-old organizatoin has a membership of 500 leading drycleaners and launderers in Texas.

"Membership on this important board is an indication of leadership," Felix C. Parker, executive director of the associatoin, said.

Management, staff changes announced

Changes in the management and staff at Ramada Inn of Sikeston, Highway 62 East, have been announced.

Bob Gray, who has assumed the general manager's position, has 15 years of experience in various positions in hotels and motels in Texas, Virginia and Georgia. His most recent position was as general manager of the Ramada Inn in Lavonia, Ga., prior to joining the staff in Sikeston.

Gray attended Central State College in Edmond, Okla., Southern Methodist University in Dallas, Tex., and North Texas State University in Denton, Tex.

Harold Scherer, resident manager, joined the Sikeston Ramada Inn staff in 1971 and has served in various positions. He is a 1966 graduate of Kelly High school in Benton. His experience includes four years with General Electric in Cincinnati, where he also studied for two years at University of Cincinnati.

Scherer will be working with guest room reservations and related services and can make reservations from Sikeston at any Ramada Inn in the United States or foreign countries by way of the electronic reservation system.

Manager wins highest award

KANSAS CITY — Ron Soteros, manager of Sambo's Restaurant, located at the Highway 62 interchange on Interstate 55 near Sikeston, has been named Manager of the Year for his territory. The award was presented by Larry Quinn, vice president of operations for the Santa Barbara, Calif.- based chain during a banquet meeting held here recently.

As a part of Soteros's award, all employes of his restaurant with at least six months service received a share of stock in Sambo's Restaurants, Inc., for their help in making the restaurant so outstanding.

Soteros is one of only 16 managers throughout the country to receive this special award, which is based on total sales, profitability and customer service.

Wayne G. Kees, president of Sambo's Restaurants, Inc., attributed the phenomenal success of the young company to dedicated individuals such as Soteros and his staff, who provide a wide range of quality food and fast friendly service 24 hours a day seven days a week.

The banquet was part of an annual regional business meeting for restaurant managers and corporation executives to meet with one another, exchange ideas and establish goals for 1975.

Sambo's began with one small restaurant 17 years ago in Santa Barbara, Calif. Today there are more than 475 full service, family restaurants in 35 states, with new ones being opened at the rate of one every three days.

Outdoor living exhibits to be shown at mall

Kingsway Plaza Mall will present its fourth annual outdoor living exhibits from 9:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Over 15,000 people viewed the displays last year and, as in the past, free prizes will be awarded through drawings.

In addition to the mall merchants, others exhibiting will be Sonny Presley Chevrolet, Sikeston Motor Co., Propst Mobile Homes, Presley Travel Trailers, First National Bank and Cooney Equipment Co. of Sikeston, Wieser Motor Co. of Cape Girardeau and the Bootheel Bass Busters Club.

Over $450 worth of prizes will be given away in drawings. The prizes will include:

Two $12.50 bottles of Aramis cologne from Ben's, a $14.95 hammock from Osco Drugs, $3 gift certificate from Snoozy's, $32.98 Structo Steel Bar-B-Q kettle from TG&Y Family Center, $12.95 radio from Grabers, $10 gift certificate from Bonnie's Card Shop; $13 three-step beauty plan from Jo's Merle Norman Cosmetics.

Two yards of double knit worth $8 from Singer Sewing Center, $5 gift certificate from Morgan Music Co., $80 tent from Britt's Department Store, $10 gift certificate from Charlotte's Web, $39.95 wig from Wig's Unlimited, $5.95 plant from Nature's Best Plants, $10 gift certificate from Dimensions in Fashion, $10 gift certificate from Merry Macs, $5 off certificate from Rye's Jewelry.

Space capsule radio worth $12.95 from McConnell Family Entertainment Center; $29.95 tent, $15.88 Coleman stove No. 425, $16.44 Coleman lantern No. 220 and $1.37 one-gallon Coleman fuel from Penneys; $7.95 five-pound canned ham from Safeway; $5 gift certificate from Chris Young World; $10 gift certificate from Clothes Closet; and three $25 savings bonds (one each day) from First National Bank.

Lutes appears at Jamboree

BERNIE — One of the newest members of the entertainment team at the Bootheel Jamboree is Carrol Lutes of Sikeston.

To Jamboree fans he is known as Smiley Crumb as he presents his comedy act. Lutes will appear each week with the regular members of the staff.

Aerial combat began in August 1914, when German and Allied pilots started shooting at each other with rifles and pistols, with negligible results.

YOUR LIVESTOCK FEEDING EXPERIENCE CAN PAY OFF

If you enjoy discussing livestock feeding problems with people you know, we should get acquainted. My company, a nationally known and well-respected feed manufacturer, is seeking a person of mature judgement and good reputation for sales and service representative here. This is not a fly-by-night, high-pressure sales job. Full-time opportunity for service-minded self-starter who can assume responsibility, make decisions, and be own boss. Home every night. I'll explain employee benefits, technical on-the-job training in local territory and financial requirements in confidential interview. Contact Box 926 Sikeston, Mo. 63801.

COOKING-UP

By CHERIE BLANTON

I hope you all appreciate the effort I've gone to in order to obtain this next recipie for it was agony. It's my very own, but I never measure anything that goes into it, so trying to make it & measure at the same time was terribly nerve wracking. This is my soup and it very seldom fails if I make it my brother-in-law doesn't appear on my back doorstep with smile on face & empty bowl in hand. I swear he must have my kitchen wired like Watergate cause he always knows when I put the pot on the stove.

My Vegetable Soup

Into a very large pot you can put these ingredients in, and in any order, just be sure you follow these tips. Cut your vegetables up very samll-actually dice them (then the kids won't know what they're eating & can't pick them out, besides it tastes better), only use extremely lean meat, stew meat and I prefer round steak that I cut up bite size ½ inch cubes, with absolutely no fat on it. Now, here goes-

1 can tomato soup
5 cans of water using the tomato soup can to measure in
1-15 oz. can tomato sauce
1-6 oz. can tomato paste
1-8½ oz. can of peas
2 diced white onions, fairly larg
1 diced large potatoe
½ scant cup of regular uncooked rice
2 tsp. coarse ground black pepper
2 tbs. salt
1 tbs. parsley flake
1 beef bouillon cube
4 dashes cayenne pepper
3 tbs sugar
2 carrots diced
1 stalk celery (1 stem) diced
4 cups chopped up cabbage
6 cups cubed lean beef (will take about 4 lbs of beef to get this)

If you use a round steak put the bone in too.

Now, cover & simmer for 3½ to 4 hours. This will be a thick rich gummy soup. After it has cooked for about 2 hours, (stir occasionally) taste & see if it needs any more salt, pepper or suger, as sometimes you do because of the flavor of the fresh vegetables. Also, if I have any left over green beans or anythng in the ice box, I just drain them & dump in too.

...

This snow on the ground this week really made me soup hungry. & here is one that I haven't tried yet, but I received with rave notices. This came straight from the old country & is the DeKriek recipie for

Dutch Split Pea Soup

2 lbs of dry split peas
2 large onions quartered
½ bunch celery with leaves, cut in 1 inch pieces
¼ cup chopped parsley
1 lb. of sausage in a casing
8 potatoes, diced

Put peas, onion, celery & parsley in a pan, cover with water & simmer 1 hour. Add sausage & cook ½ hour more or until peas are soft & tender. Remove sausage, skin it & chop into pieces. Pour soup through a strainer, & add potatoes to the puree along with salt & pepper to taste. Cook 15-20 minutes are until potatoes are tender, add sausage & heat throughly.

...

Now I have a good Mexican cornbread recipie in my cookbook, but Patsy Blanton has just tried one out which I think is twice as good & great with soup.

Mexican Cornbread

½ cup of flour
1 cup yellow corn meal
1 tsp. salt
½ tsp. baking soda
3 tsp. baking powder
½ cup cooking oil
1 cup of partially drained whole kernel corn
½ cup chopped green peppers
½ cup chopped onion
1 small diced jalapena pepper (if you want it real hot add another pepper)
1 tsp. garlic salt
1 cut buttermilk
3 eggs
1 cup grated velveeta cheese

Mix all together & bake at 450 degrees for 25-30 minutes (till good & brown on top) Put this into a buttered 9x13 inch pan Cool about 5 minutes before slicing. Reheats beautifully.

...

Now, for my puce de resistance!! Have you ever shopped in Famous Barr in St. Louis & stopped there at the lttle cafe on (I think) the third floor & eaten their French Onion Soup? If you haven't brother you ain't been living & here it is or at least one that tastes just like it!

French Onion Soup

3 lbs peeled onions
½ cup real butter
1½ tsp freshly ground black pepper
2 tbs paprika
1 bay leaf
¾ cup all-purpose flour
3 quarts canned (or home made) beef bouillon
1 cup dry white wine (optional)
2 tsp. salt
French Bread
½ lb. imported Swiss cheese

Slice onions ⅛ inch thick, Melt butter in a large soup pot, add onions & saute slowly for 1½ hrs. Add all other ingredients but boullion, wine & salt & saute 10 minutes more. Now add bouillon & wine & simmer 2 hours. If color is not a rich brown after this time, than adjust color with a liquid browning sauce. Season to taste with salt. Put in icebox overnight. Makes 2 quarts soup.

When serving, heat soup & fill individual ovenproof bowls with 1 cup soup, top with 3 one-half inch slices of French bread (that you've toasted & fixed so its like croutons), & top with a slice of the cheese. Place under broiler & brown about 5 minutes but watch it carefully.

Dull lunch box turns off appetite

By Polly Cramer

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — My husband has gotten so particular about his eating and especially with what is in his lunch box. Besides plain old sandwiches and chips I have tried leftovers but still he is not satisfied. Do you or the readers have any suggestions that might help me? — C.J.

DEAR C.J. — I am sure many readers who cope with this problem every day will be sending in more suggestions for you. As a starter have you tried putting hot soup in a thermos or mixing a green salad and putting the dressing in a small container or bottle so he can add it when ready to eat? Years ago a reader sent such a Pointer saying she often put wieners and rolls in a lunch box with a thermos of boiling water. At lunch time her husband could drop the wieners in the water for a few minutes until they were hot. — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with those magazines that write about an article that would be nice for a gift but give no address of where to send for it and often no price. If you locate the address there is a lot of extra correspondence before you can order. I have been waiting six weeks for an answer to such a letter. When I do get an answer it will be too late to order it for the occasion I had in mind. — MRS. A.E.

DEAR MRS. A.E. — I agree with you. I had the same experience with something pictured in a magazine before Christmas. The item was something I had been trying to get for a long time. The price was given and the name of the manufacturer but the address was only located with the cooperation of an interior designer friend. — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — and Mrs. C.D.S. — I love the pull out skein yarn and do not like to use any other kind. If it does tangle early in use pull it steadily but firmly and gently until a little or a lot may pull up and out in a bunch. There is always one easily recognized loop that is caught in the top of it all. Lift it up and release it all.

Start from the skein and pull the released yarn into a sack or plastic pail. Before you know it you have knitted or crocheted this all up and carry on with the rest with no cutting or tying on. If the yarn gets caught after there is a good-sized hole in the middle you can feel for it without pulling any out. — MRS. J.R.S.

DEAR POLLY — While making a suede cloth jacket I wanted to press the sleeves without creases but did not have a sleeve board. I used a wooden rolling pin with a small hand towel around it. Insert in a sleeve, press and roll. I find this really works with no creases where none are wanted. — MARILYN.

DEAR POLLY — In these economy-conscious days it pays to cut open an "empty" scouring powder can. The residue left inside will usually clean the sink one more time. — MRS. D.F.O.

Letters to the Editor

That's just it. Do the poor and only the poor receive welfare? I'm not knocking the welfare program it self but I will say this, the program needs to concentrate on needy children and elderly and blind and older widows. Is it right that the taxpayers help these unwed mothers? I say no. The unwed mother should have to deal with her situation herself. There are too many preventions on the market for a woman to get into a situation she is not able to deal with. But that is one way the welfare has fowled up. If these unwed mothers had to feed and clothe and get up every morning, go to work and support a child I guarantee that there would be less unwed mothers thus making less wear and tear on the welfare treasury. The unwed mother gets medicaide cards food stamps and a check. What are you all doing, rewarding her for her sins? "So you are exspecting? Congratulations, never mind who the father is, here's you a nice reward, you'll have your hospital and doctor bill paid for and will receive so much a month to live on and oh yes don't forget your food stamps you must eat - compliments of the taxpayers!"

That's the very reason there are not very many children out for adoption, the unwed mothers never had it so good. What is wrong with the people that head these programs? Can't they see the forest for the trees? Come on now let's help those that really need help not those who go out and deliberatly get messed up and exspect the world to hand them over a living on a silver platter. I've heard the expression from a lot of tree loading men also say "I'm not gonna work I'll just lay up on a gal drawing welfare and I've got it made." and the little children don't really get much out of the program, results? Some bum gets the most of it.

I could tell you all a lot of things but I would'nt be saying anything that I'm sure you don't know for yourselves that's really going on. But, what I'm trying to say is that there is so much talk about how much it coasts. "Food stamp program has risen from $200 million in fisal year 1969 when stamps went to 3.2 million people in fical year 1974 with further growth ahead." I believe that the welfare programs need some good housecleaning.

A. Women living alone with ADC children need to be investigated to see to it that there aren't any free loading men imposing in the home thus leaving the children deprived of their food, clothing and ADC payments and to make certain there aren't an abductions or neglect toward those children.

B. Unwed mothers should be taken completely out or off the ADC program and make certain they are advised of contraceptives of some form to prevent them from becoming a part of a situation they are unable to handle. Unless it's a rape case, then I believe a woman needs help and advise because she is a victim of cicumstance.

C. I believe that a man that has neglected his child support or has deserted his family and left them on mercy of ADC that the program try to trace him down and make him make up his support or imprision him for his rightful responsibility toward his family.

These are just a few things that I think should be done in behalf of the ADC recipients as well as in behalf of the taxpayers who are paying for these things. I do believe that the welfare program is a wonderful thing in this great land of ours and do pray that God will continue to help you to help those who need your aide. U.S. citizens are the most generous hearted people in the world and that is our nature to help others in their need. Thank you for your patients for reading my letter and views on your programs.

Dear Mr. Pippen,

We want to thank you for the very interesting and informative tour of the Daily Standard.

We appreciate your taking the time and your extra effort to explain everything so our girls could really understand.

Thanks again,

Letter To The Editor:

The city of Macon's "Garbage War" is far from settled. We have been threatened, harassed and intimidated for five months, in attempts to force us to pay for a garbage service that many of us had not used.

On Jan. 15th and 16th the city officials of Macon ordered the water service cut off, of several of us that had refused to pay, because we had not used the service. A group of us acquired some good lawyers and had petitions served on our city officials restoring our water service in a few days.

So the "Garbage War" in Macon has entered into a new "Phase". Our water service having been cut off by the city, was ordered turned back on by the court. We are now awaiting a court "Hearing" where we are going to contest the validity and legality of the right of our city officials to discontinue our water service because we refused to pay for this garbage service that we have not used.

This "Hearing" was originallyset for Jan. 30th, but our city officials, after months of proclaiming that, "It is the law", suddenly lost some of their confidence and in a move to evade or postpone "Judgement Day" where we have ordered them to appear in court and try to prove that, "It is the law", filed papers with our Circuit Judge, asking that he disqualify himself, which he did. Thus our city officials, after taking the law into their own hands by cutting off our municipal water service without a valid reason, are using delaying tactics somewhat similar to tactics used by common criminals to evade justice.

Another judge will have to be named to hear this case causing further delay and expense. I think that the city is hoping for some "Miracle" in the form of new legislation coming out of Jefferson City, that will rescue them from our retribution, for their actions.

As this will be the first court case that we know of in the state of Missouri, that is challenging, these compulsory or mandatory garbage alws, we expect this to be a landmark case, where we hope to prove the illegality of forcing a person to pay for a garbage service that they have not asked for or have not used. Therefore this court "Hearing" at Macon will be of state wide interest and importance to people throughout Missouri, who are opposed to paying for a garbage service that they have not used.

As lawsuits are expensive especially when they have to be appealed to a higher court, and as the outcome of this case may effect everyone in Missouri, who are opposed to compulsory garbage we have urged to set up a legal defense fund. We have good lawyers and with your help, we can beat them here at Macon, and if we beat them here, they will be beat all over the state.

Instead of paying for a garbage service that you do not owe for, help defeat this law by donating this amount or what ever you can afford. Send to-Garbage Legal Defense Fund, P.O. Box 264, Macon, MO. 63552

Any donation will be appreciated, will be confidential and is tax deductable.

Yours Very Truly,
LeRoy Ittschner

1417 Jackson St.
Macon, Missouri, 63552

P.S. as the Macon cityofficials have appealed to the attorney General of Missouri for help to push this case against or to defend them from our charges. We feel that Macon will be the "First line of defense" for people of Missouri, who are fighting this "Garbage War and who are opposed to having compulsory garbage serve imposed upon them.

THE SPORTING LIFE
by David Storey
Avon 21394 - Fiction - $1.50

THIS SPORTING LIFE, a Macmillan Fiction Award winner and the first novel written by David Storey, the British dramatist and novelist, is the story of a working class English youth who improves his social and economic status by playing rugby. Well known as the author of the Broadway hit "The Changing Room," David Storey is also the winner of the John Llewellyn Rhys Memorial Prize and the Somerset Maughn Award.

Avon begins publication of Storey's works with THIS SPORTING LIFE. These novels will be published in Avon editions in 1975: Pasmore, Radcliffe, and A Temporary Life. Three plays, Home, The Contractor, and The Changing Room will be published in one Bard edition in April, 1975.

SAVING WATER SAVES ENERGY

Saving water can help you save energy and money. The Ground Water Council recommends these saving tips: 1. Put a stopper in your sink or use a dishpan when you wash dishes. Washing with running water uses 30 gallons per meal. 2. Wait until you have a full load before washing clothes. An average automatic washer uses 50 gallons per load. 3. Take showers instead of baths. You can save about 11 gallons. 4. Don't use the water closet to dispose of ashes, facial tissues and the like. A normal flush requires five to eight gallons. Your pump will run less often if you take these steps--and your energy bills will be lower.

NEW WATER PROTECTION FILM AVAILABLE

A new 13-minute color-sound film is now available to explain in dramatic terms the story of our vast underground water supplies and the steps we must take to protect them. The film is suitable for schools, civic clubs and other community organizations. Write Film Dept., Ground Water Council, 221 N. LaSalle St., Chicago, Ill. 60601 for rental information.

KNOW YOUR WATER NEEDS

If you have your own water system, it's a good idea to be sure you have a pump that meets your needs. You should have enough pressure to allow using several outlets at the same time. The Ground Water Council recommends that you know your peak water demand. The demand, or capacity, in gallons per minute should equal the number of water outlets installed in your home. If your water pressure is not sufficient, you may need a larger pump. Call your local drilling contractor, pump installer of dealer for his advice.

Prayer

"Whatever you do, work at it with all your heart, as though you were working for the Lord, and not for men." (Colossians 3:23 TEV)

PRAYER: Thank you, Lord, for giving Yourself so willingly for us. Help us to give ourselves willingly in all service for You. Amen.

March was the first month of the ancient Romans' earliest calendar, and was naturally named for their favorite divinity, Martius (Mars), god of war.

Third graders tour newspaper

Mrs. Carolyn Chambers and her third grade class from Lee Hunter Elementary School toured The Daily Standard newspaper plant last Wednesday. Front row, from left, are Sammy Morgan, Sherry Melton, Lori McPhail, Drucella Robison, David Jones and Ray Mahboubi. Second row, Lynda Muench, Edie Sissom, Regina Shelton, Phillip Pigg, Evelyn Hunt, Shiela Friedman, Louie Ward, Kevin Miller and Jerry McMackin. Third row, Christopher Walker, Chris Neal, Damon Deal, Patrick Curry, Leslie Willis and Jennifer Tadlock.

Funeral home remodeling begins

50 years ago
March 5, 1925

L.C. Erdman was a business visitor in Cape Girardeau Tuesday.

A. Ray Smith returned from a business trip to St. Louis Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Anderson of Charleston visited Mr. and Mrs. C.B. Watson Sunday.

Henry A. Gentry, who died at St. Mary's Hospital in Cairo Sunday of septic poisning and tonilitis, will be buried Tuesday. He underwent an operation at Cairo about three weeks ago, but did not improve.

40 years ago

Morehouse--Mr. and Mrs. J.S. Swift of Dexter were Sunday guests of the Rev. Rose J. Hurst and Nellie Robbins. They are Miss Robbin's grandparents.

Fairview--The Rev. Lem Council preached two excellent sermons at this place Sunday. Three conversions were witnessed by those attending church here Sunday evening.

Conversion of the Welsh Funeral Home into a building resembling a residence was begun yesterday by men working under the direction of J.A. Sutterfeld, the contractor. Complete remodeling, including major changes inside the structure as well as on the exterior, will require about two weeks.

Harry Jones became manager yesterday of the Peoples Market, which was bought last week by E.R. Putnam of Charleston. Mr. Jones, who has been an employe of the store for several months, succeeds Bridewell Crenshaw. Yesterday, as well, Mrs. Jones began working as bookeeper and Hugh Steward as clerk.

What's the law?

The case of the corralled judge

By JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.

While judges may lay down the law, a statute was enacted to prevent them from laying down on the law as well. In short, it required judges to retire at 70 years of age.

Judge Dinkle, however, admiring his robust image in a mirror, refused to conceed either the wisdom or validty of any statute that could make him retire, as he saw it, in prime of his life. In fact, upon reaching the age of 70, instead of putting down this gavel and hanging up his robes, Judge Dinkle decided to run for reelection.

The county clerk, however, refused to accept his candidate's petition and Judge Dinkle started a court action action to make him accept it.

"The law's the law," insisted the county clerk. "While Judge Dinkle may look as good as a well-aged bottle of Scotch, the statute says he's too old to sit on the bench."

"I'm not bound by that law," retorted Judge Dinkle. "It discriminates against a person because of his age. The fact is, I'm as sharp as any 40-year-old , and to force me into the corral would be an unbridled violation of my constitutional rights."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you force Judge Dinkle into the corral because of his age?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that the state has a legitimate interest in requiring the highest possible standards obtainable for members of the judiciary and to minimize as far as possible the threat of an obviously disabled judge from continuing in office. The state interest, concluded the judge, is paramount to any personal right claimed by Judge Dinkle.

Don't use exercise as punishment

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — As a punishment my son's gym teacher makes the class do 60 situps and 60 pushups. The next day his stomach muscles are very sore and painful.

I know this is good exercise, but usually you work up to this amount gradually. Could this sort of thing be harmful in any way? My son is 12 years old.

DEAR READER — Excessive exercise beyond what the body is trained to do will cause minor injury to the muscles. That may be one reason for the muscle soreness we all experience after such episodes. Such exercise bouts actually slow down the rate of body development and the development of exercise capacity. The rule is: Train, don't strain.

The excessive exercise in this form is not likely to do major harm to the health on the short-term basis.

Why do I say short term basis? Because the gym teacher who uses exercise as a form of punishment is really defeating his or her own purpose. For children exercise should never be used as punishment. The idea is to make exercise pleasant and something children will want to do. This will help motivate them to want to exercise for the rest of their lives.

When children or older individuals are forced to do a physical task as punishment, the task is considered degrading, even if it is extra laps around the track. The exercise becomes equated in the person's mind with punishment, not something pleasurable. No wonder, then, that these individuals develop a pattern of shunning exercise. I wish every physical education teacher would take this to heart. If they want to motivate their students to want to exercise, stop that archaic practice of using exercise as punishment.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Please tell me something about leg aches. I just came home without finishing my shopping because the pain in my left leg was so bad. After I have been walking for a couple of hours, the pain starts in the toe next to my little one. If I don't get off it immediately, the pain continues on up to the knee and is excruciating.

I have been to the doctor three times with no improvement. He has checked my circulation, which is fine. I have had tests for uric acid, rheumatoid arthritis and the like, and all are okay.

I'm 58, weigh 135 pounds and have been very active. This problem is beginning to affect my activity. I have been having it for about four months now.

DEAR READER — Aches in the feet and legs come from many causes. Circulation is one cause and I'm glad your doctor doesn't think that it your problem.

Osteoarthritis can also be a problem. So can a variety of disorders of the feet. You will need X rays of the hip joints, the knee and a careful examination of the feet.

"I didn't study for any eye test, did you?"

Today in U.S. history

By The Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, March 5, the 64th day of 1975. There are 301 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

In 1770, British troops fired on a jeering crowd in Boston, kiling five persons. The incident, known as the Boston Massacre, hastened the American Revolution.

On this date —

In 1766, the Spanish took possession of New Orleans from the French.

In 1798, French forces occupied Bern, Switzerland.

In 1849, Zachary Taylor was inaugurated as the 12th American president.

In 1868, the U.S. Senate was organized into a court of impeachment to weigh charges against President Andrew Johnson.

In 1877, the 19th U.S. president, Rutherford Hayes, was inaugurated.

In 1953, Soviet Premier Josef Stalin died in Moscow after 29 years of power.

Ten years ago: The United States demanded that the Soviets do more to protect the American embassy in Moscow against attacks by anti-American demonstrators, saying police protection had been inadequate.

Five years ago: A pact limiting nuclear testing went into effect as the United States and the Soviet Union held parallel ceremonies in Washington and Moscow.

One year ago: Impresario Sol Hurok died in New York at 85.

Today's birthdays: Actor Rex Harrison is 67. Conductor and violinist Lorin Maazel is 45.

Thought for today: There is nothing sillier than a silly laugh. — Catulus, Roman poet, about 84-54 B.C.

Lasater granted leave

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Donald Lasater, facing perjury charges in connection with his testimony before a federal grand jury, has requested and received a leave of absence as chairman of Mercantile Bank Corp., Inc., and Mercantile Trust Co.

Directors of both corporations, in granting the leave Monday, also announced an investigation into a $600,000 bond transaction at the heart of the charges.

Lasater was indicted last Thursday by a grand jury in Kansas City, which accused him of lying in connection with questions concerning a $600,000 bond transaction in 1968 and 1969 between Mercantile and the late J.V. Conran, a southeast Missouri political leader.

The grand jury, investigating possible corruption during the administration of former Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, is trying to determine if Hearnes received any of the profits made in the transaction.

Motorists begin second slow year

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Missouri motorists begin their second year under the reduced 55 mile-an-hour speed limit today, finally getting used to slowing down on the highways.

An Associated Press road check has shown that while many motorists still have not gotten the knack of driving at 55 or slower, they have begun driving well below the old 70 mile-an-hour limit that was replaced March 4, 1974.

One the first day the lower limit was in effect, enacted under threat of federal highway funds being withheld, a survey car was overtaken by about 50 other vehicles, most sailing along at the old limit or well above.

The latest of three AP road checks, conducted Sunday, saw 65 cars pass the pace car, but most of them crept by doing about 60.

During both checks along an 80-mile stretch of U.S. 40 and Interstate 70 west of St. Louis, the survey car maintained a speed of between 55 and 57 and the traffic volume was about the same.

A third survey, conducted several months ago, recorded 146 vehicles passing the survey car, but traffic volume was more than 25 per cent greater during that check.

"There are more cars traveling at slower speeds now," commented Col. Sam S. Smith, superintendent of the Missouri Highway Patrol. "We have noticed a decline in some areas in enforcement contacts."

During the first 11 days the 55 m.p.h. limit was in effect, only warnings were issued to motorists who were caught doing more than the new limit but driving slower than the old. In that grace period, troopers manning speed traps reporting pulling over 10 times the number of speeders as before.

And since March 15, when full enforcement began, Smith estimated "enforcement contacts" have been running about three times higher than before.

Out-state areas seem to be the places where motorists are complying best with the slower limit, he said, apparently because highways there are easier to patrol.

"In other areas, motorists are taking advantage," Smith charged, of the problems such as heavier traffic flow and three and four lane roadways that make pulling cars over difficult.

Maximum speeds in the state were to revert to 70 m.p.h. Sept. 29 under the law passed a year ago. But now the federal speed limit has been permanently set at 55, and legislation is pending in the General Assembly to do the same with the state limit.

While the House measure orginally called for lower the limit to 55 permanently, it was modified by the Transportation Committee to call for expiration on Jan. 31, 1978.

"The federal government changes their mind pretty often. What they do is not very permanent," said House Transportation Chairman Howard Garrett, D-Festus. "The feeling of the committee was that we ought to give it a few more years."

The bill has been sent to the full House for consideration.

The reduced speed limit has been credited with a significant saving in lives on the state's roadways, although it was established primarily to save fuel during the height of the energy crisis.

From March 3, 1974, through midnight Sunday 1,060 persons had died on Missouri's highways compared to the same 12-month period a year earlier with high speeds in effect when 1,361 persons were killed.

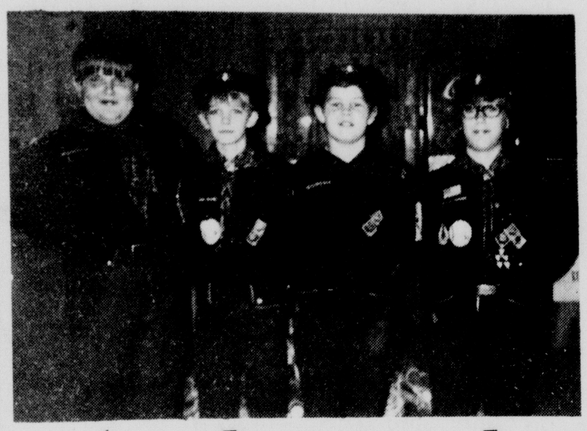
Boy Scouts welcomed

Joe Dial, right, of Boy Scout Troop 49 of Morehouse welcomes Hershel Lovette and Mike Tackett as they cross the bridge from Webelos to Boy Scouts.



Award presented

Fewer deaths listed

JEFFERSON CITY--Well over half of Missouri's 114 counties recorded fewer traffic deaths in 1974 than they did the preceding year.

The Missouri State Highway Patrol reported that 73 counties recorded fewer deaths on the highways in 1974 than in 1973, while 32 counties had an increase in traffic deaths and nine experienced the same traffic toll for both years. Missouri recorded 1,042 traffic fatalties last year, 410 less than in 1973.

Greene County, in the southwest part of the state, had the greatest decrease in traffic fatalities last year. Twenty-nine fewer traffic deaths occurred in that county than in 1973. Other counties experiencing notable reductions included: Jackson and St. Louis, 27 each; New Madrid, 17; St. Charles, 15; and Howell County, 14.

The City of St. Louis had a decrease of 37 traffic deaths in 1974 (89-52) and Kansas City had 19 fewer vehicular fatalities (90-71).

The greatest increase in traffic deaths for any one county last year was experienced in Stone County, which had nine more fatalities than in 1973.

Howard and Worth counties did not record a single traffic fatality during 1974.

Fatalities in Southeast Missouri counties and the change from 1973 included: Dunklin 17, eight fewer; Mississippi, 16, three more; New Madrid, 10, 17 fewer; Pemiscot, 19, seven more; Scott, seven, three fewer, Stoddard , seven, seven fewer.

Bicentennial album presented

Essex Scouts practice skit

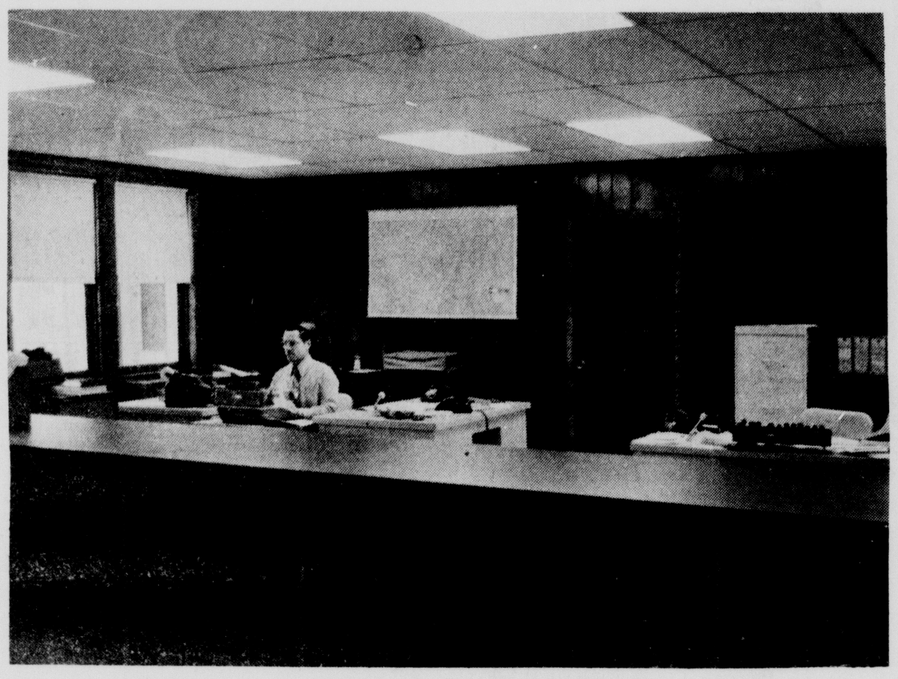
Scout awards are presented

MOREHOUSE--Webelo Cub Scout Pack 49 has presented Arrow of Light awards to four members and elected two boys into Boy Scout Troop 49.

Receiving the Arrow of Light, the Webelos highest honor, were Ricky Hubbert, Scott Cagle, Darin Dial and Scott Crumpecker.

Boy Scout Troop 49 member Joe Dial welcomed Hershel Lovette and Mike Tackett into the troop.

The honors were presented last Tuesday at an awards ceremony under the leadership of Ronnie Lutes. Other pack members present were Ray Marshall, Scott Bogle, Mike Kastings, Wendal Sanders and Scott Gregory.



Depot offices remodeled

Agent Lawrence "Lefty" Seyer works in the newly remodeled offices at the Missouri Pacific Railroad Depot, 91 N. New Madrid St. The remodeling, completed in December, features lowered ceilings, paneled walls, new floor tiles and antiqued counter, windows and cabinets. The raditors were encased and the new doors installed throughout. In addition, the outside of the building was painted and a new truck dock was built. Besides Seyer, Paul E. Davis, mobile agent, who handles outlying points of Charleston, Morley, Oran , Bertrand, Morehouse and Essex is headquartered in the office.

Minuteman Month is proclaimed

JEFFERSON CITY--Gov. Christopher S. Bond has proclaimed the month of March as Minuteman Month in Missouri.

In the proclamation, Bond stated that more than 11,000 Missourians are active members of the National Guard and countless others have prior service in United States military units.

"These citizen-soldiers and airmen of the National Guard, both locally and nationally, have demonstrated their dedication to the defense of the nation and have been mobilized countless times during their more than 200-year history," Bond said.

He added that these people have been "deeply committed over the pst years to work in their communities aimed at protecting lives and property in case of local emergency of war."

He noted that they are now prepared to serve their country in the true spirit of the Minutemen ot the Revoluntionary War era.

Mississippi County farmers discuss costs

EAST PRAIRIE--Ninety south Mississippi County farmers discussed farm price problems Friday night at a meeting in East Prairie High School.

The farmers, who farm a combination total of 77,000 acres, expressed concern over high production costs, low farm prices and the possibility of taking 20 per cent of their total acreage out of production.

The group agreed that the average price of soybeans should be $7 a bushel and corn $3.35 a bushel.

Another meeting will be held Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the Charleston High School commons to discuss formation of a con-county affiliated of United Farmers Organization.

Farm costs will be discussed and representatives will be elected to an advisory board.

Researchers to test Richland students

ESSEX--University of Michigan researchers in Ann Arbor, Mich., will test students in the Richland public school system as part of a nationally representative sample of 8,000 boys and girls to establish new national norms for youth fitness.

Local school personnel involved in the project are Robert Jones, Danny Rowland and Barbara Buck.

Professors Paul A. Hunsicker and Guy G. Reiff of the University of Michigan department of physical education are directing the study with funds from the U.S. Office of Education.

Hunsicker said there is need for a new study because similar ones conducted in 1958 and again in 1964 revealed an upward shift in the norms for fitness. "It is suspected that another shift has occurred since 1964," he explained.

The new survey, using the American Alliance for Health, Psysical Education and Recreation test battery, will determine national fitness norms according to age, sex, and grade level by scoring achievement in six tests: bent knee sit-up; pull-up (for boys) and flexed arm hang (for girls); standing long jump; shuttle run; 50-yard dash; and 600-yard run-walk.

These tests provide good rough measures of abdominal and shoulder girdle strength , explosive ability, endurance, speed and agility." Hunsicker pointed out.

The investigators will also study the impact of changes in psysical education requirements on youth fitness by interviewing school personnel to determine the present status of the physical education requirement in each of the schools sampled.

The 8,000 boys and girls participating nationally range from fifth through 12th grades.

Bridge work on schedule

CARUTHERSVILLE--Plans still call for the completion of the Mississippi River Bridge at Caruthersville in 1976, despite reports that the work would not be finihed until late 1977.

The reports, published in a Memphis newspaper, said high flood waters have brought work to a standstill. But Lionel Murray, District 10 engineer for the highway department, said today that the high waters are customary there at this time of year and were expected.

Work on the bridge is not behind schedule, Murray said.

He said the deapartment is still looking for a 1976 completion date. He said there is always the possibility of work being delayed, but the department is hopeful of finishing in 1976.

Sikeston collects $36,388

Sikeston collected $36,388.61 in taxes and fees during February, according to City Collector C. W. Martin.

Current taxes totaled $3,118.14, including $1,383 in real estate taxes, $1,654.14 in personal taxes and $81 in merchants and manufacturers taxes.

Back real estate taxes totaled $728.47, back personal taxes totaled $284.57 and back merchants and manufacturters taxes totaled $1.50.

Licenses collections totaled $3,813.09, including $618.59 in merchants fees, $3,189 in auto sticker fees and $5.50 in dog fees.

Miscellaneous collections totaled $28,442.84, including $192.53 in interest, $31.30 in clerk costs, $24,326.42 in railroad and utilities taxes and $3,892.59 from Associated Natural Gas Co.

Equipment, cash stolen from Presley's

Radios, tachometers and money were among the items reported stolen between 5 p.m. Monday and 7 a.m. Tuesday from Sonny Presley Chevrolet, 127 W. Center St., according to police.

Taken from the parts room were three citizen band radios, worth $118 each, three tachometers worth $30 each, one eight-track tape stereo valued at $36.50; one set of speakers worth $12 and a fire extinguisher worth $5.50.

About $40 in change was taken from a soft drink machine, and $135 in change and bills was taken from the office.

Police said the burglars apparently entered through a window on the east side of the building.

Voters okay gas franchise

BLOOMFIELD-Residents of Bloomfield voted Tuesday to grant a 20-year franchise to the Missouri Utility Co. Of the 89 votes cast all were in favor of the franchise. The utility company has supplied natural gas to Bloomfield since 1953.

Correction

The headline on an article in Tuesday's edition of The Daily Standard about the Scott County United Farmers Organization meeting held Monday night at the county courthouse in Benton was misstated. The correct wording should have stated, "Land to be set aside to raise farm prices," not "Land to be set aside to raise food price."

15 to compete for rodeo queen

Nine more Southeast Missouri beauties have entered the Jaycee Bootheel Rodeo Queen contest, bringing the total number of contestants to 15, according to John David, contest chairman.

Deadline for entering the March 15 contest was Friday. The contest will be held at the Sikeston Activity Center, and tickets are now on sale at the Sikeston Area Chamber of Commerce office.

This year's rodeo queen will win a $250 scholarship and will compete in the Miss Missouri pageant at Mexico in July.

The latest candidates to be announced are Mary Lynn Crugnale and Andrea Harber of Sikeston, Pamela Lape of Bell City, Deborah Brantley of Caruthersville, Debbie Lou Frobase of Benton, Cecilia Jibben of Dexter, Deborah Kaye Smith and Margaret Marie Benson of Kennett and Cindy Musgraves of Cape Girardeau.

Contestants previously announced included Robin Burch of Matthews, Elizabeth Walker and Teresa Houchin of Sikeston, Becky Miller of Benton, Wendy Litzelfelner of Jackson and Carla Thomason of Chaffee.

Margaret Marie "Meg" Benson, 19, is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Leo J. Benson Jr. of Kennett. A student at University of Missouri-Columbia, she is interested in drama, drawing, guitar, listening to music, dancing, traveling, embroidery, collecting glass and swimming.

During high school she was seventh in her class, earned the Betty Jane Lorance Memorial Art Scholarship and the Lions Club Award and was a member of the National Honor Society. Miss Benson was a prom queen candidate her senior year in high school.

Eighteen-year-old Deborah Renee Brantley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Brantley of Caruthersville. Her scholastic honors include highest academic achievement awards for freshman, sophomore and junior years; honor society; Who's Who Among American High School Students; and selection as an Outstanding Teen-ager of America.

Among her activities, Miss Brantley lists membership on the yearbook staff, Alpha Delta Kappa sorority, Thespians and student council. Her talents include dramatic interpretations, playing the piano and organ and singing. Miss Brantley was also a homecoming candidate at Caruthersville High School.

Another contestant will be Debbie Lou Frobase, 18, daughter of Tom Frobase of Benton Route One. A student at Kelly High School, she is on the honor roll. Baton twirling and playing the piano and clarinet are among her talents, and horseback riding, sewing, cooking and sports are favorite hobbies.

At her school she is head drum majorette, secretary of the band and student council, president of the pep club, class representative of Future Homemakers of America and a member of the school group chorus.

Miss Frobase was first runner-up in the 1974 rodeo queen contest. Her other contests and titles include barnwarming and homecoming queen contestant and senior class "Personality". She has also won two talent contests for her piano playing and ridden a ribbon-winning horse show entry.

Andrea Jane Harber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Harber, of 747 N. Ranney St., describes her talents as 13 years of piano,

Ford offers to compromise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional committees are pushing ahead with their own energy and tax proposals in the face of President Ford's temporary retreat on key parts of his energy-conservation program.

Saying that he was striving to avoid a "time-wasting test of strength" with Congress, Ford backed off part of his program for the time being on Tuesday. Among other steps, he agreed to delay for 60 days the last two steps of a $3-a-barrel special tariff on imported oil.

At the same time, the President vetoed a Democratic-sponsored bill that would have delayed for 90 days all three steps of the special tariff.

Meantime, the Senate Finance Committee was to hold hearings today on the House-passed, $21.3-billion tax cut bill.

And the House Ways and Means Committee continued work today on energy conservation proposals, with particular emphasis on the committee's own plan to reduce energy consumption through quotas on imported oil and an eventual 40-cent-a-gallon gasoline tax increase. The tax is now four cents a gallon.

Ways and Means Chairman Al Ullman, D-Ore., indicated that Congress would not be able to complete work on an energy program within the 60 days that Ford agreed to delay his program.

Ullman said he hoped for House floor action on a program at the end of April, about the time the 60-day delay expires. But Ullman said he hoped Ford then would "accommodate us by giving us additional time to work it through the Senate."

An immediate impact of Ford's announcement was to raise serious doubts about the prospects of any congressional override of his veto. The Senate leadership shelved for the time being any effort to override.

To give Congress and the administration time to hammer out an energy compromise, the President took these steps Tuesday:

—Postponed for 60 days the second and third portions of the tariff increase. The $1-a-barrel increase that went into effect on Feb. 1 will remain.

—Agreed to postpone at least until May 1 his plan to remove federal price controls from domestic oil. The end of controls, which Ford initially had announced would begin on April 1, would have allowed the price of 60 per cent of domestic oil, now frozen at $5.25 per barrel, to rise to the world level of $11.40.

Congressional economists estimate that the $3-a-barrel tariff and decontrol of "old" oil prices would cost American consumers $27.7 billion a year in higher fuel prices.

In announcing his decisions Tuesday, Ford agreed with the Democratic-controlled Congress that the major issue confronting the government is the economic recession and rising unemployment. He expressed the hope that his concessions on energy would result in quick action on a tax cut, although several lawmakers said they saw no clear connection between the two issues as far as congressional action was concerned.

Committee only 1 person

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Bootheel Committee for Hearnes, which may have profited from a controversial bond transaction involving Missouri's largest bank, consisted of just one person and was not required to file a campaign report, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The "committee" was actually R.L. Saalwaechter, a Portageville banker and was formed because of loopholes in the state's old corrupt practices law, former Gov. Warren E. Hearnes told the newspaper Tuesday.

The fund's assets were later turned over to Hearnes. Federal authorities are trying to determine whether the "committee" was set up to avoid public disclosure under the corrupt practices law, which defined a committee as consisting of two or more persons.

Hearnes said that J.V. Conran, a southeast Missouri political leader, told him before he died in 1970 that Hearnes was to use money left in the fund to begin a law practice when he left public office, the Globe-Democrat said in a copyrighted story in today's editions.

"I remember his words well. He told me I'd starve to death without some money to start with," Hearnes told the newspaper, adding that the committee was controlled by Conran.

A federal grand jury in Kansas City is investigating possible corruption during Hearnes' administration as governor.

A $60,000 contribution to the committee from Conran is the largest donation unearthed thus far by the grand jury, which is also trying to determine whether that money came from a bond transaction Conran made with Mercantile Trust Co, of St. Louis, the state's largest bank.

Donald Lasater, chairman of Mercantile, was indicted by the grand jury last week for perjury in his testimony concerning the bond transaction. He has been granted a leave of absence from Mercantile pending an investigation of the transaction.

Higher rates in effect

The price of a 10-cent telephone call jumped to 20 cents Tuesday as increased rates for Southwestern Bell Telphone Co. went into effect.

The rate increases of $30.5 million annually were recently authorized by the Missouri Public Service Commission. Southwestern Bell had requested $52.3 million.

Gross receipts taxes -- levied by individual communities -- will increase by $2 million annually.

A spokesman for the company said the rate increase was necessary to meet increasing expenses both for normal operations and for capital improvements. The company said in order to continue to meet the growing demand from new service, increased usage and the quality of service customers demand and seserve, it is imperative that the company earn a sufficient rate of return.

Installation charges will more closely reflect the cost to the company of providing new service. The installation charge will be made up of a central and administrative processing charge. The previous installation charge was $13 and will now average $24.

A schedule of monthly telephone rates previously released by the company was incorrect.

The following schedule for Sikeston and Morehouse customers, is correct.

Bill awaits Senate OK

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo (AP) — A bill establishing a new violation in the state's drunk driving law is facing final approval in the Missouri Senate.

Tentatively passed Tuesday, the proposal would make it an automatic violation to drive with a blood alcohol content of one-tenth of one per cent. The bill would result in more drunk driving convictions, Sen. William Waters, D-Liberty, the sponsor, said.

The House gave first-round approval to reducing the legal age for holding a municipal office from 21 to 18 and for hiring St. Louis policemen and firemen. An attempt to revive a committee-killed bill that repeals the state ban on Sunday sales failed in an 87-54 vote.

The House also gave tentative approval to a measure that repeals the sales tax on mobile home park sites.

The proposed intoxicated driving offense carries a lighter penalty than the state's standard drunk driving law. State law says that one-fifteenth of one per cent alcohol in a driver's blood content would be an automatic violation.

But a driver with one-tenth of one per cent alcohol can be convicted if there is supporting evidence that the driver wasn't in control of his car.

Conviction of the proposed offense would count six points against the offender's driving record.

Twelve points within a year are necessary to revoke a driver's license. Or a license is suspended for eight points within an 18-month period.

Under state law, persons convicted of drunk driving are assessed 12 points, while those breaking similar county or municipal ordinances are assessed only six points.

Waters' bill would make a drunk driving conviction a 12-

Checking the level

The new building, being constructed to house the Sikeston Public Schools board of education offices, is taking shape at the corner of South Ingram and Virginia streets. Early today, Cline Ables, right, director of physical services for the schools, and Jeff Bone, a public schools employe, checked the leveling of the basement floor before pouring concrete. The building is expected to be complete by Aug. 1 and should be occupied by the time the 1975-76 school year begins. The old board of education offices on North Main Street are being vacated because Missouri Delta Community Hospital needs that building for expansion. (Daily Standard photo)

Water improvement bid tentatively approved

CHARLESTON — Tentative acceptance of the base bid for proposed water improvements from Bridger Plumbing and Heating Company of Sikeston was given Tuesday night during a special session of the City Council.

Acceptance of the bid for $376,391.50 is contingent on approval from the Department of Housing and Urban Development and the legality of deleting an exception on the bid submitted by Bridger, concerning dewatering and length of time for completion of the project. Dewatering is the process of taking water out of the trenches prior to laying the waterpipe.

Kenneth Bridger, owner of the company, was present at the meeting and told the council he would remove the exception, since it was not a part of the specifications called for in the advertisement for bids.

Should the deletion make Bridger's bid unacceptable, the council voted to accept the base bid of $384,944.90 submitted by Cowan Construction Co. of Sikeston, the only other firm to submit a bid for the project.

A resolution authorizing City Attorney W. Clifton Banta Sr. to prepare an advertisement for a public hearing on the issuance of a special use zoning permit for the Nunnelee property on South Main Street was approved. The special use would limit construction on the property to a medical complex. The hearing will be held in conjunction with the April City Council meeting.

It was reported that Dr. Robert Robbins plans to purchase the property and construct a medical complex. Should the property be resold, the special use permit would no longer apply and the property would revert back to general business zoning.

The council discussed making application to the Department of Housing and Urban Development for an Environmental Protection grant for enlarging and improving the city's sewer treatment plant and sewer system.

Estimated cost for the project, including engineering study, is $265,000. E.P.A. funds would pay 75 per cent of the cost and the Missouri Clean Water Commission would pay 15 per cent of the costs. The city's share would be an estimated $26,500

A bid of $48,260 from Memphis Pool and Landscaping Company of Memphis, Tenn. for construction of a swimming pool at the same location of the present pool was tabled and the council agreed to make repairs to the present pool for this season.

The company's bid called for construction of a new pool inside the present pool, but indicated that construction would have to begin in the near future before the company becomes involved in the season's private pool construction in its area. The council indicated the matter would be reopened this fall and other bids would be taken.

Corrections on the rough draft of the city's comprehensive plan, prepared by the Bootheel Regional Planning Commission in Malden, were made and the council voted to have 200 copies of the study printed.

A low bid of $1,515.86 for 200 copies from the Enterprise-Courier of Charleston was accepted. The only other bid was from The Daily Standard of Sikeston in the amount of $1,584.95 for 200 copies.

City Manager Willis Downs was authorized to attend the City Manager Conference in Columbia March 19, 20, 21. The city will pay all expenses.

ARROGANCE OF POWER —OR PROFIT?

Carl Marburger, a liberal, and former New Jersey Commissioner of Education, is one of the latest authorities to come out in defense of parents who are battling for decent textbooks in public schools.

"Thomas Jefferson," said Marburger, "counseled democracy's leaders to trust in the informed judgment of the people. Sometimes they are wrong, but in the long run common sense and considerable wisdom nearly always prevail. Despite this, our public leaders too often exhibit the attitude that 'the people are children and we know what is best for them.'

"This is not leadership but the arrogance of power, and the entire nation has suffered its devastating results."

We suspect that in addition to the arrogance of the educational elite there is the factor of money-hungry, profit-seeking book publishers. Poor writers come cheap; and since they do not have the writing skill to hold even a child's attention, the hacks must rely upon "shock value," easily found through vulgar language and sordid themes. A moron can tell a dirty joke; it takes skill and intelligence to tell a funny story.

A similar comparison may be found in television entertainment. We need not be told of the flood of murder, mayhem, and general debauchery flooding the TV screen these days. But it can be easily shown that none of it is necessary to hold an audience. Not too long ago, an independently produced television thriller ran for three straight years with the highest ratings; at its peak it was on more than twice as many television stations as the leading network show on the air; yet not once was the leading star shot at or seen shooting; indeed, in the entire three years, not once did he have a gun, a knife, or brass knuckles in his hands; no women were raped or ravished, or were seen wearing skimpy underwear; no blood ran in the streets. The show? I Led 3 Lives, featuring Richard Carlson. The answer; a good story backedup by skillful writers and a producer with integrity.

Unfortunately for the public that which is cheap, shoddy and inferior is also low in cost. Thus there is strong reason to suspect that the root of the evil we find in textbooks and TV alike is the love of money. (Reference: 1 Timothy 6:10)

We were impressed with several speeches by Sen. Harry F. Byrd, jr., of Virginia which covered much of the whole spectrum of government waste. He is one who insists that Congress cut spending and shoot for a balanced budget.

Here's some random samples of the senator's demands.

The biggest slash could and should be made in foreign aid. Not in defense, but in foreign aid. There's a difference.

"We are still sending money and credits to 100 nations overseas," Sen. Byrd pointed out. He cited India as an example.

"Early this year," he said, "the United States wrote off $2.2 billion in debts owed by the government of India. Now we are prepared to permit India to renege on $45 million of debt servicing costs owed to us this year."

Another speech dealt with lending money to Russia.

"Already the Export- Import Bank has extended $469 million in credits to Moscow," the senator pointed out. "Congress must insist on a ceiling for this credit."

But the State Department opposes any such limit.

We could go on and on with lists that Sen. Byrd cited on wasteful programs and grants made within the United States, but we think you get the idea.

If you want to help the senator in his battle against national bankruptcy, write him a letter. He's in the Senate Office Building. He'll use what you send him as ammunition in his war on waste.

A MORAL TO REMEMBER

It is predicted by authorities in government, who should know, that by 1984 postal rates will be two or three times what they are now. Service may well be even worse. Everyone who reads or writes is well aware of the deplorable state of U.S. mail service. The only purpose in mentioning it is that it provides a good moral for people to remember when they hear politicians make speeches advocating more government in business, in medicine, in housing or any other endeavor. Government has its place, and it should be kept in that place along with the public servants hired by the taxpayers to run it.

RELATIVELY SPEAKING IT'S NOT SO BAD

If you can keep your head when others about you are losing theirs, then you just don't understand the situation. Or so goes the cynic's version of a famous Kipling line.

Herbert Hoover, of course, is a classic example of a man who kept his head a little too well, insisting that the economy was "fundamentally sound" even as it was crashing down around his administration.

Yet while there is abundant cause for concern in the face of the dilemma the nation today finds itself in, impaled as it is on the twin horns of inflation and recession, there is a case to be made that things are not as unrelievedly bleak as they may appear to be.

Consider unemployment, whose rolls now number some six million Americans and, say some forecasts, may swell by another one or two million in the coming year. But according to the U.S. Department of Labor, about 1.8 million of those currently unemployed are teen-agers, 1.5 million are women and 1.2 million are part-time workers.

This is not to minimize the of people in those categories, many of whom are the sole supports of themselves or their families. Further Labor Department figures show, however, that only 386,000 people have been out of work for 27 weeks or longer, which is 176,000 fewer "hard-core" unemployed than two years ago. All but 7 per cent find new jobs within 26 weeks.

Specifically, the average length of unemployment in 1974 was 9.6 weeks, compared with 10 weeks in 1973 and 12.1 weeks in 1972.

The statistics have not yet caught up with the near-catastrophic situation in the automobile industry, the full impact of which is still to be felt throughout the economy. Even so, there is and there has been a tremendous turnover in the unemployment rolls, and while many people are going through exxtremely difficult times, for the overwhelmming majority it is a temporary thing and it is cushioned by jobless and other benefits that did not exist for an earlier generation.

In other words, there are jobs available. This would not be true if the nation were really in the midst of a general depression.

While gasoline is not as basic an item as food, which continues to rise, it is an unavoidable expense in most family budgets. Still, despite its leap in cost in the past year, gasoline actually takes a smaller bite out of those budgets than it did a decade ago.

A study published in the quarterly, The Public Interest, notes that retail gasoline prices did not quite double between 1955 and May, 1974 — from 29.07 cents a gallon to 53.71 cents. But over the same period, median family income nearly tripled — from $4,421 to about $13,000. Gasoline would have to rise to around 80 cents a gallon to take the same percentage share of median family income as it did in 1955.

It may well go that high if new federal taxes are piled on to discourage consumption. Nor is this exception, and perhaps a few others, much consolation when set alongside the fact that consumer purchasing power in general has declined to its lowest level in seven years.

Yet compared with the 1929-1933 period, when America's gross national product plummeted by 50 per cent, we are in very good shape indeed.

At any rate, at the risk of summoning up the ghost of Herbert Hoover, we must resist the impusle to push all the panic buttons — or at least try to keep a sense of perspective so that we know which ones we should push.

BOOK BUSINESS STILL GOING STRONG

Despite competition from movies, television and teaching machines, the book industry still flourishes.

According to a publication of the New York Stock Exchange, the growth of leisure time, increasing affluence, and rising cultural and educational standards are forces sustaining the book business.

Some 40,000 titles, including new editions of previously published books, were published in the U.S. in 1973. Total sales were $3.2 billion.

Despite inflation and the higher cost of paper, this year's industry-wide sales show significant gains in most areas. Sales of adult trade books are up 19 per cent, mass market paperbacks are up 14 per cent, college textbooks are up nearly 13 per cent, and elementary and high school textbooks are up 10 per cent.

The educational sector probably faces the most uncertain future. While the projected decrease in school enrollments over the next 10 years could hit the textbook business hard, school systems freed from the need for physical expansion may spend more on textbooks and educational material.

NOW THEY ARE RELENTING

A few months ago a group known as the Missourians for Honest Elections sponsored the bill that made disclosures of a candidate's sources of income mandatory for any candidate for office.

We recall a man in Jefferson City by the name of James C. Kirkpatrick, who just happens to be Secretary of State, issued a warning about the proposed legislation. This newspaper added its warning to the measure. Missourians voted for the plan by an overwhelming 4 to 1 majority.

Then it began to dawn on some of these wise guys who had sponsored the legisslation that there were defects in the law. That already was clear to some persons in Missouri.

Just a short time ago in Jefferson City, a committee in the House attempted to get the measure back for reconsideratoin. It was defeated in committee and so the bill still stands as the stupid work of stupid planners and a great many Missourians who voted very stupidly.

The law as its stands today means that any person running for office, whether it be for city, township, county, board of educatoin, state or any office must disclose the source of his or her income in order to be a candidate.

Now these purists who launched the Missourians for Honest Elections committee are admitting that a part of the law was poorly written. That was what Secretary of State Kirkpatrick said and all he got for his efforts was criticism from these righteous ones. Now they have admitted that possibly Secretry Kirkpatrick had a point. He had a point, we think, even before the matter ever came up for a vote.

A man by the name of John A. Rava is secretary of this innovative group and he recently said of the legislation: "We acknowledge that the exemption wording should have been more clear, particlarly in view of the fact that differing interpretations have been given it.

In urging members of the House to amend the law now,this group through Mr. Rava, further said: "We hope the General Assembly will act to remedy this error and meet the urgent need of many candidates and the public for quick action."

It was truly a great piece of legislation and has proved absolutely nothing.

EVERYONE IS CONFUSED

The new "Honest Election" law is causing more confusion than any measure adopted by the state in a half century.

No matter how many people you ask, you'll get that many different interpretations of how it affects local school board, city, ambulance, water, extension and other public offices where the recipient spends little if anything on a campaign, and if elected, gets little or no pay - working merely for the good of the community.

Before we really know what the law says, and if it means what it says, two things must happen. Either it will have to be changed by the Legislature, or interpreted by the Supreme Court.

SPIKED PUNCH CASE

It has been observed before that no citizen is too small in standing to go before the Supreme Court if the case itself is important, and that is true of two Arkansas high school girls who spiked the punch (with malt liquor) at a Mena High School mother-daughter party. Regardless of how much spiking malt liquor adds to punch, the Mena school board has a rule against alcoholic beverages, and after the girls confessed, they were expelled from school.

Now the Supreme Court, in a 5-to-4 ruling, has returned the issue to an appeals court to determine whether the girls were given a proper hearing. A month ago the court held, again in a decision by Justice White, that students could not be suspended without at least an informal hearing. This time Justice White says school board members can be sued for damages by a student if they violate the student's constitutional rights, and he adds that such violations cannot be justified by ignorance of those rights.

In substance, school boards are being held to some at least rough knowledge of constitutional fair play toward which, presumably, their students were being educated. We hope that is not too much to expect of school officials.

Plumber and President: How Labor Chief Outmaneuvered Chief Executive

WASHINGTON — Not only does President Ford play golf with Bob Hope, he plays havoc with Hope-ian type humor. There is, for example, that moment, about 9:55 p.m. Feb. 13 during a celebrity-studded Hotel Waldorf-Astoria banquet honoring Nelson Rockefeller. Mr. Ford turned to his Vice President and said he hoped to share his counsel, confidence and "your wonderful company."

"But in all honesty," continued Jerry Ford, "or fairness ... I must admit that in your career you have also had a few less memorable moments. In the 1960s the Vice Preisdent (Rockefeller) was a very strong supporter of John Lindsay, and John became a Democrat. He (Rockefeller) was a very storng supporter of (ex-Congressman) Ogden Reid, and Brownie (Reid) became a Democrat.

"And now, the only thing that bothers me -- he (Rockefeller) is a very strong supporter of me. Frankly, though, Nelson, I don't think I could do that -- to the Democrats. That's all they need right now -- is one more candidate for President."

Actually, it could have been AFL-CIO chief George Meany making that speech. Nobody, not even the potential candidates themselves, knows who will run or if they want to run, though so many are running. And they now range all the way from Texas's ex-Sen. Ralph Yarborough to Boston's Mayor Kevin White. Lyndon Johnson used to call this coupling the Austin-Boston Axis.

Few men of power are forming any alliances. Insiders don't take Ford's word he'll definitely run in '76. Nor do some of us take seriously Rockefeller's midnight outburst about being too old to run. He was and is upset over the insolvency of one of his pet projects (set up when he was governor), the New York Urban Development Corp. which seems to have blown $1.1 billion dollars.

Thus the men of power have become artful dogerts 88 and husky Meany, despite his weight, is the nimblest of them all. Evidence, for example, is the manner in which he ducked President Ford and the White House energy-economics traveling troupe in Florida the other day.

I can only guess that Meany would have loved to get out on those links with Bob Hope, Jackie Gleason and the others. Next to a gin rummy deck, a golf club is Meany's most devout passion.

But the crusty labor chief just wasn't about to be linked with Jerry Ford. Not in public anyway. Meany in effect told this to the White Hous when the director of its Office of Public Liaison, Bill Baroody, telephoned the AF L-CIO headquarters some weeks ago. Baroody told a Meany colleague that the President and Bill Seidman and company were coming down to Florida. Not only that, but to Bal Harbour. Furthermore, to the Hotel Americana. And during the AFL-CIO high command (Executive Council) midwinter session right in that hotel.

Wouldn't it be nice, Baroody said in effect, if some of the top union chiefs joined in the energy-economic crisis conclave? The message was relayed to Meany. Nope. It wouldn't be nice. Well, the White House was coming anyway. And to the Americana. The Secret Service reportedly was all sety. This would mean that out of sheer protocol Meany and Ford would have to meet and perhaps be photographed together. Or there would be stories of th labor chief snubbing the chief executive, or vice versa.

Meany wasn't buying. There is one "source close to the story" (like they say on the investigative beat) which reports that Meany blocked the President's coming in. And that the President's party had to "retreat" to the Diplomat Hotel in Hollywood.

Meany certainly did not want to repeat the Nixon-Executive Council visit when the ex-President "dropped" in at a similar Bal Harbour midwinter session from Key Biscayne. Meany wants no entangling alliances -- or photographs. Too many Executive Council members have presidential hopefuls of their own.

There just doesn't appear to be any sign of even the slightest favoritism. Beleive in the eventual Democratic party drafting of Ted Kennedy, yes. Support, no. The only wispy evidence of any political move now is the New York United Federation of Teachers' presentation of an award to Sen. Hubert Humphrey in April. It will be presented to him by teachers president Al Shanker, a national AF L-CIO vice president, one of the most devout Meanysists in town.

What's vitally significant here is that some of us close to this political quadrennial effluvia believe that no Democratic candidate can be elected without the full support of a united labor movement. And the movement won't begin to clarify anything until its May 6 Executive Council session, which will hint at what will be decided at the AF L-CIO's biennial national convention Oct. 2, in San Francisco, which then will be in a position to decide to be neutral in somebody's favor.

That's why Meany probably was playing gin rummy on a Florida- Washington train while Jerry Ford was stuck with Bob Hope and Jackie Gleason. They cast only two votes.

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: Highlights of Kissinger's Arab-Israeli Settlement

By JACK ANDERSON with Les Whitten

WASHINGTON-Secretary of State Henry Kissinger has fashioned the jigsaw pieces for an interim Arab-Israeli settlement. He will return to the Middle East in a few days to fit the pieces together.

The secret cables between Washington and the Middle East contain the broad outlines of a delicate, enormously complex arrangement, which could bring eventual peace between the Arabs and Israelis.

Here are the highlights:

-Israel is willing to give up part of the Sinai, including the strategic Mitla and Giddi mountain passes and the ebbing Abu Rudeis oil fields. The Israelis agreed to this concession after Kissinger obtained a guarantee from the shah of Iran that he will make up their oil loss.

-Both Egyptian and Israeli leaders will make public statements promising to "refrain from warfare" against one another. The United States will also pledge not to support any Israeli military action against Egypt.

-Kissinger has given into Soviet demands that a final settlement will be negotiated at a Geneva conference. This deal was struck during Kissinger's stopover in Geneva to confer with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko. In essence, it was an old-fashioned horsetrade: The Soviets agreed to accept Kissinger's interim agreement and Kissinger agreed to the Geneva talks.

-Kissinger and Gromyko also agreed that the displaced Palestinians would be represented in Geneva by the Palestine Liberation Organization. This will be hard for the Israelis to swallow. But American and PLO envoys have been holding secret meetings on the subject, usually in third countries.

In sum, Kissinger has worked out a brilliant compromise, with something for everyone. He can take personal credit for keeping the Middle East quiet since October, 1973. And the Soviets can be assured of a voice in the final settlement.

Footnote: A permanent peace, of course, is still far away. The Arabes are still demanding that Israel give up the GolanHeightsto Syria and the West Bank of the Jordan River to a new Palestinian state.

MAN FROM ACTION: Chunky, crewcut Mike Balzano, the self-styled tough guy who runs Action, is giving President Ford fits.

Balzano is fighting to keep his job. Sources in his office say he has threatened, if fired, to campaign against the President. He has also dropped the word that he is writing a book about his political experiences, the sources say. The fifth chapter, he has hinted pointedly, could be turned into an attack upon the President.

Senior Action aides have signed a petition charging that Balzano plays politics with the public payroll in violation of Civil Service laws. Other complaints against him have reached White House staff chief Donald Rumsfeld. Now the President is reported to be studying a staff memo, outlining the case against Balzano.

But Balzano, who learned his political hardball tactics while working for Chuck Colson in the White House, isn't budging. The Man from Action, shooting from the hip, fired back at his critics during an hour-long interview. When the name of one aide came up, Balzano threatened to throw him "out a fifth-floor window."

Balzano fiercely denied that the White House wants to get rid of him or that he has threatened the President. "This is a fight between Mike Balzano and the people on Capitol Hill," he snorted. "I'm fighting for the agency."

No less than 84 past and present Action employes joined in the petition to the Civil Service Commission charging that Balzano tried to pack the agency with loyal Republicans. Balzano organized special training institute sessions, the employes charged, to gather information against them and to probe their political loyalty.

Balzano is known around the agency as "The Grabber" because of his habit of hugging pretty girls who get too close. At least one senior official warned his female employes not to work late when Balzano was around.

The Action director scoffed at the nickname. "I put my arm around everybody," he said. He summoned one of his secretaries for questioning about his nickname. "I'd say he was just affectionate," she replied demurely.

Members of Congress hope to save the volunteer programs by moving them to other agencies, away from Balzano's control.

TILT AGAIN: Three years ago Henry Kissinger issued his famous "tilt" toward Pakistan. It took three years to restore relations with neighboring India.

Now Kissinger has relaxed ten-year-old arms embargo against Pakistan. And the Indians, just as they were settling down to pleasant relations with the United States, suddenly are angier than ever.

Officials in India, according to CIA reports, believe the United States want to extablish a military presence in Pakistan- on the strategic Arabian Sea. In fact, the reports suggest that Pakistani President Ali Bhutto may already have agreed to such a deal.

Footnote: President Ford personally will go to India to placate Indira Ghandi, probably in October.

Two school board directors to be elected

NEW MADRID--Two directors on the New Madrid County board of education will be elected in the April 1 school election.

Three-year terms expiring are those held by Paul C. Crouthers of Risco, County Court first district, and Alan Littell of Gideon, County Court second district.

Littel, who filed for re-election , was the only person to declare as a candidate before the filing deadline on March 2.

Dexter bakery is broken into

DEXTER--City police are investigating a break-in at Faye's Bakery, 216 E. McCollum St. which was discovered when bakery employes arrived at 4:30 a.m. today.

The front door had forced open, but nothing was reported missing.

Vanduser sets chicken dinner

VANDUSER--A chicken supper will be held from 5 to 8 p.m. Saturday in the Vanduser school cafeteria. All proceeds will be used to help purchase equipment for the fire department.

Fried chicken and dumplings and dessert will be served.

Sikeston man elected to board

Elmer Russell, 423 Edmondson Drive, was elected Tuesday to represent the poor from Scott County on the advisory board. Russel defeated E. Mike Pfefferkorn of Chaffee by a vote of 60-50 in an election conducted at the Sikeston and Scott City DAEOC Center.

Only those designated as being poor under government guidelines were allowed to vote at the two area opportunity.

SeMo Scouting is topic

David Corti, the new Boy Scout executive for the Okeechobee District, told Kiwanians Tuesday night at Purkey's Restaurant that there are 4,500 scouts in 14 counties of the Southeast Missuri Council, including 804 in 31 uits in the Okeechokee District.

He said the annual Scout-o-rama will be held May 22 at Kingsway Plaza Mall in Sikeston and a pinewood derby is being planned, he noted.

Corti explained that he came to Sikeston from Marshall, but is originally from Buffalo, N.Y., where he was an Eagle Scout and troop leader for seven yars. He attended Missouri Valley College in Marshall and majored in human relations. Corti chose scouting as his profession due to his experience in the group.

Another guest of the club was Harold "Wheels" Kuehle Cape Girardeau, lieutenant governor of Kiwanis Division 15. He explained the membership drive and asked the local club to participate in this campaign. "Enthusiasm makes the difference," he stressed.

A board meeting followed the rgular meeting. The board voted to host the annual visit of the district governor of Kiwanis and approved plans submitted by the committee in charge of developing a memorial to the late Georege Kirk at the new city recreation complex.

The club's annual fish fry will be held next Tuesday at the home of James Sanders. Charles Chaney, co-chairman of the annual Pancake Day event coming up March 25, distributed tickets to members to be sold to the public.

Chaffee qualifies for insurance

CHAFFEE--Tenth District Rep. Bill D. Burlison said today that, effective Thursday, the Department of Housing and Urban Development has qualified the city of Chaffee for subsidized flood insurance.

He said that all structures used for residential, business, religious or agricultural purposes, structures occupied by nonprofit organizations and structures owned by state or local governments are eligible for the coverage.

The city qualified when it agreed to adopt land use and control measures to minimize flood damage to future constructions Burlison said.

Local insurance agents may obtain policies and other information from the National Flood Insurers Association servicing office, for Missouri, which is MFA Insurance Companies, 1817 W. Broadway, Columbia, Mo. 65201.

Miller recommended for board

SCOTT CITY--Georege Pendergrass, president of the Scott City Park Board, has recommended to the City Council that Don Miller be appointed to the park board to fill the unexpired term of Larry Angle, who resigned from the board for personal reasons, and that Chap Arnold be appointed to fill the unexpired term of Everett Holder, who resigned due to a job conflict with board meetings.

Pendergrass also recommended that the two then be reappointed to full three-year terms on the board and that the expiration date of future appointments be changed from June to February. He said area swimming pools traditionally open in late May or early June, and the earlier appointment date would give new members time to learn something about the operation and the planning involved in being a board member prior to the busy season.

He told the City Council that a pool manager should be hired as soon as possible at a $450 per month salary and that the pool, to be located at the new Scott City park complex, should be open from Memorial Day until the opening of the fall term of the Illmo-Scott City schools.

The City Council took the suggestions under advisement.

The council also passed an ordinance Monday to raise the city collector's salary from $450 to $500 per month, effective April 1.

Applications available

Applications for the Rotary Foundation Award, presented annually for study in a foreign country, are available from Sikeston Rotary Club members.

Any graduate or undergraduate college student is eligible to apply before the filing deadline of March 15.

Selections and announcement of the award recipients will be made by September. The award includes tuition and all expenses for one year of study in the school of the student's choice.

Sikeston Rotary Club officers are Ken Williams, president; Charles Green, vice president; Ed Ring, secretary; Ken Glidewell, treasurer; and Dick Giles, seargeant-at-arms.

Canalou man hurt in accident

MATTHEWS--A Canalou man received minor injuries early today in a one-car accident one mile west of town on Route H.

The highway patrol reported Donald Wayne Campbell, 23, lost control of his westbound car while crossing a bridge at a high rate of speed at 12:45 a.m. and the vehicle ran off the road into a ditch and overturned.

Campbell was taken to Veterans Hospital in Poplar Bluff.

17-year-old Dexter youth held in theft

DEXTER--A 17-year-old Dexter resident has been charged with breaking and entering and stealing in conection with the burglary last Wednesday of Harley's Restaurant at Dexter.

Nathan Tedford, was arrested, charged, and is being held in the Stoddard County jail at Bloomfield.

According to reports from the Dexter police department, Tedford's roomate, Bruce Kinder, recovered a stolen television set, a stereo and a clock that Tedford allegedly took from the restaurant. Kinder is said to have taken the items to his mother's home in Dexter and notified police.

Tedford was arrsted a short time later.

Local columnist predicts what family will wear

By JEWEL GRADY

The predictions of what family members will be wearing for spring '75 are soft silhouettes for females, freedom look for males, and more accessories for the younger set.

Fashion highlights for women will be soft fabrics, soft colors, soft and romantic styles, with clean, pure, simple lines. There's the free and easy, very American look of gingham checks with ruffled flounces and rickrack trim.

Details are most important this season and include the big sleeve for the big look. The bicentennial influence will bring back the American classic as tablecloth patterns and dish-towel checks to add to the gingham check look.

The American women still loves knits and will continue to want knit in her wardrobe. Knits will be supple, airy and lacey including more shiney knits, mesh knits, stringy cotton, and boucle baby knit. Fagoting, openwork embroidery, is dramatically new in fashion. It is added as an insertion to add appeal to sportswear, dresses, blouses and formals.

The biggest thing in menswear since the introduction of knits is the leisure ssuit or "The Freedom Look". This look gives men the same freedom of choice, of mood and silhouette that every woman has.

The interrelation of styles and lilfestyles is the theme of the fashion philosophy called the "Freedom Look". Until this breakthrough men traditionally had to put on the same uniform, maybe different in color and fabric but same basic style.

This spring the male can go to his closet and choose among a dozen different combinatoins of styles ... safari, wrap, western jeans look, shirt suit, battle jacket or his favorite traditional style suit. One of the main attractoin sof this freedom look is the freedom from exorbitant price. It is being manufactured in all price ranges.

Accessories will continue to be among most active categories in children's wear. Accessories are on going in this economy because mother's aren't spending money for complete outfits, they are pepping up their children's clothes with new accessories. The big belt year for children's belts was 1974. Spring '75 shows major styles of belts will feature Walt Disney characters, ABC types, silk-screened, reversible, stretch and embossed leather belts. Earrings, rings, the nothing necklaces and hand-painted novelties are all important fashion accessories.

There is something special for everyone in the family for spring '75.

The Daily Standard incorrectly reported in its Feb. 3 edition that the birthday celebration for Mrs. Ben Mason was held in a home located at 224 Young St. It took place in the home of her son, James H. Mason Sr., 901 Allen Blvd. We regret the error.

Fashion show attendance up

Women model movie star fashions

Joann Ebersole, chairman of the Coalesce Club fashion show, reported a whopping $1,635 was grossed from ticket sales for the show Monday night at the Ramada Inn.

She said 654 tickets were sold, an increase over last year's attendance. A factor was the club's decision to eliminate a bridge party usually held before the fashion show to allow extra seats to replace bridge tables.

Perhaps the biggest crowd-pleaser was Jacqueline Scott, a TV star born in Sikeston who sang and danced her way through a half hour's worth of songs.

And of course, there were spring clothes highlighted by movie star fashions Miss Scott loaned from various Hollywood studios. In the left photograph, Kris Masterson, 1011 Davis Blvd., models a soft green jersey dress in below-the-knee length worn by Karen Black in Airport '75, a current movie also starring Charleton Heston. Alice Aufdenberg, 901 Moore Ave., in the right photograph, sports a cashmere coat also worn in Airport '75.

Twenty-seven door prizes were donated by Sikeston merchants and grand prize winner was Mrs. Pat Swann, 309 Kramer Drive. She will take home 30 books of trading stamps.

All proceeds from the fashion show will be donated to the Child Development Center, Heritage House, Delta Community Branch of SeMo Diabetes Association and used to finance a homemaking award given to a senior woman and a Girl Scout campership.

Marketbasket report

Ground beef called best bargain

Consumers who kept a careful eye on which items they purchased found lower prices at the grocery store during February, according to an Associated Press survey which showed sales on protein-rich beef and eggs.

Shoppers who wanted nonfood items such as laundry detergent or fabric softener were out of luck. So were some people with a sweet tooth: the price of granulated sugar declined or stayed steady, but the cost of chocolate chip cookies increased.

The AP drew up a random list of 15 commonly purchased food and nonfood items, checked the prices on March 1, 1973 in a supermarket in each of 13 cities and has rechecked at the start of each succeeding month.

Among the findings in the latest survey:

—The marketbasket bill declined in nine cities during February and increased in four. Over-all, there was an average drop of nine-tenths of a per cent during the month. In January, the bill declined in seven cities and was up in six.

—The marketbasket bill was up an average of 34 per cent in the two-year period that ended March 1. Sixteen per cent of the increase came in the last 12 months.

—The biggest savings in February came at the beef counter. The price of a pound of chopped chuck declined at the survey supermarket in eight cities, down an average of 17 per cent. The price was up in two cities and unchanged in three. At the start of this month, the price of chopped chuck was lower than it was a year ago in every city checked. Increased beef supplies are credited with causing the drop.

—The price of a five-pound bag of granulated sugar decreased in six cities, stayed the same in six and was up in only one — Chicago. The declines reflect recent drops in wholesale prices that occurred because of supply buildups. The president of the National Association of Food Chains, Clarence Adamy, said Friday that the American consumer was the hero of the sugar price drop. Consumers refused to buy when prices reached $3 or more for five pounds and the price for a 14½ ounce bag was more than $1 at the start of March. Part of the reason for the increase is that the cookies reaching the shelves now were manufactured with sugar purchased before the price started to decline.

—Eggs dropped in price in 10 cities, continuing the downward trend that started last year.

—Laundry detergent increased in price in eight cities, up an average of 6 per cent. Part of the boost is due to higher costs for ingredients that have a petroleum base.

Government economists and industry spokesmen predict food costs generally will continue rising for the first half of this year, although at a slower rate than last year. They are hoping that prices will start to decline in the second half of 1975 if harvests are as large as anticipated.

Prices paid to farmers have been dropping steadily, but retailers say they are unable to pass the savings on to the consumer because of high costs for nonfood items such as transportation and labor.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture said Friday that the index of prices farmers get for their products dropped 4 per cent from Jan. 15 to Feb. 15. It was the fourt straight monthly decline and the department said that farm prices on Feb. 15 were 17 per cent below a year earlier.

A look at the over-all number of items in the AP survey showed about the same percentage of increases during January and February. Here are the percentages of increases and decreases:

	Jan.	Feb.
Up	27.7	27.2
Down	24.1	20.5
Unchanged	44.6	49.7
Unavail.	3.6	2.6

The day of the week on which the check was made varied depending on the month. Standard brands and sizes were used when available. If the requested size and brand was not available on March 1, 1973, a comparable substitute was selected. Items temporarily out of stock on one of the survey dates being compared were not included in the over-all total.

The AP did not attempt to compare actual prices from city to city — to say, for example, that cookies cost more in one area than another. The only comparisons were made in terms of percentages of increase or decrease — saying a particular item went up 10 per cent in one city and 6 per cen in another.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture marketbasket issued each month is based on a complex set of statistics. It includes 65 retail items of U.S. farm-produced foods in amounts that theoretically could supply a household of 3.2 persons for one year. The department, which draws on information from 1,500 supermarkets in compiling its report, says the figures do not correspond to actual family food spending and are used mainly to illustrate changes in costs.

The items on the AP checklist were: chopped chuck, center cut pork chops, frozen orange juice concentrate, coffee, paper towels , butter, Grade-A medium white eggs, creamy peanut butter, laundry detergent, fabric softener, tomato sauce, chocolate chip cookies, milk, all-beef frankfurters and granulated sugar.

The cities checked were: Albuquerque, Atlanta, Boston, Chicago, Dallas, Detroit, Los Angeles, Miami, New York, Philadelphia, Providence, Salt Lake City and Seattle.

"more spice than everything nice"

Ann Landers

Depressed woman is dying inside because husband is lecherous drunk

Dear Ann Landers: I am just now recovering from the "party season". The derpession lasted five weeks. Please tell me what to do.

My husband and I have been married 11 years. We have two beautiful children. I love him very much, and I believe he loves me. But whenever we go where liquor is served, he becomes one of those obnoxious, lecherous drunks who can't keep his hands off other women. They can be 15 years older than he is, ugly as sin, and still he makes overt, outrageous passes. I am humiliated to death.

I know it's the booze. He never behaves like such a fool when he's sober. I've tried to talk to him about it but he never remembers a thing--says I'm exaggerating or making things up. Any help? --Dying Inside

Dear Dying: Of course it's the booze and there isn't anything you can do about it. The guy should never touch a drop.

One of these days an irate husband might give Romeo a fat lip or open his head with a bottle. That may hasten him on this way to permanent sobriety, which would solve his problem--and yours.

Dear Ann Landers: Recently you printed a letter from a woman who was reluctant to have her teeth extracted because she was afraid it would interfere with her love life. Her letter was followed by several readers who urged her to go ahead and do it-- "better to have dentures than rotten teeth," etc.

I dare you to print the other side. There is one, you know. Haven't you read the ads or been in a drugstore lately? How could you fail to see the dozens of adhesive agents--powders, pastes, and liners for sale promising to help make dentures stick?

Sure, some dentures are fine, but a great many are not. I've spent over $3,000 trying to get dentures I can eat with and I'm not exactly rolling in money. I had to go without necessities to pay those dental bills. I finally gave up last year after consulting a professor of dentistry at a well-known university.

I don't have much to laugh about these days, but when I do laugh, my uppers fall down. I'd give my right arm to have my own teeth back again. A good dentist can do a lot to save natural teeth. Mine didn't even try. He said, "you'll be better off with dentures. They're cheaper, too."

Funny how people hate to spend money on their teeth--until it's too late. Then they'll spend a fortune on plastic ones that slide around, make sores and cause nothing but trouble.--Another Witness

Dear A.W.: Dr. Paul Goldhaber, Dan of Dental Medicine and Professor of Periodontology at Harvard, says, "Don't give up. Try another dentist. It's worth the effort."

Dr. Goldhaber also said people should insist that their dentist make every effort to save as many natural teeth as possible.

One of the principal problems with extractions is that the bone sometimes continues to resorb and the dentures then loosen. Another problem is that certain patients have a psychological hang-up about their dentures and they have a cannot adjust to them--no matter what. Good luck to you.

Dear Ann: Because I've learned so much from your column I want to pass on a little tip to your readers who hate to peel onions because it makes them cry. Keep your mouth shut and you'll be completely dry-eyed.--Tenn. Fan

Dear Fan: That's good advice even if you're NOT peeling onions. Thank You.

How much do you know about pot, L.S.D., concaine, speed meth, uppers, and downers, glue and heroin? Are all these drugs dangereous? Get Ann Lander's new booklet, "Straight Dope on Drugs." For each booklet ordered, send a dolar bill plus along, self-addressed envelope (20 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120.

World news

WASHINGTON (AP) — The use of a small force of Marines and helicopters is among contingency plans prepared by the Pentagon in case Americans need to be evacuated from the besieged Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh. The Marines are aboard a helicopter carrier near the Gulf of Thailand and are said to number less than a battalion, which has about 800 men.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department says Israeli soldiers are in the United States to learn how to use the Lance battlefield missile, one of the U.S. Army's newest weapons. This marks the first official confirmation that the United States will sell the Lance to the Israelis. There have been reports that Israel will get more than 100 of the missiles.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The tax burden on middle-income American families has doubled over the past two decades, according to a newly released government report. The study by the Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations shows a bigger tax bite for wealthier families too, but the rate of increase is smaller.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional committees are pushing ahead with their own energy and tax proposals in the face of President Ford's temporary retreat on key parts of his energy-conservation program. Saying that he was striving to avoid a "time-wasting test of strength" with Congress, Ford agreed to delay for 60 days the last two steps of a $3-a-barrel special tariff on imported oil.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Oil-rich Iran will buy eight nuclear power plants from the United States over the next five years as part of a $15-billion trade agreement that was described as the largest ever. Iran's purchases from the United States will include materials for factories, apartment buildings and hospitals.

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Anne Randolph Hearst, a younger sister of fugitive newspaper heiress Patricia Hearst, has pleaded innocent to a misdemeanor drug charge after her arrest at the U.S.-Canadian border. Miss Hearst, 19, was arrested Tuesday at Niagara Falls, N.Y., along with one of two passengers in the car she was driving when the trio entered the United States at the Rainbow Bridge, U.S. Customs said. U.S. Atty. Richard J. Arcara said that in a routine search of the car and its occupants a Customs agent found 1.2 grams of crystallized amphetamine, popularly known as "speed," in a sock worn by Donald R. Moffett, 21, of Denver, Colo.

Bill suggested to extend conflict of interest laws

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A bill which would extend conflict of interest laws to appointed state officials was recommended by the House Judiciary Committee Tuesday.

Other committees studied bills to establish procedures for collective bargaining between teachers and school boards and to tighten utility regulations.

In addition, Revenue Director James Spradling urged stricter auditing of multi-state corporations before the Senate Appropriations Committee, and the House Governmental Organization Committee considered a resolution requesting Atty. Gen. John Danforth to enter a St. Louis County school desegregation case.

The conflict of interest bill, a substitute for a measure introduced by Rep. John Buechner, R-Kirkwood, would require officials to file records of their interest in real estate, businesses, loans of $5,000 or more and gifts of more than $1,000.

The state's campaign finance law already covers many of the provisio nsfor elected state officials, but the new bill also would make the requirements of appointed officials.

Buechner said he would try to amend the substitute bill on the House floor to make it include all local officials also under its provisions.

Two teacher groups clashed over the bill setting up procedures for teacher negotiations with school boards at a Senate Education Committee hearing.

A representative of the Missouri State Teachers Association spoke for the measure which also would forbid teacher strikes, saying it would strengthen the relationship of school boards and teachers by setting up the bargaining procedures.

But a spokesman for the Missouri National Education Association criticized the bill because he said it does not require school boards to stick by the terms of the negotiations.

The Missouri School Boards Association also opposed the measure, contending it would take power away from local boards.

The Senate State Departments Committee heard testimony from utility lobbyists opposing several bills to roughen utility regulations.

The bills, sponsored by Sen. Harry Wiggins, D-Kansas City, would require public hearings before utilities receive emergency rate hikes and would place hearings in the home service areas of the utilities.

The measures also would prohibit utilities from passing higher fuel costs to consumers without a hearing.

Joseph Burke, spokesman for the investor-owned utilities, said the emergency rate hikes should be granted "if a company is in trouble." He also termed the proposal to have hearings in home service areas a "waste of manpower."

Residents of two St. Louis County school districts, Berkeley and Ferguson-Florissant, asked the House Governmental Organization Committee to approve a resolution urging Danforth to enter a desegregation case.

Both districts have been ordered to merge with the all-black Kinloch district by a federal judge.

"Don't let our freedoms be stripped from us," said Pat Johnson. "I believe Mr. Danforth should go to bat for us."

Residents of the two districts said state laws had been violated by the court order because the order suspended April school board elections, set a new tax levy for the combined districts and vacated two seats on the Ferguson-Florissant School Board.

The last day for filing appeals in the case is Saturday.

The resolution would request Danforth to investigate the case and submit a report to the General Assembly.

Revenue Director Spradling went before the Senate appropriations panel to urge the hiring of five new auditors each in Chicago and New York to audit multi-state corporations and determine if they are complying with Missouri tax laws.

Spradling said "Missouri really suffers" because it does not adequately check corporations which do business in the state but are headquartered elsewhere.

He also urged the committee to reinstitute money to buy and install a new computer to allow faster return of income tax refunds. Spradling said about $561,750 would be needed for the new system earlier turned down by the House Appropriations Committee.

Election officials recommended

PORTAGEVILLE--The City Council Monday night prepared a list of judges and clerks for recommendation to the county clerk to be appointed to serve in the April 1 city election.

The names submitted for judges and clerks in ward one include Raymond Toombs and Buddy Gowan, judges, and Mary Williamson, Audrey Crum and Lewis Hoxworth, clerks. In ward two, Paul Farris and Lee Workman were recommended as judges and Corrine Estes, Dotty Willcut and Delores Ellis as clerks.

The council also designated the National Guard Armory as the polling place in ward two. Ward one voters will ballot at the city hall.

Billy Dial was hired to assist in the police department under the federal funded Title Six program. His hjob wil pirmarily be to check businesses after hours.

The council discussed resurfacing additional streets, but no action was taken.

WINNING ISN'T EVERYTHING

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's landscape is dotted with shrines to our past presidents, but now, according to the 1975 edition of Rand McNally's "Discover Historic America," there's one dedicated to past non-presidents.

In a rare tribute to the losers, the Gallery of Also-Rans, located in Norton, Kan., displays mementoes of only the unsuccessful candidates for the presidency of the United States.

Emergency care revised, updated

MALDEN--The Bootheel Comprehensive Health Council's Emergency Care Service Task Force revised and updated the emergency care services component of the comprehensive health plan Thursday night during a meeting at the Bootheel Regional Planning Commission office in Malden Industrial Park.

Each segment of emergency care services was discussed by task force members. While no major changes were made in the plan several recommendations were made a part of the final plan, including an increase in the 81-hour emergency medical training course to a 200-hour course and establishing specialized services each area hospital can perform in an emergency. The recommendations were made a part of the plan.

It was also recommended that the plan include a list of extrication and rescue units and their locations.

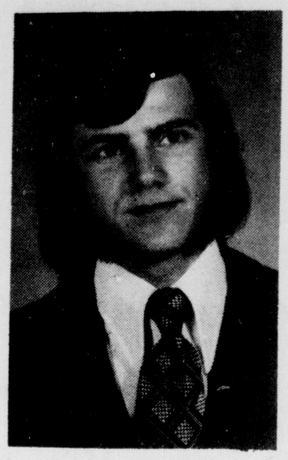
The updating and revision of the emergency care services component was one step in the revision of the overall comprehensive health plan.

The Emergency Care Service Task Force was charged with establising an emergency health care delivery system that allows all resident of the region and its visitors, regardless of ability to pay, to have emergency care that is accessible, appropriate, affordable, acceptable and available. Emphasis is placed on the word emergency.

The task force, which includes about 36 members working on a voluntary basis, compiled the original emergency care services component of the health plan by using information obtained through the efforts of task force members and with the cooperation of area hospitals.

Accomplishments in the area for the Bootheel include establishments of ambulance districts and the 81-hour courses being held at Kennett and Sikeston for the purpose of training ambulance drivers and attendants through special classes.

Portageville student selected as scholar



Jay Campbell

PORTAGEVILLE--Gerald "Jay" Campbell, a senior at Portageville High School, has been named a University of Missouri curators freshman scholar, Mrs. Grayce Alexander, high school counselor , has announced.

The award is based upon academic achievement during the three years of high school work already completed. The recipient may choose to attend any of the University's four campuses-Columbia, Kansas City, Rolla or St. Louis-with the full amount of the incidental fee for the school year being waived during the freshman year.

The award may also be renewed for additional undergraduate years if the scholar's academic cumulated grade-point average remains in the top five per cent of is class while enrolled full time.

Campbell was nominated for the award based on the following criteria: Nominee must rank in the top three per cent of his class at the end of his sixth semester of high school work, and he must have scored in the 90th percentile or above on one of the several nationally recongized college aptitude tests.

Each high school in Missouri is allowed to nominate one scholar from each 100 or fraction of 100 graduating seniors for the scurrent school year.

The curators scholar program is designed to recognize scholarly achievement in Missouri high schools and to encourage these persons to continue their education at the university level.

Campbellis the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Campbell and is the No. 1 ranked student in the senior class. He is listed in Who's Who in American High Schools. He belongs to the National Honor Society, Future Teachers of America and the French Club, and has worked for the Lion Club's TV Telethon for crippled children for two years. He attends the Church of Christ.

Last summer, Campbell was a member of the introduction to engineering and computer programming program at the University of Missouri-Columbia for outstanding juniors and seniors. He works part time for the Sears catalog store in Portageville.

Campbell plans to use the curator scholarashp at Rolla next fall in some field of engineering.

Teacher loses suit

CHARLESTON — A Circuit Court jury presided over by Judge Flake McHaney of Kennett Monday ruled in favor of Roy W. Ragains, the defendant in a damage suit for slander filed by Mrs. Garnet H. White.

In deciding the case, which was moved to Mississippi County on a change of venue from Scott County, the jury deliberated only 18 minutes.

Mrs. White, a teacher in the Scott County R-5 School District with 18 years of teaching experience, had charged in her petition that Ragains, superintendent of R-5 district schools, had slandered her, and she sought $14,000 for actual damages and $14,000 for punitive damages in the suit.

The petition stated that on March 16, 1971, Mrs. White had been told by Ragains that he had received complaints from parents that she was too nervous to be with children and was unsatisfactory as a teacher, then asked her to resign.

She refused to submit her resignation at that time and was again asked to resign on March 24, 1971, and was told at the time that if she did not resign, she would be dismissed and unable to teach within a 500-mile radius of Cape Girardeau.

Mrs. White again refused to submit her resignation and, on April 8, 1971 at a meeting of the board of education, Mrs. White charged that Ragains made the statement that Dr. Campbell told him she was "very neurotic, very nervous and emotional and that he would not want a child of his going to school under her."

Congress in 1782 chose the Bald Eagle as the national emblem.

Tentative agreement reached

CHAFFEE--The Illmo-Scott City Ambulance Committee has reached a tentative agreement with the North Scott County Ambulance Service to have an ambulance stationed in one of the two cities, J.A. Chronister, chairman of the ambulance service board of directors, said Tuesday.

He said one of the two cities will be considered if the city can supply trained drivers and attendants and if approval is granted by the County Court.

Morris dies today

KANSAS CITY (AP) —r-Fo mer Missouri Lt. Gov. William S. Morris, 55, died early today.

Morris had been a patient at St. Luke's Hospital since Jan. 26 and underwent open heart surgery Jan. 27.

Mrs. Morris said her husband suffered what were described as "seizures" Tuesday afternoon and he was placed in the intensive care unit.

Morris suffered a heart attack last Nov. 9.

A native of Higginsville, Mo., Morris was graduated from the University of Missouri-Kansas City School of Law and admitted to the practice of law in 1948.

He had been active in Democratic politics for many years. He was a past president of the Lafayette County Young Democrats and served on the Kansas City Election Board from 1959 to 1964. He was chairman of the board from 1962-64.

Morris was appointed Public administrator of Jackson County in 1964 and won election to that office in 1966.

He was elected lieutenant governor in 1968 for a four-year term and lost a bid for the Democratic nomination for governor in 1972.

Married in 1942 to Lucile Albers of Higginsville, the Morris' have one daughter, Lisa, 16.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Church offers transport

DEXTER — Senior citizens in Dexter can literally take advantage of a "free ride", according to the Rev. Clifford E.Wray, pastor of First General Baptist Church.

His church sponsors a bus service to and from the Dexter Community Center each day so citizens in the area who might not otherwise take advantage of te low-cost meal programs there may do so.

The bus runs each Monday through Friday "rain or shine" and will pick people up at their homes. It leaves to make its rounds at approximately 10:45 a.m. and returns after the noon meal is completed each day.

On Tuesday and Thursday, the community center sponsors a special get-together and on these days, the bus does not leave until activities have been completed.

The free bus rides, according to the Rev. Mr. Wray, have been in operation for almost five months and, during this time, more than 100 round trips have been made to the center and more than a thousand free rides provided for senior citizens.

At the center, noon meals are offered to persons over the age of 60 at low cost.

The bus for the daily trip can accommodate up to 36 people and the Rev. Mr. Wray says anyone who has not taken advantage of the service and wishes to do so may make arrangements by calling telephone number 624-3444.

Howardville bar burglarized

HOWARDVILLE — Burglars broke into The Most Club tavern early Tuesday, according to the town marshal, Robert Young.

The burglary was reported by the owner, Richard "Buck" Anderson. Young stated that entry was gained by forcing a side door open. A cigarette machine and pool table were broken into and $25-30 in coins was stolen.

Investigatoin of the break-in is continuing.

For many years diphtheria was the most dreaded of all diseases. It is less feared today because doctors have means to treat or prevent it.

Former fire chief honored

CHARLESTON — Joe Johnson, who had served as fire chief of Charleston since 1968, was treated to a surprise Tuesday night during a dinner hosted by the fire department when he was presented a plaque by Fire Chief Tom McKenzie in appreciation for his years of leadership of the department.

Johnson resigned as chief last month and accepted the position of city building inspector, vacated by Bob Merrick who resigned, and began his new job March 1.

With the departure of Johnson, McKenzie was promoted to chief and Lt. Bill Bradley was promoted to captain and assistant fire chief. Tony Trousdale was named first lieutenant and Vernon Williford was promoted to second lieutenant. Fireman Jim Cates, who joined the staff in November, completes the full-time staff of the department. There are also eight volunteer firemen.

The dinner was attended by all firemen, city officials, employes the police department and their of the city hall and members of spouses.

point penalty regardless of whether it was in a city or county with similar laws.

"We're creating a new offense," Waters said. "Once that's proven, we have a conviction."

A senator said one-tenth of one per cent alcohol was equivalent to about six beers or four mixed drinks. The percentage would vary depending on a person's size and when he ate his last meal.

The Senate also gave preliminary approval to a resolution sponsored by Sen. Larry Marshall, R-Columbia, to call for a state constitutional amendment that would allow counties with more than 80,000 people to adopt a charter form of government. The proposal would be placed on the November 1976 ballot.

In the House, Rep. Phillip Scaglia, D-Kansas City, asked members to overrule the committee killing the proposed Sunday blue law repeal.

But Waynesville Democrat James Arnold, one of five committee members who killed the bill last week, said, "As long as we have a committee system we have to live within it." He said the committee override would be unprecedented and could lead to every committee decision being appealed.

Retired legislators could get increase

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Retired legislators would be able to benefit from pension increases under a measure that has gained preliminary approval in the Missouri House.

The bill, sponsored by 61-year-old Rep. Frank Ellis, R-Sedgewickville, would create "special consultant" posts to the state retirement system that could be held by former legislators after they reach the retirement age of 60.

Ellis, who has served in the House since 1962 but sat out the 1969-1970 General Assembly, said the bill was primarily aimed at assisting some of the 85 former lawmakers who retired prior to the latest benefit increase in 1972.

Under the 1972 benefit increase, legislators who have served at least six years will receive a monthly pension of $37.50 times half the number of years they have served, but their total benefits cannot exceed $5,600 a year. Those retiring under the benefits before that hike have their pensions figured on no more than a $30 figure.

The special consultant plan, which is used in other state systems, would enable a retired lawmaker to receive as a "salary" the difference between the benefits under the plan covering him and the most recent increase authorized.

"For the little that a person gets for serving in the body, I'm willing to give them all of this," said Rep. Harold Volkmer, D-Hannibal.

Majority floor leader Kenneth Rothman of Clayton called even the current benefits "rather poor."

The special consultant plan has been challenged as unconstitutional on the grounds that it amounts to payment of public funds to persons no longer employed by the state. But the state Supreme Court has upheld the plan, going so far as to say it makes no difference whether they perform any acutal work.

The measure also calls for the refund of contributions and interest on that money to both legislators and workers covererd under the Highway Employes and Highway Patrol Retirement System upon their retirement. A similar change in the other retirement plans was made several years ago.

Legislators pay 5 per cent of their annual $8,400 salary into the fund with the state matching that amount.

Carpenters donate labor

Nine members of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, Local 618 donated labor Saturday for the installation of studding, vapor barrier sheeting, furring strips and paneling to assist in the revnovation of the New Madrid Museum building. Charleston faces St. Louis power

Missouri's top eight teams in Class 3A meet at four sites across the state tonight in do-or-die efforts to reach basketball's pinnacle, State Championship play at Columbia.

Charleston's high'flying Bluejays, riding at their peak with convincing wins over Kennett and Potosi in regional play, meet their last hurdle this evening to a place they've never been before, state semi-final play-offs at Hearnes Multi-purpose Fieldhouse in Columbia.

The Coach Mitch "Switch" Haskins-led quintet will pit their 26-4 season's mark against Lutheran South's 22-3 mark. The Lancer's from St. Louis County boast one of Class 3A's tallest quintets and are no strangers to state championship play, riding a 30-1 record back in 1973 to the state crown. Coached by Herm Meyer, LSHS swept past Bayless in the Eureka Regional last week 77-59, before downing Festus 72-42 Monday night at Hillsboro. The Lancers have two 6-foot-6 boys in sophomore postman Kent Reasoner and junior forward Mark Rohde with both boasting twin-figure scoring averages. 6-foot-3 forward Jon Mueller is the only senior on the starting five as athe Lancers look to domination of the game not only this season but the next as well. Rounding out the LSHS quintet are two of the stae's finest ball-handling guards in 5-11 Larry Reischauer, a 19-point bomber against Festus in just two quarters, and 6-foot junior Jay Doering who can hit form anywhere on the court.

According to their most recent opponents, Lutheran South has a next to unbeatable combination of speed, quickness, and shooting ability from all five of their starters. They can break the stall, a zone pass, and will shoot over a zone defense with no hesitation. On defense themselves, the Lancers employ a very effecive 1-2-2 zone or zone-trap press. Against Festus, Lutheran South used the zone-trap to rattle the Tiger's cage time after time.

But Charleston's Bluejays are no slouch themselves. Since starting slow last December with two losses in six games, the bluebirds have swept to 19 victories and only three more losses to date. And those losses came against teams like Notre Dame, the state's second-ranked Class 2A team, in the Christmas tournament finals on a last second shot and Kennett beat them in a SEMO conference game, and were ranked ninth in the state in Class 3A at the time. Another loss came against the state's top-ranked Class 2A team, the Lilbourn Panthers, in overtime.

Since coming to Charleston from Houston, Coach Haskins has built an outstanding team which combines good defense with balanced scoring.

Mike Jefferson, who led the 62-47 onslaught against Potosi Mondy night with 17 points, paces the team in scoring average with 15 per game. Right behind is sophomore Ricky Frazier with 14.8 per game and a 14.3 average for rebounds. Pleas Porters has a 10.2 average and James Davis a 13.1 mark per game to round out the double-figure players. Terry Schott is the playmaker for the Bluejays and is also a good outside shooter. On the season Charleston is averaging 68.8 points per game while giving up only 54.3 per game.

Should the Bluejays survive Wednesday night's match-up, Charleston will meet the winner of the Owensville-Clayton quarter-round game in the semi-finals of state Class 3A play Friday night at Columbia.

TENNIS

BOSTON — Australian Helen Gourlay upset eighth-seeded Wendy Overton 4-6, 6-4, 6-0 in the $75,000 U.S. Women's Indoor Tennis Championships.

LONDON — Britian's Mark Cox defeated Sweden's Ove Bengston 6-7, 6-3, 6-2 in the first round of a $60,000 International Tennis Tournament.

SHREVEPORT, La. — Southern Methodist University's George Hardie took Japan's Jun Kuki 6-4, 6-2 to advance the second round of the Shreveport International Tennis Tournament.

DENVER — John Newcombe topped fellow Australian Ken Rosewall 6-0, 6-3 in the $5,000 winner-take-all tennis match.

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. (AP) — Red Sox first baseman Cecil Cooper was due in Boston today after X rays taken here Tuesday revealed he was suffering from an inflammation of the lungs.

Cooper will be admitted to Hahnemann Hospital where he will be examined by Dr. Mark Aisner.

Cooper, who played winter baseball in the Caribbean, had had no complaints, but the inflammation was detected in X rays at Winter Haven General Hospital as part of the routine physical Red Sox players undergo each year at this time.

Red Sox Public Relations Director Bill Crowley said, "It could be nothing, but then we don't want to take any chance."

Bulldogs eliminate Southwest

CAPE GIRARDEAU--Vangalee West put on a career high scoring performance to advance the Sikeston Bulldogs in opening round play of the class AAAA regional basketball tournament Tuesday night and push the Bulldogs team record over the .500 mark for the first time since Jan. 3.

SHS turned back Northwest of Housesprings 79-67 for their 13th victory in 25 gmes, marking their seventh win in nine games and third in a row.

Coach Buddy Spears' SHS Cagers jumped out into a 10-2 lead, but was never really able to gain the m omentum to make easy work of Northwest and trailed the five team event's fifth seeded quintet 28-25 midway in the contest.

West, connecting on 11 of 21 field shots and one of two charity tosses, scored 23 points to back the leading effort of teammate Hal Presley, who bombed in 10 of 16 from the field and four of six from the line for 24 markers.

Presley, who has been the main reason for the Bullogs lat season turnaround from a serious loing string, hauled in 17 rebounds to compliment his night's work. The 6-foot-5 athlete, improving with every outing, led the team to a 56-32 edge in rebounding and has been the leading in the last three games during which the Dogs have out-rebounded their opponents 160-100 to offset sub-par shooting.

SHS really didn't overhaul their opponents until the fourth quarter as Northwest led 44-43 with three and one half minutes left in the third quarter.

Norhtwest out-performed the Bulldogs in the shooting department, connecting on 41.2 percent from the field while the Dogs hit 40.4. Northwest was 45.8 at the charity stripe while SHS was 41.2.

Jim Hall, a 5-foot-10 senior guard, was vertually unstopable by the Bulldogs. Hall claimed high game scoring honors with his 27 markers, connecting on 11 of 19 fild goals and five of seven from the charity stripe.

The loss finished Northwest's season at 6-18 and sends Sikeston against the event's fourth seeded Fox of Arnold quintet Thursday night at 8 p.m. SHS is seeded second.

LHS faces MA power

CAPE GIRARDEAU--The hotshot Lilbourn Panthers take their show to the Houck Fieldhouse Wesdnesday night in the class 2A state tournament against the Acadia Valley Tigers of coach David Bone in the quarterfinals. The winner will advance to Columbia Friday for the semi-finals and the finals on Saturday.

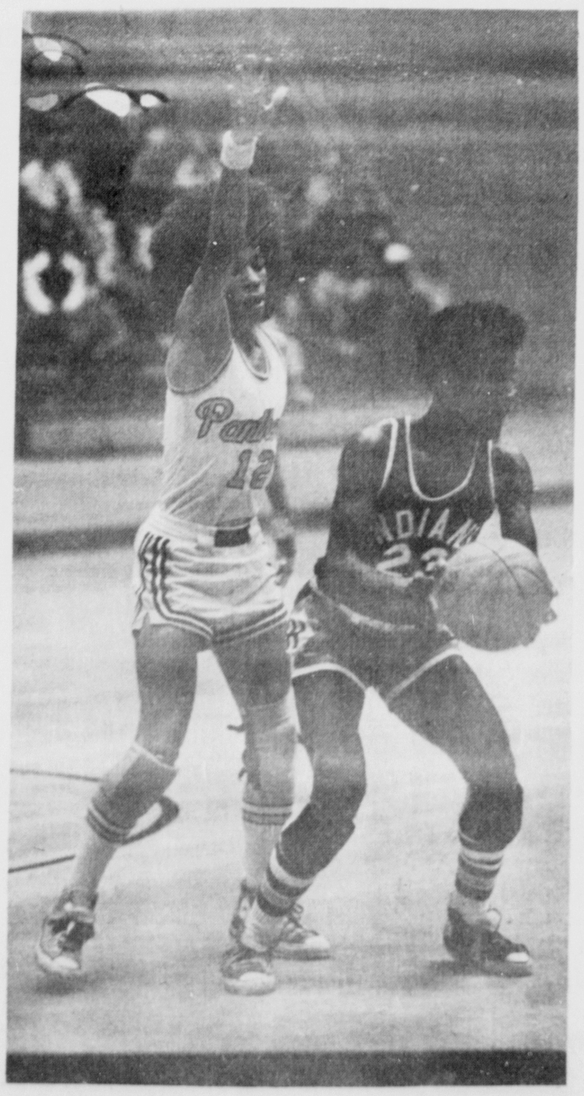
Lilbourn is currently riding a 40 game winning streak over the past two seasons and is 29-0 this season. Arcadia Valley is 25-3 on the season with losses coming to Ellington and Potosi earlier in the season.

Coach Bone is the former assistant to Gene Bess at Oran high school. Since moving to Arcadia Valley coach Bone has been one of the outstanding coaches in the Mineral Area.

Unlike the Lilbourn Panthers of coach Bob PePhelps, the Tigers spend mostly on 6-4 center Johnny Carr for their scoring bursts.

Coach Bone uses a man to man defense primarily but will adjust to what the situation calls for. The Panthers use a straight man to man defense relying mostly on their quickness and speed to beat their opponent.

In Lilbourn the Arcadia Valley Tigers will face the number one team in the state and naturally the state tourney favorites. AVHS is not rated in the top ten poll by the sportswriters and sportcasters.



Lilbourn's Ernest McFerren (12) pressures Hatyti's Willie Walker during first round class AA state tournament play at the Sikeston High School Field House Monday night. The Panthers won and battle Arcadia Valley in quarter final round action at Cape Girardeau's Houck Field House tonight at 7:30.

High-priced deer herds

JEFFERSON CITY--The Department of Conservation is cowboying one of the most valuable livestock operations in Missouri.

It's called the deer herd.

According to an annual study made by Sidney Wilcox, a professor in Engineering at Arizona State University, the value of the meat taken by Missouri deer hunters in the 1973 (the latest of the studies) is $2,512,556

Wilcox uses an average field dressed weight, reduces that to boneless meat, then multiplies the total by the local chuck beef price to arrive at a dollar figure.

The 1973 Missouri deer harvest of 34,723 animals averaged 85 pounds dressed weight or 54 pounds of boneless meat. Chuck beef prices were $1.34 a pound at the time the study was made.

In addition to the actual value of the meat, there was a host of intangible benefits involved in the annual Misosouri deer hunt.

Hunters spend money for lodging, for food, for permits, for equipment, for gasoline, for many items associated with the hunt. There were 25,254 archery hunters and 210,770 gun hunters during the 1973 season.

In 1974, there undoubtedly were more, though final figures aren't yet in.

Missouri's harvest of 34,723 animals puts the state in 23rd place nationally. Many states do not has as accurate a check on animals aken as Missouri does since they do not run check stations.

The 1973 Texas deer harvest led the nation. Hunters claimed 376,293 deer, mostly white-tailed, though a few mule deer were taken. Texas deer herd is estimated at a staggering 3.5 million.

Pennsylvania had the second high harvest of 126,891 and Montana was third with 122,648. Other states and their 1973 deer harvest include: Oregon 103,470; Wisconsin 90,561; Utah 86,750; Alabama 82,000; Colorado 75,451; New York 75,379; Louisiana 74,761; Michigan 70,650; Minnesota 69,041; Wyoming 61,414; Virginia 60,798; Washington 58,520; Florida 57,122; Idaho 53,743; South Carolina 46,000; Georgia 44,600; South Dakota 35,242; Arkansas 35,000; Mississippi 35,000; then Missouri.

Wilcox also compiled statistics on hunter accidental deaths from gunshot, freezing, heart attack and other cause and found that despite some accidents every year, deer hunting is a very safe sport.

In 1973, there were 96 fatal gun acidents nationwide, out of a reorted 9.6 million deer hunters. The number of fatalities has been fairly constant since 1969. In that year there were 116, there were 98 in 1970, 116 in 1971, 110 in 1972 and 96 in 1973.

But the number of deathes from all causes has declined every year from 176 in 1969 to 112 in 1973. At the same time, the number of deer hunters has risen more than 1.4 million, from 8,212,043 in 1969 to 9,615,254 in 1973.

And the value of deer meat alone on national basis? A thumping $15,096,746. There were 119,340,012 pounds of boneless meat taken in the 1973 deer season.

Hunters took 2,209,053 deer out of an estimated national herd of 14,609,961 animals. In both cases, the numbr was the highest of the five years Wilcox has been doing his report.

No doubt about it--nationally and in Missouri, deer hunting continues profitable both for hunters and for economists who like to put dollar values on things.

Expensive? hunting

JEFFERSON CITY--Doggone it! It's just not much fun to be a deer poacher anymore!

Poaching deer in Missouri is getting to be a hobby as expensive as racing sports cars or playing pool with Minnesota Fats.

A number of would-be illegal deer slayers have found that out in recent weeks as magistrate courts over the state have levied severe penalties.

In St. Charles County, Magistrate William Lohman fined two poachers the maximum $500 each, then suspended half of the fine on the condition the two not hunt for two years or even accompany anyone hunting.

In Hickory County, Judge Jack Moore levied a $200 fine on the killer of a deer, a $100 fine on the driver of the car and assessed two 90-day jail sentences, suspended on condition the two violate any laws for a year.

Conservation agent Bill Otten broke up a poaching ring in Adair County which saw $500 fines against four people who had taken eight deer, including five does.

Two men brought before Magistrate Judge Patrick Horner in Callaway County found themselves faced with $877.80 in fines and the shooter of the deer faces a three-month jail sentence, suspended on condition he not hunt for a year.

Judge Horner fined one man $250 for possessing a deer in closed season and fined the shooter $500 for taking the deer and another $75 for using illegal methods.

Mizzou success

COLUMBIA — Before Mizzou put the finishing touches on what could well be the most satisfying of Norm Stewart's eight coaching seasons in Tigerland, it seemed appropriate to ask the blond skipper how a greenhorn team jelled so well and so rapidly.

Pausing amid preparations for the stretch run against Kansas State here, and Colorado at Boulder on Saturday night, Norm took a retrospective look at a smashing comeback season after last year's tail-end finish.

His first tribute was to the club's cool attitude.

"I think's it's kind of unique in that they play with a certain amount of calm confidence, yet with a lot of enthusiasm," he says. "They play with poise, and when they're ahead at the end of a game, they take it in stride."

With three sophomores and another newcomer to the program (Willie Smith) in the starting lineup, the degree of maturity shown by the youthful Tigers has been vital to their success.

Stewart is not necessarily surprised by their achievement as much as by the "manner in which they did it."

"Ron Pexa became ineligible, and both Jim Kennedy and Kim Anderson were injured at the same time," he says, tracing early misfortunes. "Kim even missed five full games, and yet the ball-club continued to win at a pretty good clip."

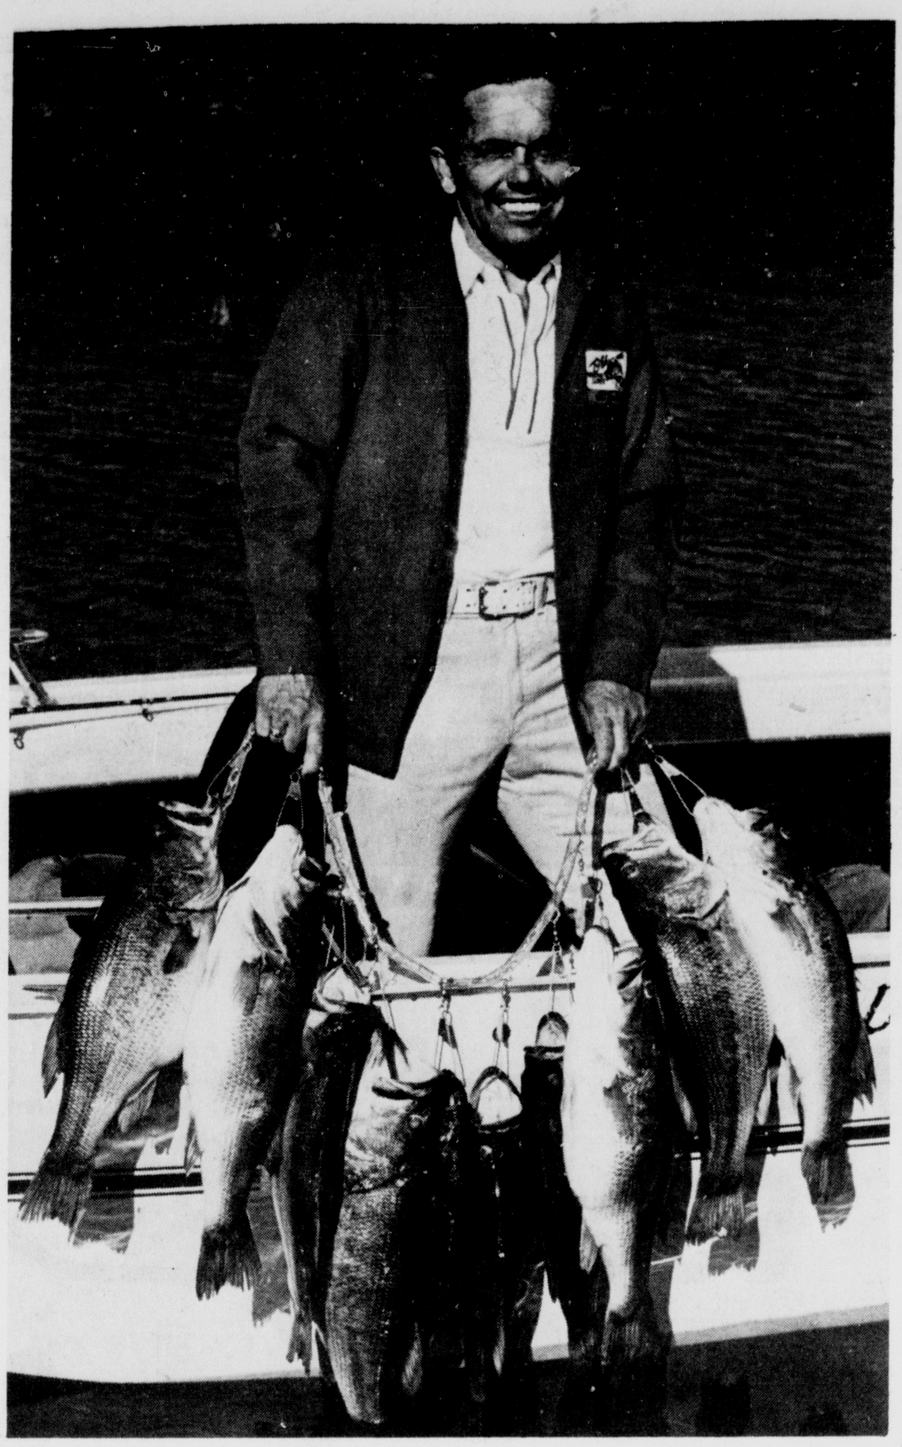
Crowd-pleaser Willie Smith did as much as anyone to initiate the Tigers' propserity. But did Stewart really expect that the 6-2 Las Vegas sharpshooter would step right in and make the contribution he has this year?

"Not scoring-wise," the Tiger head man says. "Willie and I were playing '21' one day back in November and finally I said, 'Hey, you've got to shoot the ball more, Willie.'"

"But you just don't come along very often with someone who will score 24 points a game and still be so proficient in all the other phases of the game."

The 17-7 record sported by the Tigers heading into Mizzou's final two games is obviously a source of satisfaction to Stewart. It is also a prime reflector of his coaching ability.

"As I've said before, this year's club may have surpassed what we had a right to expect and certainly what other people expected, but not necessarily what we've hoped and worked for," Stewart says. "As a coach, you've got your talent so you just go out and play. Once the season starts, there's nothing you can do but try to get the team to achieve its potential as a group. That's where satisfaction comes in.



Rex Grady, displaying 10 large mouth bass weighing 60 pounds which was the largest single limit recorded in 1971 at Table Rock Lake, will be at the Kingsway Plaza Mall Outdoor Living Promotion in connection with the Bootheel Bass Buster's Club Friday and Saturday. Displays open Thursday.

Women organize softball league

The first meeting for the "Sikeston Womens Softball Association" was held Tuesday night at 504 N. Ranney. Sandra York and Willie Burrow were elected as Chariman and Co-Chairman. Kathy Kafka and Susan MacLaughlin were elected Secretary-Tresurer. This organization will govern both the adult and Junior Teams. The League will play Modified (Fast pitch without full wind up) fast pitch. Their will be some exceptions for the Junior Teams only. The Adult league will be limited to 8 teams. The size of the Junior league is still open because this year the league has divided the age group for Junior teams. (4th thru 6th will be in one division and 7th grade thru 9th in another.

Each team will be required to pay a Sponsors Fee. (Not yet determined). We will have paid umpires and the league will supply the game ball.

Anyone wishing to Sponsor a team should contact Sandra York; P.O. Box 221; or call between 8 a.m. & 5 p.m. (471-4131) Any team wanting to sign up plase have a representative at the next meeting-March 17, at 610 Holly Hill.

Girls (4th grade thru 9th) wanting to participate contact your coach from church teams last year and or watch this paper for day to meet and sign up for a team. We will set up a meeting so than any girls wising to play on a Junior team will have the opportunity.

Players talk about money

Today's lesson in business administration comes to you courtesy of Ken Holtzman, Bill Russell and Bill Campbell.

As it happens, Holtzman majored in business at the University of Illinois before turning to pitching major league baseballs for the Chicago Cubs and later the Oakland A's. In his years with Oakland and owner Charles O. Finley, Holtzman's business schooling has continued with almost yearly salary squabbles, and the left-hander isn't sure he can stand that type of education much longer.

"If a business opportunity I have works and everything is conducive to leaving at midseason, I'd quit baseball then," the 29-year-old Holtzman said Tuesday.

"If the general condition of the economy was better, I probably wouldn't be here right now," he added at Oakland's Mesa, Ariz. training base.

"I'd like to let him (Finley) him go out and find another 19-game winner."

Considering the fact that Finley already has lost a certain 24-game winner named Catfish Hunter, the fiery A's owner may not be pleased with the prospect. But a good businessman never tips his hand.

Russell, the Los Angeles Dodgers shortstop, got his business learning while holding out for $75,000 this season. He signed his contract Monday — for less money than he had wanted — but admitted no feelings of malice for club vice president Al Campanis, who did the negotating.

When it was over, Russell said, "Campanis and I shook hands, knowing business is business."

But all businesses have their eccentricities. Minnesota Twins hurler Campbell found that out.

Twins' owner Calvin Griffith set a club rule against beards, so Campbell's carefully cultivated shrubbery had to go by workout time Tuesday. The 26-year-old right-hander, Minnesota's top reliever last season with an 8-7 record and a 2.63 earned run average, appeared despondent with the loss.

"I am disappointed," he said at the Twins' training base in Orlando, Fla. "But the ball club's policy says I can't have the beard, and this is one of those times when you can't fight city hall."

Meanwhile, the number of unsigned players was reduced further when Baltimore inked outfielder Don Baylor; the New York Yankees signed outfielder Walt Williams and first baseman Otto Velez; the Cleveland Indians signed outfielder Oscar Gamble; infielder Mario Guerrero ended the first Boston Red Sox holdout in 18 years and the Dodgers agreed to terms with outfielder Bill Buckner.

The Dodgers also invited free-agent pitcher Juan Marichal to their camp.

Braves get scare

BLOOMFIELD — Scott Central used a fourth period rally to avoid an upset by the Puxico Indians here Tuesday night in the 1A regional, claiming a 90-72 victory while Matthews outshot the Bell City Cubs 80-72.

The highly favored SCHS Braves had their hands full with the young PHS Indians for three quarters as coach Pete Townsends Indians were deadlocked with the Braves 60-60 after three quarters but the Braves zone trap spelled defeat for Puxico as the defense forced numerous bad passes and Scott Central converted the turnovers into layups to win.

Puxico fell behind 21-11 to the Braves speed and quickness in the first period and looked as if they were going to get blown off the court in the first half but the Braves began to flater and the Indians kept scrapping until Puxico outscored the Braves 26-19 in the third quarter to tie the game.

Niether team was sensational on defense in the fast moving ball game. Will Smith, playing in his last game for Puxico scored 23 points. Otto Porter led a four player double barrage for Scott Central with 25.

Matthews used their speed and good shooting to get past the Bell City Cubs. Dan Rivers was the only offensive threat for the Cubs as the senior pumped in 31 points. Robinson and Lape scored 18 apiece for Matthews.

Wednesday at 6:30 Scott Central plays Matthews and Oran plays Bloomfield at 8:00.

Mustangs, Deer have close calls

GIDEON — North Pemiscot recovered quickly from a first quarter shock and Clarkton waited till the last minutes before both teams posted opening round victories in the Class A Regoinal here Tuesday night.

The NPHS Mustangs went to pieces against a surprise zone trap brought out by Gideon in the first eight minutes of their opening game and wound up on the short end of a 17-10 count. The quarter break, however, saw North Pem rebound with total vengence as the Mustangs literally swamped the Bulldogs under with a 28-2 second quarter to go on for an easy 74- 48 final margin. Jerry Stewart's 25 points was the high water mark of the night for NPHS, while Virgil Sparks netted 17 for Gideon.

The Clarkton Reindeer muddled through three quarters against Parma in the nightcap before suddenly waking up after being down by eight to take the final quarter with a 30-16 margin for a final 88-82 victory. Kenny Richman's 30-point effort did the Pirates in along with double figure efforts from Wilson, Gum, and Caldwell. Ricky Barnes was high for Parma with 20 points.

Chaffee advances

ZALMA — Pre-tourney favorites continued to win in the 1A class regional here Tuesday night as Chaffee outlasted University High 85-74 and Meadow Heights got past Oak Ridge 63-53.

The Chaffee Red Devils had their hands full with the UHS Preps until the fourth period when a scoring burst lifted the Red Devils past the Preps.

Chaffee ran to a 17-14 first period lead but the Preps and Danny Seyer kept comig back in the second period and stayed with the fast moving Devils as Chaffee led 41-36 at the half. Scoring for both teams subsided somewhat in the third period as the Preps knocked off two of the five point Red Devil lead. Chaffee started rollingpast the Preps again in the fourth period as UHS wasn't able to keep up. Both coaches used quite a number of players as Lindy Duncan and David McConnell scored 25 and 17 respectively for Chaffee. Seyer scored 28 for University High.

Meadow Heights stayed alive by jumping to a 16-15 first period lead and holding on for the victory. Oak Ridge tried desperately to rally but the Panther defense along with cold shooting kept MHHS at a safe distance behind. Mike McCormack pumped in 24 points for MHHS and Mike Pfeiffer and Dale Lidwig scored 15 and 17 respectively for the Jays.

Meadow Heights plays Advance at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday and Delta plays Chaffee at 8 p.m.

In order to better serve our customers we have added another floater for custom applying liquid fertilizer and chemicals.
These floaters do a minimum of tracking in wheat fiels plus an even job of distributing the liquid fertilizer (no streaking).
We also apply dry fertilizer and lime. If you prefer to do it yourself we have rental equipment for both dry and liquid fertilizer.
If we can be of help in applying liquid nitrogen to your wheat or if we can help in any other way we would appreciate the opportunity.

Team meeting held

Sikeston dealer among top 100

Terry Robison, operator of Terry's Spanish 66 Service Station, located at 600 N. Main St., has placed among the nation's top 100 U-Haul dealers, according to annual rankings released by the U-Haul Rental System.

The dealer rankings are based upon rental volume, proper accounting and customer service.

The U-Haul Rental System, based in Phoenix, Ariz., has 16,000 dealers in 8,000 cities and towns in the United States and Canada. More than seven million families used U-Haul equipment for economical do-it-yourself household moving last year.

Richardson firm awarded grand prize

RICHARDSON, Tex. — Bill and Jo Ferguson of Richardson received the American Drycleaner grand prize for drycleaning plant design Feb. 18 at the annual meeting of the International Fabricare Institute in Las Vegas.

It was the first time in the 14-year history of the national award that the grand prize has gone to a remodeled plant.

Mrs. Ferguson is the former Josephine Smith of Lilbourn, Mo., and has been instrumental in helping her husband build his business.

The Fergusons went into the drycleaning business in Richardson five years ago, operating a Town and County franchise. In 1974, the business had grown to a point that required additional machinery. To make room for the equipment, the layout was redesigned and business redecorated.

Ferguson has received an additional honor in that he will be installed April 18 as a member of the official board of the Texas Laundry and Drycleaning Association at the group's state convention and trade show in Dallas.

The 68--year-old organizatoin has a membership of 500 leading drycleaners and launderers in Texas.

"Membership on this important board is an indication of leadership," Felix C. Parker, executive director of the associatoin, said.

Management, staff changes announced

Changes in the management and staff at Ramada Inn of Sikeston, Highway 62 East, have been announced.

Bob Gray, who has assumed the general manager's position, has 15 years of experience in various positions in hotels and motels in Texas, Virginia and Georgia. His most recent position was as general manager of the Ramada Inn in Lavonia, Ga., prior to joining the staff in Sikeston.

Gray attended Central State College in Edmond, Okla., Southern Methodist University in Dallas, Tex., and North Texas State University in Denton, Tex.

Harold Scherer, resident manager, joined the Sikeston Ramada Inn staff in 1971 and has served in various positions. He is a 1966 graduate of Kelly High school in Benton. His experience includes four years with General Electric in Cincinnati, where he also studied for two years at University of Cincinnati.

Scherer will be working with guest room reservations and related services and can make reservations from Sikeston at any Ramada Inn in the United States or foreign countries by way of the electronic reservation system.

Manager wins highest award

KANSAS CITY — Ron Soteros, manager of Sambo's Restaurant, located at the Highway 62 interchange on Interstate 55 near Sikeston, has been named Manager of the Year for his territory. The award was presented by Larry Quinn, vice president of operations for the Santa Barbara, Calif.- based chain during a banquet meeting held here recently.

As a part of Soteros's award, all employes of his restaurant with at least six months service received a share of stock in Sambo's Restaurants, Inc., for their help in making the restaurant so outstanding.

Soteros is one of only 16 managers throughout the country to receive this special award, which is based on total sales, profitability and customer service.

Wayne G. Kees, president of Sambo's Restaurants, Inc., attributed the phenomenal success of the young company to dedicated individuals such as Soteros and his staff, who provide a wide range of quality food and fast friendly service 24 hours a day seven days a week.

The banquet was part of an annual regional business meeting for restaurant managers and corporation executives to meet with one another, exchange ideas and establish goals for 1975.

Sambo's began with one small restaurant 17 years ago in Santa Barbara, Calif. Today there are more than 475 full service, family restaurants in 35 states, with new ones being opened at the rate of one every three days.

Outdoor living exhibits to be shown at mall

Kingsway Plaza Mall will present its fourth annual outdoor living exhibits from 9:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Over 15,000 people viewed the displays last year and, as in the past, free prizes will be awarded through drawings.

In addition to the mall merchants, others exhibiting will be Sonny Presley Chevrolet, Sikeston Motor Co., Propst Mobile Homes, Presley Travel Trailers, First National Bank and Cooney Equipment Co. of Sikeston, Wieser Motor Co. of Cape Girardeau and the Bootheel Bass Busters Club.

Over $450 worth of prizes will be given away in drawings. The prizes will include:

Two $12.50 bottles of Aramis cologne from Ben's, a $14.95 hammock from Osco Drugs, $3 gift certificate from Snoozy's, $32.98 Structo Steel Bar-B-Q kettle from TG&Y Family Center, $12.95 radio from Grabers, $10 gift certificate from Bonnie's Card Shop; $13 three-step beauty plan from Jo's Merle Norman Cosmetics.

Two yards of double knit worth $8 from Singer Sewing Center, $5 gift certificate from Morgan Music Co., $80 tent from Britt's Department Store, $10 gift certificate from Charlotte's Web, $39.95 wig from Wig's Unlimited, $5.95 plant from Nature's Best Plants, $10 gift certificate from Dimensions in Fashion, $10 gift certificate from Merry Macs, $5 off certificate from Rye's Jewelry.

Space capsule radio worth $12.95 from McConnell Family Entertainment Center; $29.95 tent, $15.88 Coleman stove No. 425, $16.44 Coleman lantern No. 220 and $1.37 one-gallon Coleman fuel from Penneys; $7.95 five-pound canned ham from Safeway; $5 gift certificate from Chris Young World; $10 gift certificate from Clothes Closet; and three $25 savings bonds (one each day) from First National Bank.

To Jamboree fans he is known as Smiley Crumb as he presents his comedy act. Lutes will appear each week with the regular members of the staff.

Aerial combat began in August 1914, when German and Allied pilots started shooting at each other with rifles and pistols, with negligible results.

YOUR LIVESTOCK FEEDING EXPERIENCE CAN PAY OFF

If you enjoy discussing livestock feeding problems with people you know, we should get acquainted. My company, a nationally known and well-respected feed manufacturer, is seeking a person of mature judgement and good reputation for sales and service representative here. This is not a fly-by-night, high-pressure sales job. Full-time opportunity for service-minded self-starter who can assume responsibility, make decisions, and be own boss. Home every night. I'll explain employee benefits, technical on-the-job training in local territory and financial requirements in confidential interview. Contact Box 926 Sikeston, Mo. 63801.

By CHERIE BLANTON

I hope you all appreciate the effort I've gone to in order to obtain this next recipie for it was agony. It's my very own, but I never measure anything that goes into it, so trying to make it & measure at the same time was terribly nerve wracking. This is my soup and it very seldom fails if I make it my brother-in-law doesn't appear on my back doorstep with smile on face & empty bowl in hand. I swear he must have my kitchen wired like Watergate cause he always knows when I put the pot on the stove.

My Vegetable Soup

Into a very large pot you can put these ingredients in, and in any order, just be sure you follow these tips. Cut your vegetables up very samll-actually dice them (then the kids won't know what they're eating & can't pick them out, besides it tastes better), only use extremely lean meat, stew meat and I prefer round steak that I cut up bite size ½ inch cubes, with absolutely no fat on it. Now, here goes-

1 can tomato soup
5 cans of water using the tomato soup can to measure in
1-15 oz. can tomato sauce
1-6 oz. can tomato paste
1-8½ oz. can of peas
2 diced white onions, fairly larg
1 diced large potatoe
½ scant cup of regular uncooked rice
2 tsp. coarse ground black pepper
2 tbs. salt
1 tbs. parsley flake
1 beef bouillon cube
4 dashes cayenne pepper
3 tbs sugar
2 carrots diced
1 stalk celery (1 stem) diced
4 cups chopped up cabbage
6 cups cubed lean beef (will take about 4 lbs of beef to get this)

If you use a round steak put the bone in too.

Now, cover & simmer for 3½ to 4 hours. This will be a thick rich gummy soup. After it has cooked for about 2 hours, (stir occasionally) taste & see if it needs any more salt, pepper or suger, as sometimes you do because of the flavor of the fresh vegetables. Also, if I have any left over green beans or anythng in the ice box, I just drain them & dump in too.

...

This snow on the ground this week really made me soup hungry. & here is one that I haven't tried yet, but I received with rave notices. This came straight from the old country & is the DeKriek recipie for

Dutch Split Pea Soup

2 lbs of dry split peas
2 large onions quartered
½ bunch celery with leaves, cut in 1 inch pieces
¼ cup chopped parsley
1 lb. of sausage in a casing
8 potatoes, diced

Put peas, onion, celery & parsley in a pan, cover with water & simmer 1 hour. Add sausage & cook ½ hour more or until peas are soft & tender. Remove sausage, skin it & chop into pieces. Pour soup through a strainer, & add potatoes to the puree along with salt & pepper to taste. Cook 15-20 minutes are until potatoes are tender, add sausage & heat throughly.

...

Now I have a good Mexican cornbread recipie in my cookbook, but Patsy Blanton has just tried one out which I think is twice as good & great with soup.

Mexican Cornbread

½ cup of flour
1 cup yellow corn meal
1 tsp. salt
½ tsp. baking soda
3 tsp. baking powder
½ cup cooking oil
1 cup of partially drained whole kernel corn
½ cup chopped green peppers
½ cup chopped onion
1 small diced jalapena pepper (if you want it real hot add another pepper)
1 tsp. garlic salt
1 cut buttermilk
3 eggs
1 cup grated velveeta cheese

Mix all together & bake at 450 degrees for 25-30 minutes (till good & brown on top) Put this into a buttered 9x13 inch pan Cool about 5 minutes before slicing. Reheats beautifully.

...

Now, for my puce de resistance!! Have you ever shopped in Famous Barr in St. Louis & stopped there at the lttle cafe on (I think) the third floor & eaten their French Onion Soup? If you haven't brother you ain't been living & here it is or at least one that tastes just like it!

French Onion Soup

3 lbs peeled onions
½ cup real butter
1½ tsp freshly ground black pepper
2 tbs paprika
1 bay leaf
¾ cup all-purpose flour
3 quarts canned (or home made) beef bouillon
1 cup dry white wine (optional)
2 tsp. salt
French Bread
½ lb. imported Swiss cheese

Slice onions ⅛ inch thick, Melt butter in a large soup pot, add onions & saute slowly for 1½ hrs. Add all other ingredients but boullion, wine & salt & saute 10 minutes more. Now add bouillon & wine & simmer 2 hours. If color is not a rich brown after this time, than adjust color with a liquid browning sauce. Season to taste with salt. Put in icebox overnight. Makes 2 quarts soup.

When serving, heat soup & fill individual ovenproof bowls with 1 cup soup, top with 3 one-half inch slices of French bread (that you've toasted & fixed so its like croutons), & top with a slice of the cheese. Place under broiler & brown about 5 minutes but watch it carefully.

Dull lunch box turns off appetite

By Polly Cramer

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — My husband has gotten so particular about his eating and especially with what is in his lunch box. Besides plain old sandwiches and chips I have tried leftovers but still he is not satisfied. Do you or the readers have any suggestions that might help me? — C.J.

DEAR C.J. — I am sure many readers who cope with this problem every day will be sending in more suggestions for you. As a starter have you tried putting hot soup in a thermos or mixing a green salad and putting the dressing in a small container or bottle so he can add it when ready to eat? Years ago a reader sent such a Pointer saying she often put wieners and rolls in a lunch box with a thermos of boiling water. At lunch time her husband could drop the wieners in the water for a few minutes until they were hot. — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with those magazines that write about an article that would be nice for a gift but give no address of where to send for it and often no price. If you locate the address there is a lot of extra correspondence before you can order. I have been waiting six weeks for an answer to such a letter. When I do get an answer it will be too late to order it for the occasion I had in mind. — MRS. A.E.

DEAR MRS. A.E. — I agree with you. I had the same experience with something pictured in a magazine before Christmas. The item was something I had been trying to get for a long time. The price was given and the name of the manufacturer but the address was only located with the cooperation of an interior designer friend. — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — and Mrs. C.D.S. — I love the pull out skein yarn and do not like to use any other kind. If it does tangle early in use pull it steadily but firmly and gently until a little or a lot may pull up and out in a bunch. There is always one easily recognized loop that is caught in the top of it all. Lift it up and release it all.

Start from the skein and pull the released yarn into a sack or plastic pail. Before you know it you have knitted or crocheted this all up and carry on with the rest with no cutting or tying on. If the yarn gets caught after there is a good-sized hole in the middle you can feel for it without pulling any out. — MRS. J.R.S.

DEAR POLLY — While making a suede cloth jacket I wanted to press the sleeves without creases but did not have a sleeve board. I used a wooden rolling pin with a small hand towel around it. Insert in a sleeve, press and roll. I find this really works with no creases where none are wanted. — MARILYN.

DEAR POLLY — In these economy-conscious days it pays to cut open an "empty" scouring powder can. The residue left inside will usually clean the sink one more time. — MRS. D.F.O.

Letters to the Editor

That's just it. Do the poor and only the poor receive welfare? I'm not knocking the welfare program it self but I will say this, the program needs to concentrate on needy children and elderly and blind and older widows. Is it right that the taxpayers help these unwed mothers? I say no. The unwed mother should have to deal with her situation herself. There are too many preventions on the market for a woman to get into a situation she is not able to deal with. But that is one way the welfare has fowled up. If these unwed mothers had to feed and clothe and get up every morning, go to work and support a child I guarantee that there would be less unwed mothers thus making less wear and tear on the welfare treasury. The unwed mother gets medicaide cards food stamps and a check. What are you all doing rewarding her for her sins? "So you are exspecting? Congratulations, never mind who the father is, here's you a nice reward, you'll have your hospital and doctor bill paid for and will receive so much a month to live on and oh yes don't forget your food stamps you must eat - compliments of the taxpayers!!!"

That's the very reason there are not very many children out for adoption. the unwed mothers never had it so good. What is wrong with the people that head these programs? Can't they see the forest for the trees? Come on now let's help those that really need help not those who go out and deliberatly get messed up and exspect the world to hand them over a living on a silver platter, I've heard the expression from a lot of free loading men also say "I'm not gonna work I'll just lay up on a gal drawing welfare and I've got it made." and the little children don't really get much out of the program, results? Some bum gets the most of it.

I could tell you all a lot of things but I would'nt be saying anything that I'm sure you don't know for yourselves that's really going on. But, what I'm trying to say is that there is so much talk about how much it coasts. "Food stamp program has risen from $200 million in fisal year 1969 when stamps went to 3.2 million people in fical year 1974 with further growth ahead." I believe that the welfare programs need some good housecleaning.

A. Women living alone with ADC children need to be investigated to see to it that there aren't any free loading men imposing in the home thus leaving the children deprived of their food, clothing and ADC payments and to make certain there aren't an abductions or neglect toward those children.

B. Unwed mothers should be taken completely out or off the ADC program and make certain they are advised of contraceptives of some form to prevent them from becoming a part of a situation they are unable to handle. Unless it's a rape case, then I believe a woman needs help and advise because she is a victum of cicumstance.

C. I believe that a man that has neglected his child support or has deserted his family and left them on mercy of ADC that the program try to trace him down and make him make up his support or imprision him for his rightful responsibility toward his family.

These are just a few things that I think should be done in behalf of the ADC recipients as well as in behalf of the taxpayers who are paying for these things. I do believe that the welfare program is a wonderful thing in this great land of ours and do pray that God will continue to help you to help those who need your aide. U.S. citizens are the most generous hearted people in the world and that is our nature to help others in their need. Thank you for your patients for reading my letter and views on your programs.

Letter To The Editor:

The city of Macon's "Garbage War" is far from settled. We have been threatened, harassed and intimidated for five months, in attempts to force us to pay for a garbage service that many of us had not used.

On Jan. 15th and 16th the city officials of Macon ordered the water service cut off, of several of us that had refused to pay, because we had not used the service. A group of us acquired some good lawyers and had petitions served on our city officials restoring our water service in a few days.

So the "Garbage War" in Macon has entered into a new "Phase". Our water service having been cut off by the city, was ordered turned back on by the court. We are now awaiting a court "Hearing" where we are going to contest the validity and legality of the right of our city officials to discontinue our water service because we refused to pay for this garbage service that we have not used.

This "Hearing" was originallyset for Jan. 30th, but our city officials, after months of proclaiming that, "It is the law" suddenly lost some of their confidence and in a move to evade or postpone "Judgement Day" where we have ordered them to appear in court and try to prove that, "It is the law", filed papers with our Circut Judge, asking that he disqualify himself, which he did. Thus our city officials, after taking the law into their own hands by cutting off our municipal water service without a valid reason, are using delaying tactics somewhat similar to tactics used by common criminals to evade justice.

Another judge will have to be named to hear this case causing further delay and expense. I think that the city is hoping for some "Miracle" in the form of new legislation coming out of Jefferson City, that will rescue them from our retribution, for their actions.

As this will be the first court case that we know of in the state of Missouri, that is challenging these compulsory or mandatory garbage laws, we expect this to be a landmark case, where we hope to prove the illegality of forcing a person to pay for a garbage service that they have not asked for or have not used. Therefore this court "Hearing" at Macon will be of state wide interest and importance to people throughout Missouri, who are opposed to paying for a garbage service that they have not used.

As lawsuits are expensive especially, when they have to be appealed to a higher court, and as the outcome of this case may effect everyone in Missouri, who are opposed to compulsory garbage we have urged to set up a legal defense fund. We have good lawyers and with your help, we can beat them here at Macon, and if we beat them here, they will be beat all over the state.

Instead of paying for a garbage service that you do not owe for, help defeat this law by donating this amount or what ever you can afford. Send to Garbage Legal Defense Fund, P.O. Box 284, Macon, MO. 63552

Any donation will be appreciated, will be confidential and is tax deductable.

Yours Very Truly,
LeRoy Bschner

1417 Jackson St.
Macon, Missouri, 63552

P.S. as the Macon cityofficials have appealed to the attorney General of Missouri for help to push this case against or to defend them from our charges. We feel that Macon will be the "First line of defense" for people of Missouri, who are fighting this "Garbage War" and who are opposed to having compulsory garbage serve imposed upon them.

SAVING WATER SAVES ENERGY

Saving water can help you save energy and money. The Ground Water Council recommends these saving tips: 1. Put a stopper in your sink or use a dishpan when you wash dishes. Washing with running water uses 30 gallons per meal. 2. Wait until you have a full load before washing clothes. An average automatic washer uses 50 gallons per load. 3. Take showers instead of baths. You can save about 11 gallons. 4. Don't use the water closet to dispose of ashes, facial tissues and the like. A normal flush requires five to eight gallons. Your pump will run less often if you take these steps--and your energy bills will be lower.

NEW WATER PROTECTION FILM AVAILABLE

A new 13-minute color-sound film is now available to explain in dramatic terms the story of our vast underground water supplies and the steps we must take to protect them. The film is suitable for schools, civic clubs and other community organizations. Write Film Dept., Ground Water Council, 221 N. LaSalle St., Chicago, Ill. 60601 for rental information.

KNOW YOUR WATER NEEDS

If you have your own water system, it's a good idea to be sure you have a pump that meets your needs. You should have enough pressure to allow using several outlets at the same time. The Ground Water Council recommends that you know your peak water demand. The demand, or capacity, in gallons per minute should equal the number of water outlets installed in your home. If your water pressure is not sufficient, you may need a larger pump. Call your local drilling contractor, pump installer of dealer for his advice.

Prayer

"Whatever you do, work at it with all your heart, as though you were working for the Lord, and not for men." (Colossians 3:23 TEV)

PRAYER: Thank you, Lord, for giving Yourself so willingly for us. Help us to give ourselves willingly in all service for You. Amen.

March was the first month of the ancient Romans' earliest calendar, and was naturally named for their favorite divinity, Martius (Mars), god of war.

What's the law?

The case of the corralled judge

By JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.

While judges may lay down the law, a statute was enacted to prevent them from laying down on the law as well. In short, it required judges to retire at 70 years of age.

Judge Dinkle, however, admiring his robust image in a mirror, refused to conceed either the wisdom or validty of any statute that could make him retire, as he saw it, in prime of his life. In fact, upon reaching the age of 70, instead of putting down this gavel and hanging up his robes, Judge Dinkle decided to run for reelection.

The county clerk, however, refused to accept his candidate's petition and Judge Dinkle started a court action action to make him accept it.

"The law's the law," insisted the county clerk. "While Judge Dinkle may look as good as a well-aged bottle of Scotch, the statute says he's too old to sit on the bench."

"I'm not bound by that law," retorted Judge Dinkle. "It discriminates against a person because of his age. The fact is, I'm as sharp as any 40-year-old , and to force me into the corral would be an unbridled violation of my constitutional rights."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you force Judge Dinkle into the corral because of his age?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that the state has a legitimate interest in requiring the highest possible standards obtainable for members of the judiciary and to minimize as far as possible the threat of an obviously disabled judge from continuing in office. The state interest, concluded the judge, is paramount to any personal right claimed by Judge Dinkle.

Don't use exercise as punishment

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — As a punishment my son's gym teacher makes the class do 60 situps and 60 pushups. The next day his stomach muscles are very sore and painful.

I know this is good exercise, but usually you work up to this amount gradually. Could this sort of thing be harmful in any way? My son is 12 years old.

DEAR READER — Excessive exercise beyond what the body is trained to do will cause minor injury to the muscles. That may be one reason for the muscle soreness we all experience after such episodes. Such exercise bouts actually slow down the rate of body development and the development of exercise capacity. The rule is: Train, don't strain.

The excessive exercise in this form is not likely to do major harm to the health on the short-term basis.

Why do I say short term basis? Because the gym teacher who uses exercise as a form of punishment is really defeating his or her own purpose. For children exercise should never be used as punishment. The idea is to make exercise pleasant and something children will want to do. This will help motivate them to want to exercise for the rest of their lives.

When children or older individuals are forced to do a physical task as punishment, the task is considered degrading, even if it is extra laps around the track. The exercise becomes equated in the person's mind with punishment, not something pleasurable. No wonder, then, that these individuals develop a pattern of shunning exercise. I wish every physical education teacher would take this to heart. If they want to motivate their students to want to exercise, stop that archaic practice of using exercise as punishment.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Please tell me something about leg aches. I just came home without finishing my shopping because the pain in my left leg was so bad. After I have been walking for a couple of hours, the pain starts in the toe next to my little one. If I don't get off it immediately, the pain continues on up to the knee and is excruciating.

I have been to the doctor three times with no improvement. He has checked my circulation, which is fine. I have had tests for uric acid, rheumatoid arthritis and the like, and all are okay.

I'm 58, weigh 135 pounds and have been very active. This problem is beginning to affect my activity. I have been having it for about four months now.

DEAR READER — Aches in the feet and legs come from many causes. Circulation is one cause and I'm glad your doctor doesn't think that it your problem.

Osteoarthritis can also be a problem. So can a variety of disorders of the feet. You will need X rays of the hip joints, the knee and a careful examination of the feet.

Today in U.S. history

By The Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, March 5, the 64th day of 1975. There are 301 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

In 1770, British troops fired on a jeering crowd in Boston, kiling five persons. The incident, known as the Boston Massacre, hastened the American Revolution.

On this date —

In 1766, the Spanish took possession of New Orleans from the French.

In 1798, French forces occupied Bern, Switzerland.

In 1849, Zachary Taylor was inaugurated as the 12th American president.

In 1868, the U.S. Senate was organized into a court of impeachment to weigh charges against President Andrew Johnson.

In 1877, the 19th U.S. president, Rutherford Hayes, was inaugurated.

In 1953, Soviet Premier Josef Stalin died in Moscow after 29 years of power.

Ten years ago: The United States demanded that the Soviets do more to protect the American embassy in Moscow against attacks by anti-American demonstrators, saying police protection had been inadequate.

Five years ago: A pact limiting nuclear testing went into effect as the United States and the Soviet Union held parallel ceremonies in Washington and Moscow.

One year ago: Impresario Sol Hurok died in New York at 85.

Today's birthdays: Actor Rex Harrison is 67. Conductor and violinist Lorin Maazel is 45.

Thought for today: There is nothing sillier than a silly laugh. — Catulus, Roman poet, about 84-54 B.C.

Lasater granted leave

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Donald Lasater, facing perjury charges in connection with his testimony before a federal grand jury, has requested and received a leave of absence as chairman of Mercantile Bank Corp., Inc., and Mercantile Trust Co.

Directors of both corporations, in granting the leave Monday, also announced an investigation into a $600,000 bond transaction at the heart of the charges.

Lasater was indicted last Thursday by a grand jury in Kansas City, which accused him of lying in connection with questions concerning a $600,000 bond transaction in 1968 and 1969 between Mercantile and the late J.V. Conran, a southeast Missouri political leader.

The grand jury, investigating possible corruption during the administration of former Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, is trying to determine if Hearnes received any of the profits made in the transaction.

Motorists begin second slow year

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Missouri motorists begin their second year under the reduced 55 mile-an-hour speed limit today, finally getting used to slowing down on the highways.

An Associated Press road check has shown that while many motorists still have not gotten the knack of driving at 55 or slower, they have begun driving well below the old 70 mile-an-hour limit that was replaced March 4, 1974.

One the first day the lower limit was in effect, enacted under threat of federal highway funds being withheld, a survey car was overtaken by about 50 other vehicles, most sailing along at the old limit or well above.

The latest of three AP road checks, conducted Sunday, saw 65 cars pass the pace car, but most of them crept by doing about 60.

During both checks along an 80-mile stretch of U.S. 40 and Interstate 70 west of St. Louis, the survey car maintained a speed of between 55 and 57 and the traffic volume was about the same.

A third survey, conducted several months ago, recorded 146 vehicles passing the survey car, but traffic volume was more than 25 per cent greater during that check.

"There are more cars traveling at slower speeds now," commented Col. Sam S. Smith, superintendent of the Missouri Highway Patrol. "We have noticed a decline in some areas in enforcement contacts."

During the first 11 days the 55 m.p.h. limit was in effect, only warnings were issued to motorists who were caught doing more than the new limit but driving slower than the old. In that grace period, troopers manning speed traps reporting pulling over 10 times the number of speeders as before.

And since March 15, when full enforcement began, Smith estimated "enforcement contacts" have been running about three times higher than before.

Out-state areas seem to be the places where motorists are complying best with the slower limit, he said, apparently because highways there are easier to patrol.

"In other areas, motorists are taking advantage," Smith charged, of the problems such as heavier traffic flow and three and four lane roadways that make pulling cars over difficult.

Maximum speeds in the state were to revert to 70 m.p.h. Sept. 29 under the law passed a year ago. But now the federal speed limit has been permanently set at 55, and legislation is pending in the General Assembly to do the same with the state limit.

While the House measure orginally called for lower the limit to 55 permanently, it was modified by the Transportation Committee to call for expiration on Jan. 31, 1978.

"The federal government changes their mind pretty often. What they do is not very permanent," said House Transportation Chairman Howard Garrett, D-Festus. "The feeling of the committee was that we ought to give it a few more years."

The bill has been sent to the full House for consideration.

The reduced speed limit has been credited with a significant saving in lives on the state's roadways, although it was established primarily to save fuel during the height of the energy crisis.

From March 3, 1974, through midnight Sunday 1,060 persons had died on Missouri's highways compared to the same 12-month period a year earlier with high speeds in effect when 1,361 persons were killed.

Boy Scouts welcomed

Joe Dial, right, of Boy Scout Troop 49 of Morehouse welcomes Hershel Lovette and Mike Tackett as they cross the bridge from Webelos to Boy Scouts.

Award presented

Fewer deaths listed

JEFFERSON CITY--Well over half of Missouri's 114 counties recorded fewer traffic deaths in 1974 than they did the preceding year.

The Missouri State Highway Patrol reported that 73 counties recorded fewer deaths on the highways in 1974 than in 1973, while 32 counties had an increase in traffic deaths and nine experienced the same traffic toll for both years. Missouri recorded 1,042 traffic fatalties last year, 410 less than in 1973.

Greene County, in the southwest part of the state, had the greatest decrease in traffic fatalities last year. Twenty-nine fewer traffic deaths occurred in that county than in 1973. Other counties experiencing notable reductions included: Jackson and St. Louis, 27 each; New Madrid, 17; St. Charles, 15; and Howell County, 14.

The City of St. Louis had a decrease of 37 traffic deaths in 1974 (89-52) and Kansas City had 19 fewer vehicular fatalities (90-71).

The greatest increase in traffic deaths for any one county last year was experienced in Stone County, which had nine more fatalities than in 1973.

Howard and Worth counties did not record a single traffic fatality during 1974.

Fatalities in Southeast Missouri counties and the change from 1973 included: Dunklin 17, eight fewer; Mississippi, 16, three more; New Madrid, 10, 17 fewer; Pemiscot, 19, seven more; Scott, seven, three fewer, Stoddard , seven, seven fewer.

Bicentennial album presented

Gov. Christopher Bond accepts a copy of "Heritage '76," the special Bicentennial album of Marching Mizzou, the marching band of the University of Missouri-Columbia. The presentation was made by Marching Mizzou president Norman Ruebling of Troy. Also pictured, from left, are band members Tom Ruck of St. Louis and Betsy Garrett of Monett, UMC Director of bands Dr. Alexander Pickard, band member Carrie Francke of Albuquerque, N.M. and UMC Dean of Student Affairs Dr. James Banning. Marching Mizzou has been invited to represent the U.S. Bicentennial at the International Rugby Match pitting England against Scotland on March 15. If necessary funds can be raised, the band would perform at halftime of the match and present other concerts during a 10-day visit to the British Isles. Proceeds from the sale of stereo albums of Marching Mizzou music are being used to finance the trip. Orders for the albums--at $6 each-- may be sent to Marching Mizzou, University of Missouri-Columbia, Columbia, Mo. 65201, as well as contributions to the travel fund in any amount as band members work to raise the $30,000 still needed to make the trip a reality.

Scout awards are presented

MOREHOUSE--Webelo Cub Scout Pack 49 has presented Arrow of Light awards to four members and elected two boys into Boy Scout Troop 49.

Receiving the Arrow of Light, the Webelos highest honor, were Ricky Hubbert, Scott Cagle, Darin Dial and Scott Crumpecker.

Boy Scout Troop 49 member Joe Dial welcomed Hershel Lovette and Mike Tackett into the troop.

The honors were presented last Tuesday at an awards ceremony under the leadership of Ronnie Lutes. Other pack members present were Ray Marshall, Scott Bogle, Mike Kastings, Wendal Sanders and Scott Gregory.

Depot offices remodeled

Agent Lawrence "Lefty" Seyer works in the newly remodeled offices at the Missouri Pacific Railroad Depot, 91 N. New Madrid St. The remodeling, completed in December, features lowered ceilings, paneled walls, new floor tiles and antiqued counter, windows and cabinets. The raditors were encased and the new doors installed throughout. In addition, the outside of the building was painted and a new truck dock was built. Besides Seyer, Paul E. Davis, mobile agent, who handles outlying points of Charleston, Morley, Oran , Bertrand, Morehouse and Essex is headquartered in the office.

Minuteman Month is proclaimed

JEFFERSON CITY--Gov. Christopher S. Bond has proclaimed the month of March as Minuteman Month in Missouri.

In the proclamation, Bond stated that more than 11,000 Missourians are active members of the National Guard and countless others have prior service in United States military units.

"These citizen-soldiers and airmen of the National Guard, both locally and nationally, have demonstrated their dedication to the defense of the nation and have been mobilized countless times during their more than 200-year history," Bond said.

He added that these people have been "deeply committed over the pst years to work in their communities aimed at protecting lives and property in case of local emergency of war."

He noted that they are now prepared to serve their country in the true spirit of the Minutemen of the Revoluntionary War era.

NASA is planning its busiest space-launch program in nine years. Will the new satellites catch up with out-of-this-world prices?

Which brings the thought: It's much easier to rendezvous with Russians in space than to get both sides down to earth at the conference table.

Researchers to test Richland students

ESSEX--University of Michigan researchers in Ann Arbor, Mich., will test students in the Richland public school system as part of a nationally representative sample of 8,000 boys and girls to establish new national norms for youth fitness.

Local school personnel involved in the project are Robert Jones, Danny Rowland and Barbara Buck.

Professors Paul A. Hunsicker and Guy G. Reiff of the University of Michigan department of physical education are directing the study with funds from the U.S. Office of Education.

Hunsicker said there is need for a new study because similar ones conducted in 1958 and again in 1964 revealed an upward shift in the norms for fitness. "It is suspected that another shift has occurred since 1964," he explained.

The new survey, using the American Alliance for Health, Psysical Education and Recreation test battery, will determine national fitness norms according to age, sex, and grade level by scoring achievement in six tests: bent knee sit-up; pull-up (for boys) and flexed arm hang (for girls); standing long jump; shuttle run; 50-yard dash; and 600-yard run-walk.

These tests provide good rough measures of abdominal and shoulder girdle strength , explosive ability, endurance, speed and agility." Hunsicker pointed out.

The investigators will also study the impact of changes in psysical education requirements on youth fitness by interviewing school personnel to determine the present status of the physical education requirement in each of the schools sampled.

The 8,000 boys and girls participating nationally range from fifth through 12th grades.

Mississippi County farmers discuss costs

EAST PRAIRIE--Ninety south Mississippi County farmers discussed farm price problems Friday night at a meeting in East Prairie High School.

The farmers, who farm a combination total of 77,000 acres, expressed concern over high production costs, low farm prices and the possibility of taking 20 per cent of their total acreage out of production.

The group agreed that the average price of soybeans should be $7 a bushel and corn $3.35 a bushel.

Another meeting will be held Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the Charleston High School commons to discuss formation of a concounty affiliated of United Farmers Organization.

Farm costs will be discussed and representatives will be elected to an advisory board.
